COURT FORBIDS BILLION DOLLAR STEEL MERGER

Eaton Is Victor Over Schwab Group.

Youngstown, O., Dec. 29.—(AP)—A permanent injunction tonight restrained completion of one of the biggest deals in industrial history—the proposed billion dollar merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Common Pleas Judge David G. Jenks granted the injunction here today as a dramatic climax to a ten month battle between some of America's most powerful industrialists and financiers.

The victory belongs to the "under dog" of the fight—Cyrus S. Eaton, 47 year old financier of Cleveland, who led the minority stockholders of Sheet and Tube in their attack against the powerful combine of such famous industrialists as Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem; James M. Campbell, chairman of Sheet and Tube, and Henry G. Dalton, a director of both companies.

Appeal Is Possible.

Unless the merger proponents appeal and are able to win a reversal, the merger is dead.

It was indicated tonight that the question of whether to appeal would be discussed by Bethlehem and Sheet and Tube interests at some future date.

Eaton claimed he had enough votes to defeat it in the stockholders' election last April 9. His opponents denied this and claimed the stockholders voted ratification. No one denies, however, that Eaton since the election has had sufficient proxies to defeat a Sheet and Tube merger, if such a deal is ever submitted again.

The same decision that gave Eaton and his associates the legal victory cost them $14,000,000 in stock losses. If Judge Jenkins had decided in favor of the merger, the anti-merger stock would have been worth at least $110 a share. But when the judge enjoined the merger, dissenting stock became worth only the market value, which at present is about $70 a share. The difference is $40 a share, on about 350,000 shares of dissenting stock.

How This Law Works.

Under Ohio law dissenting stockholders need not take stock of the purchasing company in exchange for their own shares, but may demand the fair cash value as of the date of merger, with six per cent interest. This value was fixed by Sheet and Tube directors at $110 a share. Dissenting stockholders demanded from $115 to $250 a share, and suits have been filed to have the courts arbitrate the value.

On the other hand, today's decision made the dissenting stockholders eligible at once to $1,212,000 in back dividends. When the injunction suit was filed, dissenting stock was set aside in a separate class which drew no dividends. Deferred dividends on this stock now amount to $3.75 a share on about 350,000 shares.

Million in Legal Costs.

The cost of the court battle is estimated at more than $1,000,000.

The bulk of the expense is believed to be in attorneys' fees. More than a score of lawyers were involved in the case, including some of the best known legal talent in the country.

Private negotiations for the merger began early this year. The dramatic fight to defeat it started when Eaton first heard of the proposal March 7. Eaton, organizer of the $350,000,000 Republic Steel corporation, was the largest stockholder, through his holding companies, in Sheet and Tube.

Bethlehem's offer was to acquire Sheet and Tube, a $235,000,000 corporation, on the basis of one and one-third shares of Bethlehem common stock for one of Sheet and Tube.

The first phase of the battle was a spectacular campaign for proxies. Not unlike politicians electioneering, the dignified men of finance and industry went to the stockholders, buttonholing them for votes.

Eaton Spends $8,000,000.

Within a short time merger propounds and opponents were spending millions for stock. Eaton himself put out more than $8,000,000.

In the meantime a majority of Sheet and Tube directors approved the merger and the stockholders' action followed.

The suit went to trial June 24—a battle between some of the keenest legal minds of the nation. Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, was chief special counsel for Sheet and Tube. Attorneys Luther Day and Harry Crawford headed the opposition. During the trial Le Roy A. Man-

HERO OF MARNE EMERGES FROM STATE OF COMA

Takes Nourishment; Talks to Wife.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Dec. 30.—(AP)—A bulletin issued by Marshal Joffre's physicians at 8:15 this morning said: "The patient spent a calm night and did not again sink into coma. He was able to take some nourishment and to say a few words.

"Nevertheless, his lungs are filling up and respiration remains irregular. The situation continues very grave."

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 30 [Tuesday].—All France is thrilled at the fight Marshal Joffre is putting up against death. Late last night the 78 year old hero of the Marne staved off the inevitable in a supreme rally. Even his doctors, who have given up all hope, are amazed at the astounding strength of th warrior's heart.

The marshal emerged from a state of coma at 11:30 p. m. and uttered several words to his wife, who is in constant attendance at his bedside in the hospital of St. Jean de Dieu.

"I want food," he whispered.

Talks to His Wife.

Upon taking nourishment, Joffre talked quite freely with his wife and his physicians. Despite the rally, the doctors refused to be comforted by the astonishing turn and insisted that their patient's condition was as grave as ever.

An official communique, signed by Prof. Le Riche, who amputated Joffre's right foot in a secret operation ten days ago, and Drs. Boulin and Fontaine, was issued shortly before midnight. It read:

"Contrary to all expectations, the patient has emerged from a state of coma, spoken a few words, is fully conscious, and has taken some nourishment. The situation, nevertheless, remains as grave as ever."

A half hour later Prof. Le Riche and Dr. Boulin left the hospital after having refused to budge from their patient's side. They declared that it was probable the marshal would live through the night "however unlikely it may seem." They added they would return at daybreak.

Deathlike Pallor Disappears.

That Joffre was showing improvement was indicated at 10:30 p. m., when the deathlike pallor disappeared and his face began to show some color. His eyes fluttered.

"Do you feel better?" Prof. Le Riche asked.

Marshal Joffre, then too weak to respond, nodded as if to indicate that he did.

Soon thereafter a member of Joffre's personal staff at the superior war college emerged from the hospital telling newspaper men that it appeared as if his chief would live through the night.

Despite the critical condition of their patient, his physicians say his heart keeps throbbing steadily, rhythmically pounding poison laden blood through his system.

Medical Skill Exhausted.

"The marshal has arrived at the point where all medical skill has been exhausted," Dr. Fontaine said last night. "His strength is declining little by little, but lucidity remains and his heart shows astonishing resistance. Little hope remains. The constitution of the great soldier is robust, and his spirit has already performed miracles."

Henri Date, a former cabinet minister, on leaving the hospital earlier in the day said:

"It is now only a question of hours."

Papal Nuncio Msgr. Maglione said: "Mme. Joffre is extremely courageous and refuses to quit the marshal's bedside. She has had only five hours sleep out of 24 in the last 10 days."

Doesn't Realize Condition.

Capt. St. Sernin, attached to Joffre's staff, explained:

"The marshal does not seem to realize the gravity of the situation. He told us he passed a good night."

Minister of Air Paul Painleve said: "He is fighting for his life as he fought for his country at the Marne. What a valiant heart!"

Although Marshal Joffre is a member of the Free Masons and generally considered anti-clerical in the army hierarchy, he was given the last sacraments yesterday afternoon by Abbe Bellescour Aumonier.

Listen, boys. Here's some jolly reading.

Whenever you're inclined to have your occasional moments of pessimism, just think of these income tax figures for 1928. That's when the country was ridin' high on the crest of the wave of speculation—the year before the Big Wind.

In that year 511 persons in the United States each had an income of a million dollars or over, and 243 of these lived in New York. Twenty-six had incomes over five million, and of these eleven lived in New York.

Today New York City is the most pessimistic spot in the United States. If you guys think you are hard up, just think of the gent who has been used to a million a year suddenly being cut down to a measly hundred thousand or so. Why, you don't know what real suffering is!

There won't be so many of these big incomes in the 1930 returns.

When Uncle Sam counts up his income tax receipts for this year there's going to be a lot of scurryin' around and dashing hither and thither to make both ends meet.

Already it has been announced that the income tax rate goes up one per cent over last year and Senator Borah has even suggested an increase of two or three per cent more in order to secure enough revenue to run the government.

I hope this won't keep you awake.

Now it strikes me that the coming year won't be a good time to increase taxes. It's going to be hard enough sledding to pay the present taxes without adding more to them.

The government ought to temper the wind to the shorn lambs, and there sure are enough shorn lambs to absorb a lot of tempering.

That brings us back to my old proposition. You remember I spoke to you about it early in October.

Why not skip a year in the reduction of the national debt? What difference will it make whether we pay the whole debt in 21 years instead of 20 years? Absolutely none!

And it would be the greatest help in the world to relieve the country at this particular time of that much of its burden of taxes.

Of course congress has passed a law by which a certain sum be set aside each year out of government receipts as a minimum sinking fund for the purpose of reducing the national debt. For the last ten years the total payments, based on the minimum required by law, would have amounted to $3,187,468,300.

How much have we paid? Listen! We've paid over $8,000,000,000, about five billion more than the law required to be paid.

So we could now skip a year's payment with an easy conscience and still be over four billion more than our legal requirement.

Of course it was a great feather in Andy Mellon's cap, but who wants to suffer additional hardships these times in order to provide another feather for a cap that is already top-heavy with feathers?

And gosh! What a tremendous help it would be to business and the country in general during the next year if it could skip a year in the national debt reducing program!

COP BATTLES TWO ROBBERS; WOUNDS AND SEIZES ONE

A pair of bandits picked the wrong victim last night in Policeman Arthur Burglind. One was wounded in the arm and captured. The other was routed by gun fire.

Burglind, assigned to juvenile cases, went to 5339 Kenmore avenue to investigate a routine matter. It is a six flat building with a large vestibule. He was in civilian dress.

As Burglind entered two men attacked him. One seized him about the throat. The other thrust a revolver against his abdomen. Burglind, a wrestler and handy with his fists, flung the first assailant to the floor, knocked aside the gun of the second, and landed a left to his chin, which sent him to the floor alongside his companion.

Then he drew his own revolver and, when the first assailant leaped at him, fired a bullet into his left arm. The other bandit managed to squirm away from Burglind. But before he could shoot, Burglind opened fire on him and he ran out the door, screaming. Burglind believes he hit him.

CATCH WOMAN BANDIT AFTER STORE ROBBERY

A "gun girl," 23 years old, was captured last night less than a block from a dress shop at 4713 Broadway, in the heart of the Uptown shopping district, which she had held up and robbed of $30 and three dresses.

She said she was Mrs. Loretta Lambesis, 4848 Sheridan road, the daughter of a retired city fireman, and separated from her husband for four years.

Miss Celia Goldman, 25 years old, 4541 Sheridan road, and Miss Josephine Zuckerman, 20 years old, 1050 Sheridan road, were on duty when Mrs. Lambesis appeared and selected the three dresses. After they had been wrapped she drew a cheap nickel plated pistol and ordered her two victims into a dressing room.

She left the store with the gun still in her hand, concealed behind the package. Julian Ravkin, 941 Argyle street, the store manager, overtook Mrs. Lambesis at Lawrence avenue and Broadway and disarmed and held her for police.

Four Eastern Roads Speed Merger Plan

New York, Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Major problems of the consolidation of eastern railroads were settled at a conference of executives of the four large systems here today.

It is understood that it was agreed to allot the Reading and Jersey Central lines to the Baltimore and Ohio, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western to the New York Central, and the Lehigh Valley to the Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickle Plate system, while the Pennsylvania will get trackage rights over both the Lehigh Valley and the Nickle Plate lines into Buffalo and a cash consideration.

Executives Are Reticent.

An hour before the meeting adjourned it was announced that the conference was being continued and that no further statement would be issued. Executives who attended refused to comment upon what had taken place. Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central lines, and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, both declared they were not in a position to discuss what had occurred, while others took the attitude that no information was to be given.

Speedy Settlement Predicted.

After adjournment one executive who has been in close touch with the progress of the conference stated:

"If the remaining minor details can be surmounted as easily as were the major difficulties at the session today a speedy agreement upon a plan of consolidation is practically assured."

At the meeting were W. W. Atterbury, president; Elisha Lee, vice president, and A. J. County, vice president in charge of finance and corporate relations of the Pennsylvania railroad; P. E. Crowley, president, and A. H. Harris, chairman of executive committee, of the New York Central; Daniel Willard, president, and George M. Shriver, senior vice president, of the Baltimore and Ohio; J. J. Bernet, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio lines, and O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, owners of the system.

HERE'S A JOB, BUT TO GET IT YOU'LL NEED A HEADACHE

Wanted—Unemployed man during the winter for a job paying $50 a month, free residence. Chief requisite, poor health.

Such a man is desired by the college of medicine of the University of Illinois, the Chicago Medical society announced last night. There's only one hitch in the offer, however. The applicant must be suffering from genuine migraine, a variety of sick or nervous headache which afflicts the patients with severe periodical attacks, its peculiarity being that it attacks only one side of the head.

Whoever qualifies for the job, and an unemployed man is preferred, must remain in a hospital three months, in the interests of science, and undergo observation and treatment. Applicants for the position should communicate with Mrs. John Millikin, in care of the hospital laboratory, Research and Educational hospital, 1819 West Polk street.

Woman's Jury Holds Woman in Gun Killing

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Six women sitting as a coroner's jury yesterday ordered Mrs. Viola Miller held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge in the death on Saturday night of her cousin and suitor, George Gleichaus. It was the second time in the history of Cook county that women had served on a jury, and the first time they had been asked to deliberate on a shooting. Coroner Bundesen conducted the inquest at the county morgue.

The announcement of the finding by State Representative Rena Elrod, foreman of the jury, was a shock to the spectators. Women relatives and friends of Mrs. Miller, gathered to hear the evidence and apparently totally unprepared for anything but an exoneration, burst into tears and uttered resentful cries.

Mother Joins in Cries.

"They couldn't have done that if they knew the circumstances." "How could women do that to a woman?" "They didn't understand—they didn't listen to the testimony." "That's terrible—that's terrible." "My poor baby—my girl!"

The last outcry was from Mrs. Mary Travis, gray haired mother of the woman held, and aunt of the dead man, who was far more agitated than Mrs. Miller. The defendant, a petite, bobbed haired matron of 42, although shaken, was more self-possessed than any of her partisans. Clasped in the arms of her son by a former marriage, Robert J. Morrison, she listened to the verdict with one hand over her eyes. Then she turned to comfort her mother.

"Don't cry, mother. It's all right. I'm innocent—I swear I never knew the gun was loaded," she quavered, then herself burst into tears.

"Resentment?" she replied to reporters who put a question to her. "I haven't any malice against anybody. I'm innocent and it'll be proved. They had to do their duty, and there were so many things said on the stand that weren't true."

Mrs. Miller was released from custody late last night on a bond of $10,000 posted by Mr. and Mrs. George Travis, 7753 Cregier avenue, neighbors of Mrs. Miller.

Club Officials on Jury.

Half a dozen well known women comprised the jury. Mrs. Elrod, the foreman, has spent several years in the legislature at Springfield, and was a leading advocate of the woman's jury bill which was validated as a law by referendum last November.

Others on the jury were Mrs. William J. Lindsay, 6816 Cregier avenue, president of the Woodlawn League of Women Voters and wife of Superior Judge Lindsay; Mrs. George W. Hanson, 1311 Arthur avenue, president of the Catholic Women's league; Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, 6708 Olympia avenue, member of the board of directors of the Illinois League of Women Voters; Mrs. Frank J. Lewis, 4929 Woodlawn avenue, president of the Illinois club, and Mrs. Alice T. Walker, 5519 University avenue, legislative chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

Vigorous nods of assent were returned by each member as Dr. Bundesen polled the jury when the verdict had been read. It had taken an hour and a half to get the verdict.

"We took a secret ballot when we first went in," Mrs. Elrod stated. "We found that we were unanimous on the manslaughter opinion."

"Did any of you have any qualms about your ballots?" they were asked.

"I don't think so," Mrs. Lewis an-

ALBERT TO RUN; G. O. P. ALLIANCE SPLIT ON MAYOR

Brundage Group May Indorse Judge.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Developments in the Republican mayoralty situation came rapidly yesterday. The conference of anti-Thompson leaders went to smash. Within an hour the Deneen group put Ald. Arthur F. Albert in the race, County Chairman Snow declared for Judge Lyle. The Brundage group considered doing the same thing. The Illinois Republican council or Lundin wing announced it would not have a candidate but would leave its membership free to pick from the field.

In other words, the net result was to bring a fourth candidate to the starting line beside Judge Lyle, Mayor Thompson, and Charles V. Barrett and to add a substantial block of strength to Judge Lyle's rapidly increasing strength.

Albert Will Make Race.

Ald. Albert, known as the "kid" member of the city council because he is only 32 years old, accepted the indorsement of his organization and will make his formal speech of acceptance before it on Friday. One of his running mates is to be James A. Kearns, former clerk of the Municipal court, who will run for city treasurer. Whether or not there will be a Deneen candidate for city clerk has not been determined.

The breakup of the "allies'" conference came, as had been forecast, at a meeting of the plenary conference following two meetings earlier in the day of the four local factional leaders, Chairman Snow, Senator Deneen, Edward J. Brundage and Dr. John Dill Robertson. Chairman Snow's announcement to the press was that relations had continued on a friendly basis until the finish; but in some of the individual utterances there was at least a hint of bitterness.

A Division of Forces.

The question of the effect of a fourth entry upon Thompson's chances was the cause of the bitterness. The opinion of most leaders had been that such an additional starter would further divide the anti-Thompson vote and improve his outlook. This thought marked the utterances to leaders who had sought vainly to persuade Deneen to accept Judge Lyle as the conference candidate.

But after Albert stepped into the race this opinion was modified. Some of the conference leaders were of the opinion that Albert would be certain to draw most of the German-American support from Thompson, and that with the Negro vote estranged and the Irish vote going to Barrett, Thompson's outlook is a gloomy one since he has been counting on these three racial groups.

Snow Tells of Failure.

Snow's statement as chairman of the conference was brief.

"The subcommittee," he said, "reported that after ten days of almost continuous daily sessions it had found the complexities of the situation, the difficulty in bringing together the representatives of other groups and organizations at this season had made it impossible to agree upon any candidate who in himself met all the needs of the situation.

"The conference was entirely friendly. There was no acrimony and the report was the unanimous report of the subcommittee, Rupert F. Bippus, representing the Illinois Republican council, urged further efforts to get together, but because of the view that such efforts would be fruitless the conference adjourned sine die and will hold no more meetings."

Clarissues Personal Statement.

Snow, in his capacity as an individual, Snow issued another statement that was not so mild in terminology.

"Recognizing the desperate situation of Chicago in its effort to conquer the grip of organized crime," he said, "and to smash the almost open alliance between politics and crime, I asked the leaders of organized Republican groups to meet and undertake to unite upon a mayoralty candidate who would measure up to the needs of the hour.

"After ten days of effort, I regret that it appears impossible to find a candidate satisfactory to all the groups. The citizens of Chicago are interested in an honest effort to clean up an intolerable situation and will have scant patience with jockeying for factional political advantage.

"Personally, I have been willing to accept any candidate whose record accorded with the aim sought and whose standing gave reasonable assurance of ability to make a winning campaign. In the absence of an agreement, I shall use my influence, much or little, to secure the nomination and election of Judge John H. Lyle, whose candidacy as a Republican outside of any faction is already under way.

Finds Lyle a Favorite.

"The conference, through its membership, obtained many checks, tests, surveys and straw votes and found that Judge Lyle is far in the lead so far as public sentiment is concerned and offered a real opportunity to break the politico-crime ring that is strangling Chicago. His record of actual accomplishment in a position of minor power demonstrates what he could do if vested with the tremendous power that centers in the mayor's office.

"I believe that any leaders, big or little, political or civic, and especially those capable of creating public sentiment, who at this crisis seek to divide the forces trying to finish the job that Judge Lyle has begun and to dissipate their strength among numerous scattered and hopeless mayority candidates are assuming a responsibility for which they will eventually be held to a strict accountability by an outraged and disillusioned constituency."

Brundage Tells His Views.

A somewhat similar tone characterized a statement after the dissolution of the conference by former Attorney General Brudage which read:

"I had presumed the object of the conference was to combine for the defeat of Thompson at the coming primaries instead of perpetuating factionalism.

"It is obvious a multiplicity of candidates will inure to Thompson's advantage. We already have too many in the field to introduce another without first making efforts to get some of them to retire. If Mr. Barrett and Judge Lyle are willing to retire and a high grade candidate loyal to the party upon whom all can agree can be secured, then I am willing to go long and am heartily in favor of the plan.

"But merely to divide forces and add to the confusion that already exists, in my judgment, is ridiculous."

Robertson Signs Statement.

During the conference Dr. Robertson, Bippus and Leslie P. Volz, the representatives of the Illinois Republican council, submitted a signed statement to the meeting that read in part as follows:

"Neither Senator Deneen, Mr. Snow nor Mr. Brundage has the power individually to defeat this criminal alliance now in control of our city administration. And we don't propose indirectly to be a party to the thing they won't do directly and help Thompson to be elected or aid the Democratic party in electing somebody that fails to measure up to the standards desired by the people of Chicago.

"If you break this conference up without results it is your responsibility. We will not be a party to breaking it up. We stand where we began. We will cooperate with the powers that can change the situation. We will not assist in pursuing a course to maintain the municipal situation as it is today."

Refuse to Make Choice.

Later the leaders of this group had a meeting of their own and, facing a choice between Judge Lyle and Ald. Albert, decided that it would not have a candidate. Dr. Robertson said that so far as he was concerned he would wait until all the candidates are in before he will determine what candidate he will choose. In some past campaigns the Lundin element has aligned itself actively with the Deneen group.

Senator Deneen and his associates hurried directly from the plenary conference, after it adjourned in the Palmer house, to the Hotel La Salle, where his ward leaders had been called to a 4 o'clock meeting. At that hour the Albert petitions were on the press, but it was said later that the organization had not ordered them, that the order was given by some of Albert's own people.

Reporters were not admitted to the Deneen meeting, but they learned later that the senator spoke warmly in favor of placing Albert in the race, but twice submitted to the gathering the question whether any one opposed that move or would prefer to support some other candidate. The responses were said to have been unanimously in favor of Albert.

Albert had been ushered out of the room while various angles of his candidacy were discussed. At the conclusion of this business he was asked to return and in a brief speech thanked the group for indorsing him.

Judge Lyle's compaign headquarters will be opened in the Hotel La Salle today. John L. East, Harding committeeman for the Fifth ward, will be in charge temporarily until the personnel of the staff is determined upon.

GRANTED MERCY

ARTHUR RICH.

YOUTHFUL LIFER PARDONED; GUILT NOW IS DOUBTED

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Fred W. Green today granted to Lloyd Prevost, youthful lifer in Jackson state prison, the second full pardon he has given since he took office four years ago. Prevost, convicted over ten years ago of the murder near Mount Clemens of Stanley Brown, son of a wealthy Detroit manufacturer, is now believed by state officials to have been innocent of the crime.

Gov. Green was visited today by a delegation of Flint citizens seeking clemency for eight of the men convicted as embezzlers in the Union Industrial bank looting a year ago. Between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000 was embezzled by the group. The governor would make no statement regarding the case.

Grant J. Brown, president of the bank, was recently acquitted for the second time of charges of participating in the embezzlement.

Winfield Scott's Grandson Dies in Connecticut at 70

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Winfield Scott Hoyt, grandson of Gen. Winfield Scott and personal representative of the late William K. Vanderbilt, died today at his home in Greenwich, Conn. He was 70. Mr. Hoyt attended West Point for a time but resigned to devote his time to the family estate and to yachting.

RICH, SERVING LIFE FOR RAPE, WINS CLEMENCY

Wealthy Father Victor in Five Year Fight.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Arthur C. Rich, son of a Battle Creek millionaire, who has served five years of a life term in Jackson prison for rape, will have his sentence commuted tomorrow, Gov. Fred W. Green indicated tonight.

The statement from the governor did not indicate whether Rich will be freed at once or whether his life term will be shortened.

Rich, the son of George C. Rich, millionaire manufacturer of Battle Creek, has been the center of one of the bitterest fights in the history of Michigan.

Arthur, then 22 years old, was convicted of raping Louise King, a 20 year old Battle Creek college co-ed.

Climax of a Joy Ride.

The attack took place on the grounds of a Battle Creek golf club after Rich had pursuaded Miss King to quit an automobile in which they and another couple were joy riding accompanied with a quantity of liquor.

The trial started in Battle Creek, but while it was in progress was transferred to Mason. The girl testified three times regarding the details of the attack. The testimony of others dealt with the drinking, the manner of dress the girl wore and her behavior during the ride.

Rich Found Guilty.

Rich was convicted and sentenced to life in Jackson. He took numerous appeals to the state Supreme court, but was defeated each time and finally carried his appeal to the United States Supreme court, which refused to entertain his plea.

Following his conviction and sentence the girl sued him for $100,000 damages in civil action. She was awarded $50,000, but Rich had no money in his own name and was in prison. His father was not a defendant in the civil suit.

Finally, in 1929, the family paid $25,000 to Miss King.

While the court efforts were being made in behalf of Rich appeal after appeal was made to the governor of Michigan for clemency. These appeals were supported by some of the wealthiest men and most influential politicians of the state.

Democrats Place Dry Repeal First in Legislative Plans

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Repeal of the Illinois state prohibition act gets top place in the legislative program of the Cook county Democratic lawmakers who meet this afternoon at the Sherman hotel to get ready for the general assembly which opens Jan. 7. Party leaders last night took the ground that repeal is the first mandate laid upon the legislature by the Democratic landslide in November and by the wet and dry referendum. Efforts will be made to land the repealer measure on the calendars of both houses as bill No. 1.

Michael L. Igoe, national committeeman, is slated as the pick of the meeting for speaker, and Senator Thomas J. Courtney for president pro tem. of the senate. County Chairman A. J. Cermak is on the program for an address, in which he will urge unified action in the legislature on some of the leading planks in his platform for mayor. They include, besides repeal of the state prohibition law, reapportionment of the legislative and congressional districts in conformity with the state constitution, tax reform measures, and measures looking to the consolidation of the taxing bodies in Cook county.

Wet and Dry Battle Starts.

Meanwhile the battle over Volstead-ism began to smoke. The Illinois Association Opposed to Prohibition in a bulletin declared that "Repeal is the only cure for lawlessness which now engulfs the nation and astounds the world."

On the opposite side the Anti-Saloon league sent out an announcement that a group of Chicago ministers have organized a committee to lead a dry fight in Cook county, and that "The drys now gird for legislative battle." The chairman is the Rev. Horace G. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Wilmette, and the Rev. Harold F. Branch, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Chicago Heights, is secretary.

The committee says that Chicago ministers of all denominations have been asked to devote Jan. 18 to a discussion of prohibition, and that congregations will be urged to send messages to legislators against repeal. The announcement of the drys declared that in the referendum the wets got "only one-third of the total available vote in the state and that is a command to let prohibition alone."

"Same Old Alibi," Is Retort.

It brought the response, "The same old alibi," from the Association Opposed to Prohibition.

"On Nov. 4," said the association, "the people by a vote of more than two to 1 [1,060,004 against 523,130] demanded the repeal of our state prohibition laws.

"Thirty-nine senatorial districts, having a population of 6,051,956 [more than 85 per cent], voted in favor of repeal. Only twelve districts, with a population of 1,105,728 [less than 15 per cent], voted against repeal.

"Arising from a crushing defeat, the Anti-Saloon league calls upon the legislature to ignore the results of the referendum, and it produces its old alibi, 'the people did not vote.' The league denies the validity of the popular verdict because the vote cast in favor of repeal in 1930, an off year, does not equal a majority of the vote cast in the presidential year of 1928. The unreasonableness and absurdity of these claims is evident.

Point to Senatorial Vote.

"The verdict of the people as shown by the vote on the referendum proposals was reinforced by the vote for U. S. senator: Lewis, 1,433,216; McCormick, 687,469; O'Neill, 99,485. Looking at these figures, how can one escape the conclusion that the people of Illinois are opposed to prohibition at the ratio of two to one?"

After pointing out that repeal bills were passed by the house in 1927 and 1929, but were defeated by the senate, the association remarks:

"Defeat of the prohibition repeal bill by the senate laid the foundation for the greatest political upset in Illinois. A plurality of 455,324 for Hoover was turned into a plurality of 744,747 for Lewis. Mrs. O'Neill, candidate of the league, received 99,485 votes. As one of the leading Republican women she has considerable strength of her own, and as a labor leader in the legislature she received many votes. How many votes, if any, did the Anti-Saloon league bring to Mrs. O'Neill? It is evident that the league has ceased to be a factor of importance in Illinois politics."

Want Names on Repealer.

Considerable competition has developed among legislators who want to put in the bill. Democrats yesterday said the repealer would probably be presented jointly in the house by Thomas J. O'Grady and John R. McSweeney, and in the senate by Senators Courtney or Richey V. Graham.

On reapportionment, the local Democrats look for substantial aid this time, after the session starts, from downstate legislators in districts where growth of population has subjected them to the same taxation without representation which prevails in Cook county. Redistricting is expected to be one of the prime battles of the session.

SEARCH WARRANT IN INDIANA DRY ACT HELD INVALID

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—The search warrant section of the Indiana bone dry law enacted in 1925 and making issuance of a search warrant mandatory on affidavit of any person before a magistrate, was found in conflict with the federal and state constitutions in a ruling by Judge James A. Collins of county criminal court here today.

The court held that the search warrant clause leaves no discretion with the magistrate and, therefore, is an invasion of the powers of the judiciary.

DRY PADLOCKS FOR $1,500,000 REALTY IN 1930

A total of 437 permanent injunctions for dry law violations were issued during 1930, representing a real estate loss of approximately $1,500,000 in Chicago, according to the annual report made public yesterday by Assistant United States Attorney Lyman Sherwood.

Permanent injunctions issued in 1929 totaled 543, and in 1928 the number was 658. The decrease for this year was attributed to the policy of refusing to padlock stills, which are demolished anyway by the dry agents, according to Mr. Sherwood.

Some of the resorts padlocked during 1930 were the Beau Monde, the Club Royale, Kelly's Stables, the Club Algiers, the Little club, the Cocoanut Grove, and the Lighthouse inn. Temporary injunctions are pending against Ralph Capone's Cicero night clubs, the Cotton club and the Montmartre. Most of the places padlocked were saloons and store buildings, with a monthly rental of about $100. The rental in addition to the property investment would constitute an average loss of about $3,000 for the 437 places, Sherwood estimated.

EXPECT REPORT OF WICKERSHAM BOARD ON JAN. 5

Assaults on Dry Law to Resume Then.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Prohibition battling of the knockdown and dragout variety is going to break loose in congress when the two houses reconvene after New Year's, judging from two reports originating at authoritative sources on Capitol hill today.

The first and most important of these was a positive statement of a leader in a position to know that the long awaited report of the Wickersham commission will go to the White House on Monday, Jan. 5, and that in all probability President Hoover will transmit it to congress on Tuesday.

Wets to Force Record Votes.

It was also revealed today that the wets in the house have put their heads together and are determined to force a roll call upon several prohibition items in the department of justice appropriation bill, scheduled to be reported to the house Jan. 13. There has been no clear cut wet and dry roll call in the house since the passage of the Jones act two years ago.

Despite a deluge of rumors and conjectures, nobody in authority has as ye' purported to know the contents of the Wickersham commission report and the commission itself apparently is bent on keeping the report strictly secret until it reaches the White House.

Whether or not the report recommends legislation or whether its transmission to congress is delayed by President Hoover, its submission to him, as forecast, on Jan. 5 would undoubtedly be the signal for a prohibition open season in congress. Those close to the President, however, believe that he will pass it on at once rather than become a target for charges of delaying it for political reasons.

Woodcock Asks 500 More Agents.

Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock in the justice department appropriation bill is asking for an additional $2,500,000 for 500 more dry agents as well as $50,000 for the dissemination of dry propaganda. These items occasioned a split in the house appropriations subcommittee and will be challenged by the wets when they reach the floor.

House leaders declared today that the appropriation bill will afford an opportunity to test the recent assertion of Stanley High, editor of the Christian Herald, that 40 erstwhile dry members are prepared to desert the dry cause and jump the fence at a strategic opportunity. They pointed out that in their effort to amend the treasury appropriation bill to ban poison alcohol, although there was no record roll call, the wets received 54 votes whereas for a similar amendment a year before they received only 27.

BOSTON JUDGE DISPUTES CLARK DRY DECISION

Holds Amendment Is Legally Sound.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Judge James A. Lowell in the federal District court here today ruled that the 18th amendment is constitutional, having been so held by the United States Supreme court in the case of Rhode Island vs. Palmer in 1920.

In his opinion Judge Lowell took direct issue with the ruling last Dec. 16 by Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey, which held the 18th amendment unconstitutional.

Attorney Essex Abbott, in arguing a motion to quash a prohibition indictment against James Sadowy, cited the Clark decision. That the amendment having been ratified by legislatures and not conventions was illegal. He also argued that congress had no power to propose the 18th amendment under the provisions of article V. or any other provision of the constitution.

His Honor Interrupts.

Attorney Abbott had no more than laid the foundation for an exhaustive argument on the subject when Judge Lowell interrupted to say:

"Either the amendment was properly ratified or it was not. If the people want to change it they can. The constitution cannot be any more sacred than the source from which it came. If it is the will of the majority of the people of the United States to change the law they can do it. They can do anything."

Attorney Abbott's reference to the Clark decision aroused Judge Lowell:

"I don't think that argument of Judge Clark's is any good at all," he said. "I have no power to grant your motion in the face of the decisions of the Supreme court of the United States, and Judge Clark had no power to grant the motion he granted.

Cites Rhode Island Case.

"In June, 1920, in the case of Rhode Island vs. Palmer, the Supreme court held the amendment to be constitutional. That is my master's voice. What have I to say?"

"Well, said Attorney Abbott, "you might say as much as Judge Clark did."

"I might, but I won't," Judge Lowell smiled. "I might sit down and write an essay, but what power have I to say anything when the Supreme court has already ruled? I might thumb my nose at the Supreme court, but what good would that do? I might disagree with them—but I won't. The Supreme court says this amendment was properly proposed and properly ratified. I have not the power under that finding to grant your motion. If I did so I would be doing something vain. This motion is dismissed."

$418,000 WOLFE 'EXTRAS' AROUSE ALDERMANIC IRE

Committee to Put Curb on Free Spending.

The discovery that Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, had spent $418,000 more than the amounts stated in seven contracts and a council order, aroused the anger of members of the council finance committee yesterday. As a result the aldermen said they would take measures to compel Wolfe and other department heads to obtain council authority before ordering extras on contracts instead of waiting until the city has been obligated to pay before notifying the aldermen.

"This isn't the first time that we have been asked to pay for Wolfe's extras," said Ald. Terence F. Moran [16th]. "In the future I think that we should make him consult the council before ordering additional work or materials."

$201,183 Extra on Viaduct.

The largest item before the committee was an extra of $201,183 on the contract with the Underground Construction company for the construction of the portion of the Roosevelt road viaduct over the old river channel. The contract price was $391,550, but extra work ordered by Wolfe without council authority brought the total to $592,733.

"In explanation of the extras, it is said that unexpected conditions cropped up," said Ald. Moran. "When Wolfe lets a contract he should know what conditions are. I can't understand why Wolfe's engineers could not have foreseen that sinking caissons in the old river bed would be difficult."

On six contracts calling for the purchase of paving materials at an expenditure of $460,175, the committee was informed that Wolfe ordered $62,455 worth of extra materials, bringing the total expenditures under the six contracts to $623,030.

Under a council order adopted early this year Wolfe was authorized to purchase 5,000 tons of Agrolith and Amiesite, two paving materials. The committee's information showed that Wolfe had exceeded the specified amount by 4,400 tons, which added approximately $54,000 to the expenditures authorized by the council.

Juggiery Is Charged.

Earlier in the meeting Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] and Ald. Guy Guernsey [9th] were aroused when bids for the maintenance of curb traffic and loading zone signals were submitted to the committee by Wolfe without any recommendation as to which bidder the contract should be awarded. It was the third time that bids had been submitted, two other sets of bids having been rejected by Wolfe. The specifications on which the bids were based permitted the contractors to make alternate proposals. On an alternate proposal the National Street Lighting corporation was low and on the regular proposal the Welsbach Traffic Signal company was low.

"There is an obvious effort here to give the contract to the Welsbach company," said Ald. Arvey. "It is always low on some of the figures, but Wolfe knows that the specifications are written to confuse one and he doesn't dare to make any recommendation.

"The city bureau that handles these signals should be transferred back to the electrical department and the work of maintaining and patrolling the lights should be done by city employés. That would eliminate trouble we have been having with this contract for three years."

Vote for City to Do Work.

Returning to the subject in the night budget session, the committee voted to remove supervision of the maintenance of the lights from the department of public works to the department of gas and electricity. An appropriation of $120,000 was set up in the latter department to pay the salaries of city employés who will do the work now instead of having it done by a private contractor.

DAUGHTER SEEKS ALIMONY FROM ESTATE OF PECK

The trial of the suit of Mrs. Arline Peck Warwick to collect $45,000 from the estate of her father, Ferdinand W. Peck, pioneer Chicagoan who died in 1924, was begun yesterday before Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court. Mrs. Warwick's claim is being contested by her brother, Ferdinand W. Peck Jr., 2238 Lincoln Park west.

Mrs. Warwick is seeking to collect an alimony settlement which her father collected for her while she was in Europe and which she alleges he failed to turn over to her.

Mr. Peck left no will. His heirs are his widow and six children. One of the daughters, Arline, was married to Robert T. Warwick in March, 1902. They were divorced in 1909 and Mrs. Warwick was granted alimony of $250 a month. Soon afterwards she left for Europe where she lived until 1924.

Defamation Suit on Trial

MME. MARIE JERITZA (BARONESS VON POPPER).

SPEED TRIAL AS 5 ARE INDICTED IN ARSON DEATHS

Speedy trial is the announced aim of the state's attorney's office for five men who were indicted by the grand jury yesterday for causing the deaths of two children through an arson plot to collect insurance. The state will ask for the death penalty for at least four of the defendants, Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan and Andrew Gatenby said after leaving the grand jury room.

Those named in the murder and arson true bills are Harry Goldvarg, owner of the butcher shop in the building which was set on fire to collect the insurance; Jacob Tatelman and Jack Rosow, the alleged firebugs; Martin Borad, chauffeur for them, and Louis Footlik, alleged leader of the arson ring.

Irving Israelson, father of the two children—Jerome, 5 years old, and his brother, Homer, 4 years old—who were burned to death when the flames spread and burned down their home as well as the butcher shop, was one of the witnesses before the jury. The father broke down during his session with the jurors and a short adjournment had to be taken until he regained his composure.

Author Accused

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Dec. 29.—Because a novel about a naughty lady, who was also an opera singer and had a useless count for a husband appeared to her as defaming her character, Mme. Maria Jeritza, famous American opera singer, today brought suit against Dr. Muller Guttenbrunn, author of "Riff-Raff." She and her husband, Baron Leopold von Papper, both charge the author with defamation of character.

The diva alleges she was "insulted no less than 60 times" in the book and that there were many offensive accusations against her husband. Karl Deval, a Vienna book agent, appeared for the plaintiffs and said that the book was offered him on the basis of "a lot of dirt about Jeritza."

Dr. Guttenbrunn, in his testimony, replied that his opera character, known as "Greta Lavita," was a product of his own imagination based on his observations of real life. The passages under dispute were not read in public and the court adjourned to hear arguments of counsel. The book was suppressed a year ago at Mme. Jeritza's request. It was recently published in Berlin by a publishing company said to be owned by Olga Baur, also an opera singer.

At the first spring Bhama thrust a sharp stick between the beast's jaws, but the tiger seized him and inflicted deep scratches. They fought for half an hour before the farmer's cries brought neighbors, who killed the animal with axes.

Confessed Bandit Tells How Guns Are Purchased

"You can buy a revolver for $7 and ten bullets for 50 cents at any Chicago pawnshop," Joseph Davis, 35 years old, confessed stickup man, last night told Lieut. John L. Sullivan at the detective bureau. He claims to be a world war veteran. He is married and has four children ranging in age from 4 to 10 years at 2841 West Madison street.

TAX PLANS SEEN BY STRAWN AS PERIL TO CREDIT

Delay in Collection Would Be Hazard, He Says.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Another financial muddle for the local governments is feared by various students of revenue and several organizations.

Some of them believe that the city, county, schools and other local governments will be unable to sell their tax anticipation warrants if there is a delay in collecting the 1929 taxes, due April 1. Unless the tax warrants are sold, the city, schools and others will be without cash.

The basis of the fear of empty treasuries and no borrowing ability is the plan of the board of review to reduce the tax assessment on all real estate and the plea of the Association of Real Estate Tax Payers to the state tax commission for a reassessment of all personal property for the tax year of 1929. No one has yet explained how those two tasks can be completed, with fairness to all tax payers, before April 1.

Call on Strawn to Act.

The Commercial club and the Industrial club, through their executive committees, have appealed to Silas H. Strawn to revive his citizens' committee, which came to the rescue of the local governments in their financial difficulties last winter.

Mr. Strawn talked yesterday to several members of the old citizens' committee, and they will appear today at the hearing of the state tax commission.

"If anything is done to interfere with the orderly completion of the tax program agreed upon last May, the credit of the city will not only be impaired but may be actually destroyed," said Mr. Strawn yesterday. "If the tax collections are not made on April 1, then the city will be unable to borrow money on tax anticipation warrants, and it will be without cash.

Credit Already Prejudiced.

"I sympathize with those who desire their taxes decreased, and believe I appreciate the failure of the personal property tax system. But the best information I can obtain indicates that it will be impossible to reassess all of the personal property in Cook county and revise the valuation on all land before April 1. There necessarily would be a delay in the collection, which would be extremely hazardous.

"The credit of the city has already been prejudiced by the announcement of the two tax plans for reassessment. Those who loaned money to the city on tax anticipation warrants want to know that the taxes, with which to pay them, will be collected, and collected at the prescribed time."

Alderman Hits Court's Plea for $459,879 Budget Boost

A warning that the appropriations for 1931 must be $1,000,000 under the sum expended during 1930 was sounded by Ald. Terence F. Moran [16th] in last night's budget session of the council finance committee. At the time the aldermen were considering an increase in appropriations of $459,879 requested by the new régime in the municipal court.

Chief Justice Sonsteby asked for $84,000 more than the office had in 1930; Clerk Gill asked for an increase of $220,000, and Bailiff Horan for an additional $155,879. Part of the requested increase represents salaries for new jobs, the chief justice asking for six new men, Gill for 46 new jobs, and Horan for 47.

"Must Lop Off $1,000,000."

"The committee has to reduce expenditures in 1931 $1,000,000 under the figure for 1930," Ald. Moran said. "So there is little sense in talking about giving the Municipal court an increase. If we did give the court an increase the amount of the increase will have to be taken out of the appropriations for other departments."

Officials of the license department appeared before the committee to answer the attack of Douglas Sutherland of the Civic federation in which he asked the aldermen to abolish the department. B. O. Romin, superintendent of licenses, said that some of the figures given to the committee by Sutherland were erroneous.

"My figures were taken from the controller's office and are official and dependable," answered Sutherland. "Mr. Romin makes the point that most of the work of his department is on vehicle license tax collections. If that is so the department appropriation should come from the vehicle tax fund."

Hearing Before Committee.

A hearing was given before the committee to Ald. John A. Massen [48th], chairman of the council traffic committee; Health Commissioner Kegel, and a group asking for an appropriation for a dental clinic and James Petrillo, head of the musicians' union, who asked for $50,000 for free band concerts. The requests were taken under advisement.

The plan of Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, for an appropriation of $7,506,000 out of the traction fund to carry on the subway project was not given to the committee. The largest item in Faherty's plan is for $3,500,000 to build the subway under the river, the cost of which is to be paid by the city.

AUTO TOLL HITS 1,119 WHEN THREE DIE OF INJURIES

Three deaths yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 1,119. The victims:

Mrs. Ethel Swanson, 30 years old, 121 East 79th street. Died in the Michael Reese hospital of injuries received on Sunday in a collision between two automobiles in front of 2827 Wentworth avenue. Her husband, Harold Swanson, is in a serious condition as a result of the accident.

Alfred Mueller, 8 years old, 3700 McLean avenue. Died in the Keystone hospital of injuries received on Saturday when struck by an automobile while coasting on a sled near his home. His playmate, George Tuiett, 10 years old, 3702 McLean avenue, was killed. The driver of the car, Norman Askerud, 22 years old, 1942 North Harding avenue, was held.

Lawrence Erickson, 68 years old, 6119 South Green street, a contractor. Fatally injured when struck by the auto of Charles Scheffler, 8118 South Sangamon street, while crossing Michigan avenue at 51st street. Witnesses said Erickson stepped backwards into the path of Scheffler's car.

Each of States Invited to Aid 1933 World's Fair

Formal invitations to each of the United States to participate in the 1933 World's Fair were sent out yesterday by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the fair committee. A letter, urging the coöperation of the states, was sent to the 48 governors.

99 MEN ADDED TO POLICE FORCE; DISQUALIFY FOUR

Police protection for Chicago was augmented yesterday with the addition of 99 men.

The increase was ordered by Acting Commissioner Alcock on the discovery that the police budget would provide for 132 more men. Notices were mailed to the top 130 applicants on the civil service list. However, only 103 responded, indicating the remainder had found employment more congenial or were otherwise disinclined to police work.

Following a policy inaugurated by former Chief Charles Fitzmorris, the 103 applicants yesterday were sent to the bureau of identification. Four were temporarily dropped when records showed that one had served two years in Pontiac reformatory for robbery with a gun; another had served one day in the county jail for larceny, and two others had been photographed at the bureau for unknown reasons.

G. O. P. STILL FAR FROM PEACE IN ITS OWN RANKS

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—The regular versus radical row within the Republican ranks continued to sizzle today, exhibiting three various but related reactions.

Members of the senate Republican steering committee declared their unaltered determination to avoid an extra session of congress.

Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, was stirred to issue a new statement because of the very slight and very grudging "apology" offered him by Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], radical Republican chairman of the senatorial campaign committee.

Members of both houses of congress, it became known, are urging the appointment of Charles G. Dawes or some other man as chairman of the Republican committee.

Watson Fights Extra Session.

The keynote of the regular Republican policy concerning an extra session was sounded by Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, following a steering committee conference attended by himself, Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], assistant leader, and Senator Guy D. Goff [Rep., W. Va.], chairman of the committee.

"It is the consensus of most members of congress, and of the entire American business world, as far as is ascertainable, that an extra session is to be avoided except in case of an extreme emergency," said Senator Watson. "I do not believe that this emergency will occur if members will forego speeches on extraneous matters and confine debate to the immediate problems confronting them."

Appropriations Well Along.

Senator McNary remarked that the appropriation bills were further along toward passage than usual at this time of the session and he said so far as the insurgents' insistence on their pet measures was concerned he knew of no one who was attempting to hold such bills back.

Even more decisive language came from Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], who declared:

"The best contribution the congress can make is to finish up its necessary appropriation bills and go home. Congress cannot make prosperity, but it can often spoil it. I venture to say that about ninety per cent of the people of this country feel as I do about this. It is not going to help American business or the American farmer to pour good public money down a rat-hole for alleged relief that does not relieve."

Borah on Opposite Side.

But from Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], on the insurgent side of the fence, came comment equally forceful.

"This talk about congress disturbing business or that a session of congress would be an unmixed evil is an effort to assign a patriotic excuse for going home or going to Europe," he declared. He asserted that important pending legislation, aimed at helping business, demanded immediate passage, and concluded, "It is a strange thing to me, to have men fighting to get into congress and telling the people all the things they want to do, and then making every excuse possible to go home and do nothing. I suggest that they turn their salaries over to the hungry until they get back."

Such controversial issues as the debenture plan for farm relief, Muscle Shoals and power, further relief measures including the Wagner unemployment bills, regulation of bus traffic, drastic prohibition laws for the District of Columbia, increase in the income tax rates in the upper brackets, and anti-injunction legislation are on the program which the insurgents particularly desire to take up.

Would Occasion Much Debate.

In addition, there probably will be discussion of the Wickersham report and an inevitable airing of the affair which set off the present controversy—the secret campaign against Senator George W. Norris, insurgent Republican of Nebraska, which was carried on by Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, and which was disclosed by the Nye committee.

Treasurer Nutt had hard things to say about the Nye investigation and about Senator Nye's failure to apologize for having termed a special account of the national committee a "slush fund."

"The chairman of a senate committee conducting an impartial investigation of elections would be presumed to acquaint himself with all of the facts before rushing into print with charges that could not be substantiated," he said. "A failure to do so lays Senator Nye open to the suspicion both of insincerity and of a desire to have the case prejudged by the country before all of the evidence was in.

"But Senator Nye's tactics all make for newspaper headlines and this appears to be mostly a headline hunting investigation, with the Republican party, its officers, and some of its candidates as the particular targets."

Senator Nye's answer to Mr. Nutt's demand for an apology was an admission that "further investigation may reveal that the $40,000 was not a slush fund." The answer came from Florida, where Senator Nye with five other senators, including Senator Otis Glenn [Rep., Ill.], had gone as a subcommittee at government expense to spend the Christmas holidays inspecting the Everglades as a possible site for a national park. Senator Nye's statement was given out from Miami Beach.

Ready to Replace Fess.

A movement on the part of senators and representatives to replace Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], present chairman of the Republican national committee, with some one of the type of Ambassador Dawes was disclosed today. The congressmen feel, it is reported, that President Hoover's appointees, Dr. Work, Claudius Huston and Senator Fess, have not been successful in popularizing Republicanism or getting Republicans elected.

They claim that since congressional elections, as well as presidential, depend on the support of the national party, they should be given some voice in the selection of the man to fill the chairmanship of the national party committee. So far, the movement has found no official support and has not gone beyond the discussion stage, but it is clear that dissatisfaction with the leadership of the party exists among the regulars as well as the radicals and that the Lucas affair may be the force which will bring matters to a head.

Walsh Adds Caustic Comment.

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] today added caustic comment to recent senatorial statements regarding allegations that Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, aided a campaign against the election of Senator Norris [Rep., Neb.].

Lucas' alleged activities were pronounced "despicable" by Walsh, who added:

"The criticism to which the affair is subject is not whether the opposition to the election of Norris was or was not justified. It is directed against the reprehensible, one may say the contemptible, methods by which the opposition was carried on.

Assails Methods, Not Opposition.

"Various features are open to censure, but no one has been heard to justify, nor can they justify, the circulation anonymously of literature such as that circulated in the campaign two years ago against Alfred E. Smith to arouse bigotry against Norris because of his support of Smith."

Senator Nye tonight discounted a charge of Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, that he was conducting a headline hunting investigation against the Republican party.

"It is very apparent," Senator Nye said, "that certain parties are determined to cover up the real issue involved in the work done by Lucas in conducting the campaign in Nebraska against Senator Norris."

Pastor Saves Boy from Death

REV. HOWARD P. BUXTON.

RAYMOND LARSON.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Both Recovering

The Rev. Howard P. Buxton, pastor of the Riverside Methodist Episcopal church, and the 9 year old boy skater he rescued from the Des Plaines river Sunday both were confined to their beds yesterday and last night on orders of their physicians, who said both probably would be out today, none the worse for their experience.

The Rev. Mr. Buxton and his two sons, Robert, 6 years old, and Hames, 7, were walking along the bank near Longcommon road, Riverside, when they heard the screams of other children and then saw Raymond Larson, 9 years old, who had broken through the ice.

The ice broke further under the Rev. Mr. Buxton's weight and he sank into the water himself as he pushed the boy on to firm ice. Skaters then ran for police, who arrived several minutes later and pulled the Rev. Mr. Buxton ashore with a rope.

WOMAN'S JURY HOLDS WOMAN IN GUN KILLING

But Other Women Shout Their Dissent.

swered. "We all felt that we were not entirely convinced it was purely an accident and would prefer the manslaughter form."

The testimony involved an unusual amount of drama, aligning sister against sister, cousin against cousin, and aunt against niece. Mrs. Ella Gleichaus of 6655 Drexel avenue, mother of the dead man, who was 35 years old, entered the courtroom in a state of hysterical grief, supported by two relatives.

"My poor boy—my poor boy! Where is he? Let me see him," she begged. Mrs. Mary Travis, her sister and mother of Mrs. Miller, hovered about her, distraught, sympathetic, and yet resentful. There was a sobbing, muffled accusation from Mrs. Gleichaus, and Mrs. Travis returned tartly:

"'Twasn't done a-purpose. 'Twasn't done a-purpose!"

Mrs. Gleichaus appeared not to hear, nor did she speak to her sister.

Nephew Describes Struggle.

Laurance O'Toole, nephew of Mrs. Miller and a roomer at her home, told of admitting Gleichaus to their apartment at 7755 Cregier avenue Saturday night and of seeing him go into a bedroom where Mrs. Miller, with whom he had long been desperately in love, was lying on the bed. Immediately there was a struggle within, and he dashed in to find Gleichaus strangling his aunt, he said. He pinioned his arms, but Gleichaus struggled loose and drew a pistol. Mrs. Miller wrested the gun from Gleichaus and struck him with it, drawing blood on his forehead.

"I pulled the trigger once, and it snapped," the little woman in the black velvet hat and black lace dress took up the story on the witness stand. "I thought it was like one he threatened me with once before, that didn't have any bullets in it. Laurance yelled at me, 'Aunt Vi, throw that gun away—it's loaded.' I said, 'No, it isn't, Laurance, there's no bullets in it,' and I just brandished it like that [illustrating], and God! It went off."

"Where was Gleichaus standing?" Coroner Bundesen asked.

"He'd been washing the blood from his head in the bathroom," returned the witness, half crying. "He said to us, 'The only reason it didn't go off—' and I don't know what he meant, 'cause just then it did go off. He staggered out and said, 'My God, Vi, you shot me! I'm dying! God forgive me for what I've done.'"

Nearly all of the few witnesses were examined from the jury box by the intent jurors. From Robert Morrison it was drawn that he had had a fist fight with Gleichaus Friday night. From O'Toole, that he had heard Gleichaus threaten Mrs. Miller's and her son's lives. From Mrs. Miller herself, that she had been engaged to the deceased three years ago, but broke the engagement.

LOANS FOR VETERANS ON INSURANCE BONUS, VANDENBURG'S PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—A plan whereby world war veterans would be permitted to borrow one-half of the ultimate cash value of their insurance bonus certificates at once was presented to President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today by Senator A. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.].

"Under the plan I have advanced," Mr. Vandenberg said, "each veteran with an endowment certificate worth $1,000 at maturity in 1945, could borrow up to $500 at four per cent interest. The government would be protected even if no interest was ever paid by the veteran. When the policy matured the veteran would collect the difference between the value of his policy and the amount loaned plus interest charges."

45 MILLION FOR DROUGHT RELIEF IS APPROVED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Approval of a $45,000,000 appropriation for drought relief loan was given today by a subcommittee of the house appropriations committee. This is the full amount authorized in the legislation enacted in congress before the holidays.

The subcommittee will report to the full appropriations committee next Monday, which will take immediate action with a view to passage of the bill as a deficiency measure in the house on that day. It is expected to go through with but little debate and to be passed in the senate within a day or two thereafter.

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde appeared before the subcommittee today in support of the appropriation. He asked for the entire amount of the authorization, although he reiterated his belief that $25,000,000 would be sufficient to care for the drought area as provided in the original administration bill.

Secretary Hyde asserted that he had no intention of approving any loans for human food, although the language of the authorization was construed during the congressional debates as being made broad enough to include such loans in cases of emergency. Mr. Hyde said the loans would be available for distribution within a week after the money is appropriated.

BRITISH SHOPPERS PACK STORES IN PROSPERITY RUSH

Newspapers Filled with Ads for Bargains.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Record advertising sales are being registered by the British daily newspapers as the after Christmas bargain hunting campaign opens. The number of buyers is expected to exceed those attending all previous post-holiday sales.

The prosperity reflected by the columns of the newspapers has reached unheard of pinnacles. The Evening News, Lord Rothmere's afternoon paper, announced today that one concern has taken up five complete pages on the largest advertising contract known here in order to encourage the business boom.

Advertising Is "Sellout."

The News has hung out the "sold out" sign for days. It was announced this afternoon that all sections of the newspaper, including the entire classified section, were crowded owing to the onslaught of advertising.

All merchandizers are preparing a big push and the public has already invaded the stores. Huge crowds are seeking bargain plums in the city-wide clearance sales.

Record Sales Predicted.

The advertising contracts indicate the biggest rush of shoppers the city has known this season, the merchants accepting the renewal of spirited buying as an indication of the loosening of the purse strings.

Other newspapers are reflecting the same bright tone of trade as the News, which says it will maintain its advertising space throughout the week.

Who Is Normal In Abnormal Times?

THERE are many fine business institutions in America today whose condition is normal or near-to-normal.

A more accurate index could scarcely be devised to indicate the merit and integrity of manufacture and of management.

Many an honest and worthy business may be penalized by special market and competitive conditions, but one thing is sure—where a business is maintaining its leadership, that leadership is due to the high regard in which the public holds its quality and its direction.

Pierce-Arrow is very prominent among those enjoying increased public confidence and purchase—a preference which can only be interpreted as one of endorsement and approval.

Pierce-Arrow has striven to hold fast to all that is sound and good in engineering and in fabrication.

The present Pierce-Arrow may well be rated higher than the best the world affords. It is a nobly designed, proportioned, and decorated vehicle, even, easy, and restful beyond words, powerful and swift to the very limit of need or indulgence.

Yet even such a car does not fulfill completely the Pierce-Arrow conception of its debt to its distinguished clientele, and its new cars and new prices are soon to be announced.

Pierce-Arrow feels fully justified in stating its conviction that these new products, which are to be initially displayed in January—beginning with the Automobile Show in New York—will more than ever merit the exalted Pierce-Arrow standing.

Pierce-Arrow leadership has ever been a source of pride and responsibility to the management—it is an intensified gratification that the Pierce-Arrow car is singled out at this time for special and extraordinary public endorsement.

TRANSIT MERGER WILL BE DELAYED UNTIL SUMMER

Only Optimists Predict Agreement Then.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The consolidation of the surface and elevated lines into one transportation system for Chicago appears to be months away—probably a year—according to the views expressed yesterday at a meeting of all concerned in the office of Walter L. Fisher.

The earliest date suggested, when the merger can be effected, was Aug. 1 next; but others expressed the view it would be nearer Christmas 1931.

It is certain that the companies will ask for an extension of time within which to accept the franchise ordinance approved by the electorate on July 1. In the original ordinance the companies were given until Dec. 1; but an extension was granted to Jan. 31.

May Seek Two Extensions.

From the views expressed yesterday another extension will be asked to May 22. By that time, it was thought that the difficulties in the consolidation would become so generally known that it would be apparent to the public that a fourth extension to Aug. 1 would be necessary.

Chairman James B. Bowler of the council local transportation committee asked that all of the facts be corrected in a written report so that the committee could get a clear view of the situation. He insisted upon that as a prerequisite to a consideration of another extension of time. That report is to be made to the committee.

The chief causes of delay, as exhibited yesterday, are the court proceedings. All of the surface lines are in receivership. The protective committees for the various kinds of securities have approved of the merger plan of Halsey, Stuart & Co., except the committees representing the participation certificates of the west and north side surface lines. But the other committees do not now represent 100 per cent of their respective security holders, which means there are sundry persons who can attack the plan in the courts.

Need Court Decisions.

It was thought impossible by the lawyers yesterday that a decision can be gained in the suits before Aug. 1 next, and probably the date would be much later.

No authorized statement, however, was issued and it is possible that a more favorable view will be expressed in the report to the council committee than were the opinions of the lawyers yesterday in private conference. There are more than 15 law firms interested in some phase of the merger.

Some of the aldermen who attended the conference said later that they favored placing some conditions in the next extension of time. The nature of these they declined to disclose.

The Rev. James P. Kiely, 6303 North Fairfield avenue, pastor of St. Timothy's Roman Catholic church, was sued for $75,000 in the Circuit court yesterday by Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt, 3856 North Troy street. Mrs. Schmidt says in her bill that she was severely bitten by a German police dog owned by the Rev. Kiely while passing the parish house at 2718 Rosemont avenue on July 3, 1929.

NAMING FARMER TO RESERVE BANK PUZZLES HOOVER

In Quandary Whether to Please Radicals.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Selection of a "dirt farmer" member of the federal reserve board is proving a perplexing problem to President Hoover. Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, and other states in the agricultural area have offered candidates for the post, which has been vacant since the death of E. H. Cunningham of Iowa.

Whether the President should choose some one who is acceptable to the radical senators from agricultural states or whether he should reward senators who have defended his administration is one of the phases of the problem.

Considers 3 Candidates.

The three candidates who are said to be receiving the most serious consideration are Gov. Arthur J. Weaver of Nebraska, who was defeated for reelection in November and retires from office on Jan. 1; Ernest Moore, a banker-farmer of Cedar Rapids, Ia.; and Frank H. Funk of Bloomington, Ill., former representative in congress and an active farmer.

Gov. Weaver, a regular Republican, took the stump with Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.] in the last campaign, and this is said to have made him acceptable to the radicals.

Mr. Moore has the indorsement of Senator Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.], a foe of the administration. He also has the support of Senator Elect L. J. Dickinson [Rep., Ia.], a friend of the administration, and of most of the Iowa delegation in congress.

Funk Indorsed by Glenn.

Mr. Funk's appointment has been urged upon the President by Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], who defended Mr. Hoover against attacks of the radicals and Democrats in a speech in the senate recently. Mr. Funk is expected to have the indorsement of Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.], also a supporter of the administration.

The President desires to name some one who is acceptable to the farm organizations. S. H. Thompson of Quincy, Ill., president of the American Farm Bureau federation, has promised to submit one or more names. It is understood Mr. Thompson will approve two and possibly three of the leading contenders.

President Hoover has indicated a preference for some one who combines both agricultural and banking experience. Mr. Moore does this, having been born on a farm and now owns four farms, although actively in the banking business. Gov. Weaver originally was a lawyer, but has been engaged in fruit growing, grain and stock raising since 1905. He was formerly a director of the Omaha branch of the federal reserve bank of Kansas City.

Mr. Funk is said to be highly acceptable to officials of the American Farm Bureau federation through his long experience in agriculture. His service in public life includes six years in congress and seven years as a member of the Illinois public utilities commission, but he has not had banking experience.

Others who have been considered for the "dirt farmer" post include Sherman Houston of Missouri, Gov. John Hammill of Iowa, and Representative James G. Strong [Rep., Kas.].

WORK STARTS SOON ON DRESDEN ISLAND UNIT OF WATERWAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Specifications for the construction of the Dresden island unit of the Illinois waterway will be in the hands of prospective bidders before the end of this week, war department officials said today following a conference between Lieut. Col. William C. Weeks, district engineer at Chicago, and Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers.

Actual construction work on the Illinois waterway is expected to be under way early in February, department officials said. The plan, as outlined today, is for Col. Weeks to ask for bids this week and open them the latter part of January. Unless the bids are of such a nature they cannot be accepted, the contract for the Dresden island sector will be let about Feb. 1, officials said.

Specifications prepared by Col. Weeks for the Brandon road unit were approved by the war department today and bids on this part of the waterway are scheduled to go forward within the next few days. Department engineers said the time between the submission of bids and the date when they would be opened had been cut to thirty days in the hope of expediting the beginning of operations. A total of $1,200,000 is to be expended on the waterway before July 1.

CANAL BUDGET DOES NOT CUT LEGAL DIVISION

Law Office Not Affected by Reductions.

While trustees for the sanitary district point out that the preliminary draft of the 1931 budget shows a saving of $7,000,000 over the expenditures of last year the large law department pay roll, listing over thirty lawyers collecting close to $160,000 a year in fees and salaries, remains the same. The total estimated expenses of maintaining the department comes to $1,327,138.

As part of the legal department there is also the real estate division at the head of which is Anthony W. Komarek, real estate dealer, whose duties as an occasional consultant bring him an annual salary of $5,000. The allotment for the division is $53,500 in the preliminary budget. The remainder, over Komarek's salary, is taken up by the salaries of a draftsman, a stenographer, and "appraisal fees."

Law Department Divided.

The law department is divided into two separate legal staffs, the main law office and the Illinois valley claims section. William Rothmann, member of the firm of West & Eckhard, who was recently appointed attorney for the district, heads the main office at a salary of $15,000 a year.

Elmer J. Witty, as first assistant attorney, heads the claims section, with a salary of $12,000. Following the resignation several weeks ago of Walter E. Beebe as chief attorney, Beebe has been retained without salary reduction as special attorney. Whether he will be retired after Dec. 31 has not been decided.

Next are the "principal assistant attorneys," at $10,000. They are Charles E. Anthony of the law and opinion section of the main office and Thomas F. Donovan, in the trial section of the same office.

Assistants Get Lion's Share.

But the greater part of the allotment for the law department is for a long list of assistant attorneys whose duties permit them to continue private practice. Their salaries range from $8,500 to $3,000. There are more than 25 of them, several not on the regular pay roll.

"Services of attorneys and investigators and expenditures in connection with litigation and settlement of overflow cases in the Illinois valley, including local attorneys," as described by the trustees, "will cost $25,000 in 1931, it is estimated. Another $10,000 goes to extra attorneys to assist those already on the staff in sewerage lawsuits.

The law department has its own engineering staff, assigned to the valley claims section. A total of $704,978 is asked for this branch. This sum includes a $9,600 salary for a supervising engineer and salaries for eight assistants and 41 other employés. This is in addition to $43,509,270 allotted the engineering unit in the budget.

THREE YOUTHS ARE EXECUTED AS MURDERERS

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The state of New Jersey tonight executed three young men for murders committed during holdups in Essex county, the electrocutions in the state prison occupying exactly 17 minutes.

The trio, described by death house officers as "mere kids," walked one after another in silence to the chair. The executed youths were:

William Gimbel, 20, of Belleville, who in fleeing from a grocery store holdup fired into a pursuing crowd, killing two.

Joseph Calabrese, 21, Newark, killed a druggist who resisted robbery.

Arthur Cort, 22, same crime as Calabrese.

HOLDS UNIVERSE MAY BE REBUILT AS IT WEARS OUT

Dr. Millikan Addresses Noted Scientists.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—The latest frontiers of man's knowledge about the universe and himself were being explored today as more than 5,000 scientists gathered in sectional meetings for the opening conclaves of the annual convocation of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and Affiliated Societies.

Dr. Robert A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology delivered an address at the main session tonight, giving the present status of theory and experiment as to atomic disintegration and synthesis.

This leads thought away from such temporal things as business depression, unemployment, and material obsessions into those hills of pure science where the cold depths of interstellar space are swinging, where man is but a speck in a supergalactial universe, and also to a solid shore where he may find an immanent, ever creative intelligence operating.

Machinelike Theory Goes.

The man in the street who may think that science has built a machinelike universe and a machinelike man is several decades behind the march of the new physics.

"Indeed, has not modern physics thrown the purely mechanistic view of the universe root and branch out of its house?" asked Dr. Millikan.

He takes issue with Sir James Jeans and others as to the "heat death" of the universe, that long debated second law of thermodynamics, which has given theologians and philosophers such trouble, and from his long investigation of the nature of cosmic rays ventures the suggestion that there is as much evidence to think the universe is constantly being rebuilt as there is to think that it is running down and the whole experiment of mankind and the earth doomed to extinction in some millions of years, no matter how far man ascends.

Dr. Millikan discussed the great discoveries of the last one hundred years which have led to the present synthesis.

"The facts of evolution," he said, "showed that, so far as the biological field is concerned, the process of creation, or upbuilding from lower to higher forms, has been continuously going on for millions and millions of years and is presumably going on now.

"Neither evolution nor evolutionists have in general been atheistic—Darwin least of all—but their influence has undoubtedly been to raise doubts about the legitimacy of the dogma of the deus ex machina and of the correlative one of the heat death.

"This last dogma rests squarely upon the assumption that we infinite simianites on a speck of a world know all about how the universe behaves in all its parts, or more specifically, that the radiation laws which seem to hold here cannot possibly have an exception anywhere, even though that is precisely the sore of sweeping generalization that has led us physicists into error half a dozen times during the last thirty years and also though we know quite well that conditions prevail outside our planet which we cannot duplicate here or even approach.

Gilbert Lewis Quoted.

"No more crisp or cogent statement of what seems to me to be the correct position of science in this regard has come to my attention than is found in the recent utterance by Gilbert N. Lewis, 'thermodynamics gives no support to the assumption that the universe is running down. Gain of entropy always means loss of information and nothing more.'"

The discovery of radioactivity brought about a wholesome lesson in modesty to the physicists, he said. This led to the discovery of the enormous lifetime of the earth—about a billion and a half years. Next, the fundamental distinction between radiation and matter disappeared.

"The discovery that the elements are all built up out of hydrogen raises very insistently the query as to whether they are not being built up out of hydrogen somewhere now. They certainly were once so put together, and some of them, the radioactive ones, are now actually caught in the act of splitting up. Isn't it highly probable, so would say any observer, that the inverse process is going on somewhere, especially since the process would involve no violation of the energy?"

Scientists in Picture.

Rutherford, Harkins, Compton, McMillan, and other scientists come into the picture of the cosmic rays, which he next discusses. These reveal, he said:

"A radiation, the chief component of which, according to our direct comparison, is five times as penetrating as the hardest gamma ray and ten times as energetic.

"A radiation that is completely independent of the sun, the great hot mass just off our bows, and not appreciably dependent on the milky way or the nearest spiral nebula in Andromeda, one that comes to us practically uniformly from all portions of the celestial dome, and is so invariable with both time and latitude at a given elevation that the observed small fluctuations at a given station reflect with much fidelity merely the changes of thickness of the absorbing air blanket through which the rays have to pass to get to the observer. This last property means that at the time these rays enter the earth's atmosphere they are practically pure ether waves or photons."

Come from Cold Regions?

Various experiments have proved to him that the cosmic rays "cannot originate even in the outer atmosphere of the stars, but that they must originate in those portions of the universe from which they can come to the earth without traversing matter in quantity that is appreciable even as compared with the thickness of the earth's atmosphere—in other words, that they must originate in the intensely cold regions in the depths of interstellar space."

His further conclusions are: "That the rays are due to the building in the depths of space of the commoner heavy elements out of hydrogen which the spectroscopy of the heavens shows to be widely distributed through space. That hellum and the common elements oxygen, nitrogen, carbon, and even sulphur are also found between the stars is proved by Bowen's beautiful recent discovery that the 'Nebulium lines' arise from these very 'elements'. That these atom building processes cannot take place under the conditions of temperature and pressure existing in the sun and stars, the heats of these bodies having to be maintained presumably by the atom annihilating process postulated by Jeans and Eddington as taking place there.

Hydrogen May Be Replaced.

"All this says nothing at all about the second law of thermodynamics or the 'Waerme-Tod' (Heat death) but it does contain a bare suggestion that if atom formation out of hydrogen is taking place all through space as it seems to be doing, it may be that the hydrogen is somehow being replenished there, too, from the only form of energy that we know to be all the time leaking out from the stars to interstellar space—namely: radiant energy. This has been speculatively suggested many times before in order to allow the creator to be continually on his job. Here is perhaps a little bit of experimental finger pointing in that direction. But it is not at all proved or even perhaps necessarily suggested.

Dr. Millikan was presented by the new president, Thomas H. Morgan of the California Institute of Technology, after welcoming speeches by Dr. Robert E. Vinson, president of Western Reserve university, where many of the meetings are being held, and Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of the Case School of Applied Science.

One of the booths in the scientific exhibit held in connection with the convention at Western Reserve is that of Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland Clinic foundation. It was reported recently that Dr. Crile and his associates had discovered the "secret of life," that they had produced life from inorganic salts. This was a misapprehension, but a new tool for science has nevertheless been found here. It is described as follows:

"Cells were formed in a mixture of brain lipoid, the protein of any organ and brain ash solution. These cells are designated auto-synthetic cells. The lipoid was extracted with either from dried fresh brain. The protein was extracted with soft solution from the residue remaining after lipoid was extracted. The brain solution consisted of a solution in distilled water of various salts in the proportions in which they are present in the brain. No cells preëxisted in the sterile solutions used.

"The research was with special reference to the origin of cancer cells. It was a search for a physical principle to account for the conversion of normal cells into cancer cells."

Among the properties of these synthetic cells, which may be observed under the microscope, are nucleation, growth, division by fission and budding, respiration, and motility.

The tenure of life of these cells to date has been 2½ months, with the protein culture repeated. It is significant that these cells come about only through the use of brain lipoids. Studies of disease and exhaustion will be made through them.

4 MISSISSIPPI STATE COLLEGES DROPPED BY PROFESSORS' SOCIETY

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Four Mississippi state educational institutions were dropped from the eligible list of the American Association of University Professors tonight when the annual convention voted to condemn wholesale dismissals of faculty members by Gov. Theodore Bilbo last June and July.

The resolution said that "much damage has been done to the cause of education in Mississippi as well as a great injustice to those dismissed or demoted." It charged the 179 dismissals and demotions were made "apparently for political reasons, without due consideration of the welfare of the students affected, and, so far as we are informed, with no notice to those dismissed or demoted."

The schools placed on the ineligible list are: University of Mississippi, Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi, the Mississippi State College for Women, and the State Teachers college.

2 BROTHERS WHO STORMED JAIL IN FEUD STILL FREE

Snow and Darkness Foil Posses.

Salem, Ind., Dec. 29.—(AP)—A blinding snowstorm and darkness, combined with difficulty of access to the hill region of Washington county, tonight interrupted a two day man hunt for Dan and Alonzo Gibson, Tennesseans, who with two brothers stormed the jail Saturday night in an attempt to reach two men accused of slaying their father. The search will be resumed tomorrow.

Charles Moore, a former sheriff, in charge of the posses, reported to Sheriff Milton Trinkle that it was useless to continue the search of the hills in the snow and darkness. He expressed belief the posses had been hot on the trail all day, but said the Gibson boys had not been seen.

Moore is leading the posses because of the inability of Sheriff Trinkle, who was wounded in the attempted invasion of the jail. Trinkle and his wife were shot when they refused to surrender the keys to a cell in which John and Pleas Spurlock had been placed after their arrest for the slaying of Patton Gibson two weeks ago.

Another of the Gibsons, Otis, was killed by Elmer Gerald, Salem town marshal, who answered a call for aid from the jail here.

Hill Residents May Aid Fugitives.

Moore told the sheriff it was probable that many of the families in the district combed by posses were sheltering the fugitives from time to time. He said considerable confusion was caused when members of a posse made a raid on an abandoned house late today in which they believed the Gibsons were hiding. Reinforcements and ammunition were sent from the sheriff's office, but when the posse advanced on the house, no trace of the hunted men was found.

The posse leader also said he went to the home of the Gibsons' stepmother today, and she promised him she would attempt to get in touch with Dan and Alonzo and persuade them to surrender peacefully.

Army Flyer Falls to Death on Way to Visit Parents

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the systems after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(Adv.)

CRIME ON WANE SWANSON TELL LAW ENFORCER

State's Attorneys Discu War on Violators.

Progress in the warfare aga crime was detailed at the 34th an meeting of the Illinois State's A ney's association at the Palmer ho yesterday. State's Attorney John Swanson and Municipal Judge J Homer Lyle warned the forty state's attorneys against the evil organized crime and pointed to proposed legislation against p enemies as a vote of public confid in the campaign against criminals "I am an optimist on the que of law enforcement," Mr. Swa said. "Records of the chief of p show that crime during the last y pares favorably with that of e years. The principal danger of cr is in its organization. Organized cr may go so far as to dictate to ju on the bench and in the law m bodies.

Danger Past in County.

"In Cook county this dang threat in the past, has been thw by an aroused citizenry. With pu confidence united in the battle aga crime, there can be no menace to public safety. It is the duty of state's attorneys to cooperate in feating organized crime."

Judge Lyle spoke of his experie in the Felony court and paid tri to State's Attorney Swanson for honest administration enlisting pu cooperation in the drive against crim The judge criticized statutes ma it necessary for police to proc search warrants before searc gangsters for weapons.

"We may draw the analogy a policeman about to shoot a mad might as well be stopped by a law because he did not have legal evid that the dog was mad, as have some policemen held back in an ar of a gangster like Al Capone or T Druggan because he was not pos they had guns on their per although the policeman knew of t records," the judge said. "I should be exterminated."

Capone Is No Myth.

"Capone is not a myth. He representatives in the legisla houses of the state and nation. is a crime wave by himself. How as Judge Swanson said, things better than they have been, the p consciousness has been aroused we are bound for more hopeful This single factor is the greatest in the warfare against crime in time.

"As enforcers against crime have but one court of appeal and in the public. I heed not coun association of lawyers, but the p and they by their votes have s their expression of confidence. a time the citizenry was suspi of the courts and suggested ap ment of judges as a means of s organized crime. Even at this I believe that a course in prosecuting and work of the bes our universities would be of in able aid in crime fighting."

Tells of High Bonds.

Judge Lyle told of the effect of bonds in demoralizing the spi criminals, pointing out that a months ago gangsters were n able to raise $10,000 in cash, bu found difficulty in so doing. H stressed the proposed legis against public enemies to be pre at the coming session of the l ture as a manifestation of public against crime.

Circuit Judge Harry Fisher of the program of revision of the final code, drafted last fall by th nois and Cook county judicial ad councils as a further step in th fare against crime.

CRIME ON WANE, SWANSON TELLS LAW ENFORCERS

State's Attorneys Discuss War on Violators.

Progress in the warfare against crime was detailed at the 34th annual meeting of the Illinois State's Attorney's association at the Palmer house yesterday. State's Attorney John A. Swanson and Municipal Judge John Eliner Lyle warned the forty-five state's attorneys against the evils of organized crime and pointed to the proposed legislation against public enemies as a vote of public confidence in the campaign against criminals.

"I am an optimist on the question of law enforcement," Mr. Swanson said. "Records of the chief of police show that crime during the last year, despite the general depression, compares favorably with that of other years. The principal danger of crime is in its organization. Organized crime may go so far as to dictate to judges on the bench and in the law making bodies.

Danger Past in County.

"In Cook county this danger, a threat in the past, has been thwarted by an aroused citizenry. With public confidence united in the battle against crime, there can be no menace to the public safety. It is the duty of all state's attorneys to cooperate in defeating organized crime."

Judge Lyle spoke of his experiences in the Felony court and paid tribute to State's Attorney Swanson for "an honest administration enlisting public cooperation in the drive against crime." The judge criticized statutes making it necessary for police to procure search warrants before searching gangsters for weapons.

"We may draw the analogy that a policeman about to shoot a mad dog might as well be stopped by a lawyer because he did not have legal evidence that the dog was mad, as have the some policemen held back in an arrest of a gangster like Al Capone or Terry Druggan because he was not positive they had guns on their person, although the policeman knew of their records," the judge said. "Both should be exterminated."

Capone Is No Myth.

"Capone is not a myth. He has representatives in the legislative halls of the state and nation. He is a crime wave by himself. However, as Judge Swanson said, things are better than they have been, the public consciousness has been aroused and we are bound for more hopeful days. This single factor is the greatest step in the warfare against crime in our time.

"As enforcers against crime we have but one court of appeal and that is the public. I heed not court or association of lawyers, but the people and they by their votes have shown their expression of confidence. For a time the citizenry was suspicious of the courts and suggested appointment of judges as a means of curbing organized crime. Even at this time I believe that a course in public prosecuting and work of the bench in our universities would be of invaluable aid in crime fighting."

Tells of High Bonds.

Judge Lyle told of the effect of high bonds in demoralizing the spirit of criminals, pointing out that several months ago gangsters were readily able to raise $10,000 in cash, but now found difficulty in so doing. He also aroused the proposed legislation against public enemies to be presented at the coming session of the legislature as a manifestation of public spirit against crime.

Circuit Judge Harry Fisher spoke of the program of revision of the criminal code, drafted last fall by the Illinois and Cook county judicial advisory councils as a further step in the warfare against crime.

At an evening banquet Charles W. Bulley, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, and Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom addressed the prosecutors. Both emphasized the fact that public sympathy with prosecutors aids the present drive against lawlessness propitious.

WAR VETERAN DIES; CARRIED BULLET IN HEART SINCE 1917

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A German bullet half an inch long was found imbedded in the heart of Oliver Veale, 50, a war veteran, at an inquest today. Doctors said the bullet had been quiescent in the heart for years, although any movement in any direction would have been fatal. Death, however, was due to Bright's disease. In France, in 1917, Veale was severely wounded and was at one time given up for dead.

AH! MUSSOLINI! SPARE ITALY THIS GREAT HARDSHIP

This Villain Wants to to Abolish Spaghetti.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Dec. 29.—Filipo Tomaso Marinetti, president of the Association of Fascist Writers, member of the Italian academy, and one of the founders of the Fascist movement, today launched a holy war against spaghetti. He exhorted all good Fascists to do their duty and abolish the whole tribe of succulent and sibilant "paste asciutte" so dear to the Italian heart.

Some weeks ago Sig. Marinetti caused national consternation by writing an open letter to the Neapolitans, telling them that their hereditary virtues of courage, energy and enthusiasm are being undermined by the insidious habit of spaghetti guzzling. Since Naples is the very heart of the macaroni belt—until a few years ago they used to have caldrons set up like hot dog stands at all corners, where for one centissimo a customer was entitled to all the spaghetti and macaroni he could put down in one guzzle—it can be imagined what a sensation this created.

Wants Reform of Cooking.

But Sig. Marinetti's latest outburst, which appeared today in the Turin Gazetta del Populo, goes much further. Not only does he find spaghetti guzzling incompatible with Fascist virtues, and urges the abolition of all pastes such as spaghetti, macaroni, and ravioli, together with their traditional sauces, but he also calls for a revolution of cooking along futuristic lines.

Among the reforms demanded are the abolition of knives and forks.

Finds It Induces Pessimism.

In condemning spaghetti, Sig. Marinetti finds that it induces "pessimism and skepticism." He also declares that pastes are hard to digest because they are not chewed—which rings true because most Italians keep a continuous belt of the rubbery paste moving from plate to gullet with no halt for mastication in between.

Another objection is that spaghetti increases the economic problem by the necessity of vast imports, whereas tons of native grown rice are going to waste because there is no market for it. This argument is sound and there is a strong movement, sponsored by the government, to make the people give up the traditional pastes in favor of rice.

EX-JUDGE ELLER TO FACE GRAND JURY BAIL QUIZ

Emmanuel Eller, son of Morris Eller, city collector and Thompson politician, is to be called before the next grand jury, it was announced yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney A. C. DeWitt. Eller will be questioned about a case in which a bond forfeiture was set aside on the misrepresentation that the defendant in the case was dead. The bond forfeiture and the case itself were abated by Eller while sitting as a Criminal court judge, according to the prosecutor.

James Williams, alias James Ray, alias Charles McGovern, the defendant in the case, was found yesterday in a St. Louis jail by Prosecutor DeWitt. Williams, it is reported, also is wanted in Louisville.

Indicted for Theft.

Williams was under indictment on charges of larceny in connection with the theft of rugs from the Basasian rug store, 33 North Wabash avenue and from Marshall Field and company. He jumped his $2,000 bond in January, 1927. The case was continued in the courts until February, 1928, when all proceedings were abated because of the supposed death of the defendant.

Mrs. Isabelle Armstrong, 4821 Forestville avenue, wife of a colored policeman, who signed the bond for Williams, has since died, it was revealed yesterday. It is said, however, that she never really owned the property scheduled, but that it was deeded to her by a physician for bond signing purposes.

Prosecutor DeWitt said that he would have taken the case before the present grand jury if he had had time. The December grand jury will make its final report tomorrow; therefore, the matter will be submitted to the special jury to be impaneled next month.

Olson, Alcock Witnesses.

Former Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court and Acting Commissioner of Police Alcock were the only witnesses before the jury yesterday. It was reported that the jurors asker former Judge Olson for an explanation of bond conditions in the Municipal court. He said that the judges did the best they could with the facilities available.

Former Judge Olson was questioned specifically, it is said, about two judges for whom the jurors had considered possible impeachment proceedings, and he is reported to have replied that some of the judges apparently were not doing just the right thing, but that the great majority were trying to perform their duties properly.

Alcock was questioned about a possible working agreement between police in the colored districts and professional bondsmen. The jurors, it is reported, wanted to know why more than 323,000 arrests were made in 1930 with little more than 50,000 convictions. The acting commissioner said he had no evidence of collusion, but that if any were uncovered he would be glad to act immediately, it is said. According to reports, the jurors suspected that arrests were made to get clients for professional bondsmen.

BURMESE TROOPS BATTLE REBELS IN DENSE JUNGLE

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The thunder of guns heard over a wide area in southern Burma tonight indicated a vigorous battle was in progress between government troops and rebels.

Reports of heavy casualties have filtered back to civilization through the dense jungle area between here and the rebel stronghold, but details of what is actually going on are unknown because of the difficulty of communication.

The causes of the rebellion, the rebels' present position and the identity of their leader all remain mysteries. A prince of the wild, mountainous Shan states in eastern Burma with designs on the Burmese throne has been credited with leading the insurgents, but no confirmation of this report has been obtained.

Fires Rage in Jungle.

Fires raged in parts of the jungle which the British troops must traverse, reports reaching here said, and powder smoke clouded the underbrush, hindering the troops in their first major engagement with the rebels.

Maneuvered into a corner, the rebels were faced with the alternative of making a dash for liberty or defending their position to the last ditch. Outside this area where the fierce fighting is in progress the country as a whole is tranquil, and it was hoped the government's energetic measures would clear up the situation in the course of a few days.

Two Americans in District.

Two American missionaries are known to be in the Tharawaddy district. Although there has been no direct word from either there was nothing to indicate they had been disturbed. They are the Rev. J. T. Latta of Miltonsburg, O., who is at the mission in Thonze, and Miss G. R. Anderson, whose home address was not available here. Miss Anderson is in charge of the American Baptist mission at Tharawaddy.

From an Old Repoussé Coffee Service
Mrs. Charles G. Dawes pours this fragrant, hospitable coffee*

Sportswoman...charity worker...brilliant hostess...devoted mother—what not is this unspoiled member of the younger set?
Everything Mrs. Dawes does is somehow enhanced by her fresh, vibrant personality, even to her Sunday night suppers which have become tremendously smart occasions. "At these," Mrs. Dawes says, "the coffee is of course all important, especially as I help my husband entertain many of his bachelor friends. After all, men are the real coffee judges, and to please them I discarded other coffees and came back to Manor House which always seems to make my little affairs more enjoyable. And now we couldn't start the day right, without this delicious coffee for breakfast."
This rare quality of "perfecting the moment" is the real reason why 92% of Chicago's most distinguished hostesses serve no other blend than McLaughlin's Manor House Coffee. This preferred coffee owes its mellow richness to months of natural ageing...gains its rare flavor from the secret, personal blending of a master hand.
A costly method, yes, and yet you may buy this classic blend for but a few cents a pound more than the most ordinary coffees. Therefore, since the entire success of your meals and your reputation as a hostess depend upon the coffee, it is true economy to serve McLaughlin's Manor House, the choice of more coffee connoisseurs than any other quality brand.
Stately in a formal gown—gleefully animated when romping with her precious children—interesting and interested in life, this vivacious young modern is alive to her finger tips.
While golf, travel, the collection of French furniture and Junior League activities command Mrs. Dawes' attention, her most vital interest, after her home and children, is The Cradle, her pet charity. Here, underprivileged infants are brought safely through the perils of motherless babyhood and then placed in good homes.
Tune in W·G·N every Sunday night, 7 to 8 o'clock, for the Manor House Dramatizations of the Grand Operas...with stars singing the principal arias.

INVOKES LAW ON GOSSIPS BLAMED FOR BANK CLOSING

Gary Clearing House Acts to Prosecute Guilty.

Gary, Ind., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Gary Clearing House association tonight laid plans to prosecute persons whom it alleges are responsible for "vicious rumors" concerning Gary banks, seven of which have been closed recently.

Mayor R. O. Johnson appealed to Gary citizens to "stand by" and declared the "unfortunate closings were brought about entirely by the depositors themselves." L. P. Swoverland, secretary of the clearing house association, said an effort would be made to prosecute under a state statute any one spreading false rumors against any bank.

State Senator President.

The seventh bank to be closed was the Central Trust and Savings bank, formerly the South Side Trust and Savings bank, which was turned over to the banking department today. The bank was capitalized at $100,000 and had deposits of $900,000 with surplus and undivided profits of $25,000. C. Oliver Holmes, a state senator, is its president.

Seven other banks still are in operation here.

Trust Company Shuts.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Aldine Trust company at 20th and Chestnut streets, with two branches in West Philadelphia, did not open for business today.

The Aldine Trust company has assets of $9,000,000. Its deposits, according to the last statement issued in September, totaled $6,400,000.

The bank is believed to be solvent, according to a statment of the directors. Officials stated that "a wave of persistent and malicious rumors" for more than a week started a run that made closing necessary.

A reward of $10,000 has been offered "for information which results in the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of having disseminated these false rumors."

Frozen Assets Blamed.

Waynesburg, Pa., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The Peoples bank of Greensboro, Greene county, was closed today. Frozen assets was given as the reason for the bank's condition.

One Closes; One Reopens.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Closing of the Bank of Oxford at Oxford and the Leake County bank at Carthage and the reopening of the Security Bank and Trust company at Greenwood were reported today by the state banking department.

Withdrawals Shut Alabama Bank.

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Dent F. Green, state superintendent of banks, announced today that the Chambers County bank at Lafayette, Ala., had closed because of "frozen assets and steady withdrawals."

Kansas Reports One Closed.

Topeka, Kas., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The state banking department today announced closing of the Farmers' State bank at Wheaton, Kas. Frozen assets was given as the reason. The bank's latest statement showed $30,000 capital.

MORE RECRUITS TO BE ACCEPTED FOR NAVY HERE

Increased allowances for the enlistment of naval recruits will be available after Jan. 1, Lieut. O. R. Sutherland, officer in charge, announced yesterday. The navy recruiting station in this area has been curtailed in its enlistments during the last few months.

Of over 5,000 applicants during 1930, only 6½ per cent were enlisted. Of the others, 10 per cent were rejected for insufficient education, 1½ per cent for poor references or police records, and 82 per cent because of physical defects. The ranking causes for physical rejections are bad teeth, defective eyesight and then flat feet, for which there were fewer rejections this year.

SALLY RECEIVES MORE OFFERS OF JOBS FOR MEN

But the Job Seekers Also Increase.

In reply to Sally Joy Brown's latest appeal for more jobs for men, more job offers than usual were received at THE TRIBUNE'S bureau for the unemployed yesterday. But while she was encouraged by this response, Sally was besieged with requests for jobs from men and women laid off from Christmas work on Saturday night.

"One was a woman who had worked for the last 16 years in a loop department store," said Sally. "She was let out Saturday night and came to the bureau for a job the first thing Monday, hoping we could do something for her. There have been hundreds of people dismissed after the Christmas trade.

"Therefore, every job that can possibly be created must be found to take care of these people. And there is a chance to do this immediately, as many people will be needing extra help for New Year's."

Offers Job for New Year's.

As an example of New Year's jobs Sally cited the one Mrs. J. B. in Winona street is offering. She wants a waiter to serve at a New Year's eve party and she will pay 50 cents an hour.

Other jobs for men that boosted the daily average yesterday included the call from Mrs. G. E. on Hood avenue. She needed a man to put up the aerial for the new radio received as a Christmas gift.

The F. S. R. company on North State street called for a shoemaker, who is to be paid on a piecework basis.

The C. G. book store in the loop called to ask Sally if she could find two men as solicitors. They will be paid a salary and commission.

A gift shop in the loop desired a young man to do general cleaning a few hours each day. This job is permanent.

Appeals for More Work.

"Although we received many more job offers for men yesterday we must have many, many more," Sally concluded. "Men must have jobs to earn money to feed hungry mouths at home."

If you have a job in mind call Sally at Superior 0100. Or if you think your neighbor needs something done around the house advise him to call Sally.

REPORTS ON AID TO NEEDY IN 97 ILLINOIS CITIES

Relief Fund in Chicago Reaches $3,071,869.

Unemployed in 78 cities in Illinois outside of Chicago have been helped by local relief committees under the direction of Gov. Emmerson's commission. Figures showing the activities of the commission downstate were reported yesterday to George F. Getz, chairman of the commission, by Wayne Hummer, head of the statewide relief group.

These figures showed that 12,727 families have been given relief, that $571,275 has been raised for the destitute in 97 municipalities downstate and that in 58 cities and towns 4,122 people have been given employment through local relief organizations. In other municipalities the unemployed have been helped in other ways.

A survey in 182 Illinois cities with a combined population of 1,569,899 showed a total of 58,730 persons without jobs, Chairman Hummer reported. This figure is equivalent to 3.73 per cent of the population in the municipalities covered by the survey.

Boosted by a subscription of $37,506 by the Pullman group of companies and their employés, the relief fund being raised in Chicago by the commission reached $3,071,869 yesterday. The day's receipts were $63,410. During the day the bonds and stocks group was added to the list of seven divisions of trades in Chicago which have more than fulfilled their quota in the relief drive.

The Chicago Stock Exchange made an additional corporate subscription of $3,500, bringing its full amount to $31,000. Among the other subscriptions were the following: Railway Express agency, $9,217; A. B. Leach & Co. and employés, $1,206; Federal Public Service corporation and employés, $1,000; Pyle-National company and employés, $2,500. There was another subscription from a man who gave only his initials—"N. H. P. F." He walked into the commission's office yesterday and handed over $100 in currency.

An attempted break by twelve desperate prisoners in the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City was frustrated without bloodshed early yesterday, and last night the foiled plotters were herded into a single solitary cell.

The thwarted break occurred in cellhouse D, which is reserved for incorrigible prisoners. Approximately 500 convicts are housed there.

Ames Burns, under life sentence for murder from Warsaw, Ind., was the leader. He had unlocked his cell door with a key melded from a soft metal spoon, and then had freed his eleven fellow prisoners.

CAPT. AMMEL, FLYING BROKER, DENIED DIVORCE

Capt. Roy W. Ammel, Chicago aviator and broker, who was injured recently when his plane crashed following a nonstop flight to Panama, was denied a divorce from Mrs. Florence S. Ammel of Paris, France, by Superior Judge Lewis yesterday. Capt. Ammel did not appear and the judge refused to accept a deposition in lieu of the aviator's testimony.

Capt. Ammel charges desertion. Two of his friends appeared in court yesterday, as witnesses, but neither were able to testify whether Capt. Ammel was deserted by his wife or whether he left her. The hearing was continued until the flyer appears.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

J. E. WILLIAMSON, famous under-water explorer and photographer who, with use of the Williamson Tube, made the first photographs ever to be taken under the sea.

ONE moment when WILLIAMSON kept COOL!

"IN a scene of 'Girl of the Sea' taken on the ocean floor, I had to approach a human skeleton and recover a dagger buried deep in its back.

"Only the throb of my air-pump broke the death-like stillness of the depths. Fish scurried excitedly before me. A huge green sea cobra—a moray—worming its snake-like form through the skeleton's legs, made me shrink back in horror.

"I grasped the dagger. Suddenly, inside the copper helmet of my suit I felt something creeping, crawling through my hair, down my forehead, over my left eye and nose. It was a scorpion!

"What should I do? Dash my face against the inside of the helmet in an attempt to kill the spidery creature, or let it crawl around? I felt its poisonous feelers parading around my head, wetting its feet on my beaded brow. This was one moment when I HAD to keep cool!"

GOOD FELLOWS REHABILITATE 2 MORE FAMILIES

But Many More Are in Need of Help.

Good Fellows were told yesterday that two more of their adopted families have been rehabilitated. This makes a total of eight families that have been carried through economic crises by the Good Fellows and have become self-supporting again.

Mr. J., who he appealed for charity a couple of months ago, had been out of employment for eight months. His wife and their three children, the oldest 4 years and the youngest 2 months old, were hungry and without sufficient clothing to face the winter. They were threatened with eviction from their basement flat.

Women Take Over Case.

The Central Charity bureau recommended the Js to the Good Fellows. Mrs. C. D. Carey, 222 East Chestnut street, and her sister-in-law, Miss May Carey, 227 East Delaware place, volunteered to provide for the family's budget. The rent was paid, groceries, clothing and fuel were bought.

Mr. J., with renewed spirit, continued his search for a job. A few days ago he was successful. He can now care for his family without help.

Mrs. and Miss Carey, on receiving this news, adopted a second family for the winter. It consists of a man, his wife, and three children, ages 10, 5 and 2 years. There will soon be a fourth child. The father is slowly recovering from a fractured skull received last April when he was struck by an automobile. The family savings have been spent.

Eighth Family Rehabilitated.

The Goodman theater was the Good Fellow supporting the eighth family to be rehabilitated. It consisted of a widow and her three children. She earned $34.67 a month working for her landlord, but this was not enough to keep her family together. So the Good Fellow supplied additional funds to provide her with necessities under a minimum budget that is standard among Chicago charities.

Marriage a couple of days ago ended the widow's period under Good Fellow care. The Goodman theater promptly adopted a second family, a widow with two children who has been unemployed since October. The theater raised its fund for Good Fellow work through a benefit performance at which the cast and all employes donated their services.

Many More Need Aid.

There are many more cold and hungry families awaiting Good Fellow assistance. If you alone or you and your associates want to adopt one of these families for the winter, there's a coupon for your convenience on this page.

A donation of one dollar or hundreds of dollars will reach destitute families whose worthiness has been carefully investigated. Not one penny of your contribution will be deducted for overhead. THE TRIBUNE pays the expenses of administrating the fund. Address your mail to the Good Fellow, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago.

ONLY A MILLION.

On Nov. 4 the voters of Chicago authorized the city government to borrow some $20,000,000 for various municipal projects. The largest single item was $5,400,000 for the completion of the Ogden avenue improvement. This is also the first of the projects for which the board of local improvements has solicited bids.

With characteristic industry, Mr. Oscar Hewitt has uncovered the following state of facts:

Plans for the improvement were not made available to all contractors who wished to figure on the work.

Despite the apparent effort to restrict the bidding to certain contractors, of which the Central Dredging company was not one, that company obtained a copy of the plans and submitted a bid accompanied by a certified check for $300,000.

This bid was not opened with the others.

The contract was awarded to the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, which offered to undertake the work for $4,349,000.

The amount asked by the Central Dredging company was not announced, but as the certified checks accompanying the bids were to total 10 per cent of the contract price, it is assumed that the Central Dredging company's bid was not more than $3,000,000.

It follows that city officials in accepting the Great Lakes bid have deliberately chosen to pay at least a million dollars more than need have been paid.

The president of the board of local improvements is Mr. Michael Faherty, a Thompson appointee. Under Faherty's direction the plans were prepared and issued to contractors, the bids were received and opened and the contract awarded. As Mr. Faherty looks back on his long career in public office he no doubt regards the Ogden avenue matter as nothing to get excited about. It may seem like a lot to the taxpayers, but it isn't so much compared, for instance, with the takings of the so-called real estate experts a few years ago. Perhaps Mr. Faherty's moderation is to be explained by the fact that times are hard.

His feelings in this regard are praiseworthy. We trust that if Mr. Swanson, the state's attorney, or the grand jury venture to inquire into the matter they will give due credit to Mr. Faherty for the largeness of his sentiments. At worst the taxpayers are to be charged this time only a million dollars more than necessary.

CRIME IN RETREAT.

State's Attorney Swanson and Judge Lyle, whose knowledge of conditions is direct and thorough, give assurance of progress in the war on crime. Gangdom is in retreat and the citizen forces attacking are gaining in strength. There is reason for the optimism which both Mr. Swanson and Judge Lyle express. Among the most encouraging facts is that presented by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock, who says that the business depression and unemployment have not had the effect of increasing violence, as was feared. This, we think, is one of the happy results of the extent and efficiency of the measures taken to relieve distress. A lesson, we hope, not to be forgotten. The need for relief will continue for some months, but the men and women who in all walks of life are contributing promptly and generously to meet the crisis can have the satisfaction of knowing that their sacrifices are not vain and that their contributions are efficiently directed. There is no excuse for lawlessness or the despair that excuses it. Contributors to relief funds are contributing not only to the relief of the sufferers from unemployment but to their own security and the peace of the community. That fact should keep up the flow of donations until returning prosperity has restored real workers to their jobs.

REVOLT IN TURKEY.

Turkey is the latest country to break out with the revolutionary rash. Economic depression is the proximate cause as elsewhere, but, of course, political and religious reaction are taking advantage of the situation. Unless underlying factors have grown stronger than the outer world suspects, Kemal will put down the insurrection. He is one of the most extraordinary of contemporary statesmen, combining sound judgment with great courage and initiative. He has decreed changes in popular custom, such as the wearing of the fez, which to the western mind seemed of no importance compared to the danger which such orders involve. To Kemal they were symbolic, and we cannot presume to doubt him. He intends to bring the Turk into the main current of world civilization, and, though he has seemed sometimes to be hurrying the procedure, he has substantial as well as impalpable accomplishments to justify him.

His enlightened progressivism was recently illustrated by his experiment in permitting the formation of an opposition party in parliament. The experiment was a failure, as party politics is a new device in Turkey, and promptly developed violence in place of the orderly criticism by which parliamentary opposition is justified. The new party exploded, and the régime of dictatorship was restored. But this régime, which is in fact Kemal, has given proof not only of its good intention toward political progress and an enlarging liberty but of its right to survive during this period of transition and construction. It has built much needed railroads, kept order, strengthened Turkey's financial status, advanced education. It is an enlightened autocracy for which Turkey has reason to be deeply thankful. It has had the gravest problems to meet and is now under a new strain because of worldwide conditions. But it is to be hoped it will retain its hold upon Turkish affairs for the sake of Turkey and of world progress and stability. Its fall would mean social, economic, and religious reaction for the Turks and make of Turkey once more a source of international weakness and mischief. Kemal is one of the key men in world peace and progress.

WHAT ALL THE SHOOTING WAS ABOUT.

The still small voice of Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, the best informed man in the country upon our foreign trade, now breaks into the rumpus over the late tariff revision. We have been told by the Democrats, to say nothing of various of our fellow citizens who hold that it is our duty to conform American policy to European necessities, that the revision would bring us dire results. We were shortly to be overwhelmed by foreign reprisals, by a united Europe bent upon punishing us for our selfish heedlessness of Europe's interests, our peculiar disposition to protect or advance our own, so different from the altruism and breadth of vision which marks the policies of European government toward one another.

But Dr. Klein informs us that "in almost every single case the percentage which we enjoy of the trade of the old world nations held steadily in spite of bitter agitation regarding tariffs, immigration, war debts, and other issues." "In other words," he says, "figures as to declining values in our commerce by no means tell the complete story, since such declines are almost universal. It is the factor of our relative status in the whole trade of any given nation, and therein we have emphatically not suffered to any substantial degree and have, on the contrary, improved our position in many instances."

LOOKING THE GAME OVER AGAIN.

The post-season interrogation of football by doubting minds is about what was predicted for it in midseason. Schools which had the success they could reasonably expect are in the main satisfied with the game and its methods. Schools which were disappointed in their scores feel that something might well be done to take some of the excesses out of the sport. Coaches who pleased their following have a solid tenure. Some whose young men did not do so well are insecure in their prospects.

If any one has reason to want the game changed a bit it would seem to be the coach. There are some notable loyalties for old timers regardless of touchdowns, but for most of the professionals an unsuccessful season is a business misfortune, and two of them is calamity. The coach looks at a life of cold fact. He either inspires his young men to make good or he suffers from their setbacks. He is in charge of sales in an industry which understands nothing but success. He is a wizard or nothing, and the graduate addicts, considering their lost bets and their hurt egotisms, will throw him to the lions if he has a few bad Saturday afternoons. It is not a life of easy sleep.

It would seem that if reform enthusiasm really gets to football and takes something out of the big show the whole structure of athletics in the big schools will feel it. When the gate receipts for the autumn games fall off the school management has to go over all the books and reduce activities in the sports of less popular appeal. Football carries their expense accounts while they diversify the athletics of the college. These games have their presumptive usefulness. They could be endowed, but if they need not be the funds can go to other and even more relevant school activities. Football as show business might have this entered to its credit.

Editorial of the Day

RETURN OF THE NATIVE.

[Boston Transcript.]

Prof. Albert Einstein may have enthralled his thousands, but Harry Craddock has filled his tens of thousands with enthusiasm—and other things. The latter, being the presiding genius of the Savoy hotel's [London] bar, is about to return to his native city, New York, where he gained fame as the dispenser of strong drink at the Holland house. That well known hostelry succumbed to prohibition and Harry set out ten years ago for a new world to conquer. And conquer he did, if not in the manner of Alexander of Macedon, at least in a sufficiently effective way to bring him renown and money. His main purpose in revisiting the scene of his former triumphs is to ascertain what particular kind of liquor Americans are patronizing these degenerate times, and it may be hoped that his quest will be rewarded with much information as to the nature and denature of alcoholic stimulants.

That a special cable dispatch from London to an American newspaper should be deemed necessary to announce Mr. Craddock's contemplated departure for these shores is unmistakable evidence of the importance of a bartender's social status today. He may not be able to tell his friends much in the way of new inventions for quenching thirst. The Volstead act has taught them a great deal already. There is no chemist in Europe who is able to compete in ingenuity with the synthetic geniuses who have produced champagne without grapes and who have "called spirits from the vasty" spaces. He may place before the lordly cup bearers of speakeasies mysterious compounds known as "cocktails" which have emerged from the innermost recesses of his benevolent mind, and which may arouse all kinds of mixed feelings in those who partake of them, but he will not and cannot—do what many Americans are doing—produce a drink which is at once a torchlight procession and a killer.

DIET AND MIND.

In an investigation of the school children of Joliet, Ill., Hoefer and Hardy developed proof that breast fed babies develop into bright school children while the bottle fed supply the laggards in school. The tests showed the "artificially fed were inferior in all standardized measurements to those breast fed from four to nine months. In learning to talk the artificially fed were the most retarded of all the groups. Not a child artificially fed rated as high as 130, while 5 per cent of those breast fed were above this score."

Further tests showed the benefits of proper artificial feeding and the harm from improper artificial feeding.

Note that the quotations relate solely to the mentality of school children. The observations were paralleled by another group which covered physical condition. These observations caused Drs. Maurer and Tsai to try some experiments on rats.

The intelligence of rats is of a high order, superior to that of many animals and ranking pretty close to that of humans. A professor has written a book on the brains of rats and men. In this he disclaims intention to compare these brains, to reflect on his enemies, or to libel the plain people, but the very fact that he hooked rats to man in his study showed that, consciously or unconsciously, he admired rats and did not regard all men as Daniel Websters.

The intelligence of rats is measured by a standardized procedure known as the maze test. Properly fed rats worked this test in standard time and in accordance with other standards. Improperly fed rats fell far below the standard. After the effects of improper feeding had gone to a certain point the rats not only were low in intelligence but they lost initiative as well. Not even great hunger would cause them to try. The same results, or even more marked ones, followed when mothers of suckling rats were improperly fed. If a young female was improperly fed her subsequently born progeny were dumb.

Up to a certain point the ill effects of improper feeding could be overcome by subsequent proper feeding. These experiments indicate that to prevent nitwits and repeaters in school, school children should be properly fed. The proper feeding should begin at birth. It should extend to prospective parents.

There are possibilities of raising the mental level of some feeble-minded children by diet.

SLEEPING IN SUNLIGHT.

Mrs. H. P. N. writes: Is it harmful for an infant to sleep out of doors in the sun without protecting the eyes from the direct rays of the sun?

REPLY.

SEE SOME OFFICIAL.

L. B. Writes: One of the members of our house expectorates on the floor. She has chronic catarrh. What can be done about this? Is there a law in Illinois covering such?

REPLY.

Spitting on the floor is against health department rules where there is no law on the subject. Your town probably has no local health department and your county no county department. Take the matter up with your mayor or village board. If this is ineffective write the state health department.

PROPERTY CONFISCATION.

Wilmette, Dec. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What recourse has a native Illinois citizen to save his property from political confiscation, same being both illegally and unjustly taxed to the extent that it cannot be either sold or rented?

2. The county levying the taxes is both corrupt and bankrupt, with no inclination or desire to relieve the injustice. Will the United States government give assistance in righting this grafting thievery?

3. Could citizens ask and have such a city, county, or state put into bankruptcy, or have it put under martial law by the United States government if substantial proof can be furnished?

4. What steps would be necessary to have the state of Illinois call a constitutional convention to amend tax laws and put in effect a law such as New York state has so that millions sold by foreign states within the state of Illinois would pay sales taxes to relieve property taxes which are confiscatory?

I will appreciate your advising me on these questions, for I have at great hardships tried to retain my property, which is all I have to my possession, and I am past middle age. I will fight, and desperately, to retain it until I can either rent or sell it. R. E. H.

1. He should apply to the board of review to have the assessment released. If necessary, employ an attorney.

STEPS TO CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—My husband wants to take out naturalization papers. What steps must he take and what will it cost? Do his witnesses have to be real estate owners?

W. J. C.

An application may be obtained from this office, room 776, postoffice building. The applicant must have a declaration of intention at least two years old and not more than seven years old. The witnesses must be citizens of good character. No real estate qualifications are required. The fees are: certificate of arrival, $5.00; declaration of intention, $5.00; petition for naturalization, $10.00.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Naturalization.

CHILDREN OVER RELATIVES.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A widow, living in Chicago, died leaving no will. There are three children, all living. A married sister of the deceased person is living in a European country [her native land].

Is this sister entitled to any of the estate, or are only the three children legitimate heirs? M. P.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By AA.

THIS VERY CHANGING WORLD.

Just two days before New Year's. At this same time years and years ago people were getting all ready for New Year's calls. The boys were waxing their whiskers and having their clothes pressed and picking out their most gorgeous cravats. The girls were putting evergreens around the front room and getting the wood box filled up ready for a rousing blaze in the fireplace. The what-not in the corner was dusted off and all the sea shells given a bath. The family album was reverently put out on the marble top table and the autograph album, with pen and ink, placed nearby. The boys had their cards neatly printed by the town printer ready to leave one in the vase on the hatrack in the hall of each house where they called. The sleighs were touched up with fresh paint and made to look unusually sassy, and the sleigh bells were carefully examined to be sure they would jingle in beautiful harmony when the New Year caller drove proudly down the street.

All that was long ago. Oh, long and long ago. About all a man does now to get ready for New Year's is to see whether the new silver flask will fit snugly into the right hand hip pocket.

CREDO.

Always and ever a dreamer,
No-time and never a saint,
Too lazy to be a schemer,
Too hazy anent the quaint

Concepts of hell and of heaven,
The future my karma has wrought,
Too much like seven come 'leven,
Desire first fathers the thought.

Taking the world as I find it,
Sharing its beauty with God,
Knowing I never shall mind it
When I am under the sod.

Never have been a blasphemer
However my faith may be faint,
Always and ever a dreamer,
No-time and never a saint!

MORE TROUBLE! We tried to send a Linebook down to the Hewitts at Bass Lake, Ind. Back came the book marked by the postoffice, "No such postoffice in state named." Well, maybe not, but there's a Bass Lake down there, and if the rural free mail delivery man would just go to the shore of Bass Lake and yell, "Oh, Mis-ter Hew-itt, ya hoo!" up would jump Mr. Hewitt before you could say "scat." What's the matter with the mail carriers? Have they lost their voice or something?

WE ARE WAITING to book one and all who desire to sail on the good ship "Water Wagon" tomorrow night. Remember, friends, the time is getting short. Think it over; it is an opportunity that comes but once a year. We will endeavor to make the trip as pleasant as possible, but we will be obliged to tie all passengers in their seats, as it seems impossible to select a route that doesn't go past a speakeasy. And last year we lost every passenger we had, including the driver, at the very first speakeasy we went by. Tck, tck, tck!

HAVE YOU A STRANGE Sinking Feeling When You See an Australian Duck Billed Water Mole? Does Your Nose Get Cold?

WE CAN CURE YOU!

Read this letter from Jinks K. J. (fac-simile of letter sent on request accompanied by 2 cent stamp): "I am an old resident of Chicago and have always enjoyed perfect health up to ten or fifteen years ago, when I discovered that every time I happened to see an Australian duck billed water mole (Ornithorhynchus paradoxus) I invariably had a strange sinking feeling and my nose got cold. I tried to cure myself by limiting my walks to my front yard, but sometimes one of those Australian duck billed water moles would escape from his leash (people on the north shore are always keeping those things for pets) and jump over the fence and chase me. My condition got worse and worse. One day an Australian duck billed water mole (Ornithorhynchus paradoxus) which had escaped without its muzzle chased me up a palm tree and remained growling ferociously at the foot of the tree. I happened to put my hand in my pocket and found the Linebook of 1930 which some kind friend had, no doubt, placed there for just such an emergency. I read it aloud and the Australian duck billed water mole (Ornithorhynchus paradoxus) burst into tears and crawled home. But I found I didn't give a hoot what he did. In fact, I can walk right up to one of them dam things now and slap him on his duck bill. I am completely cured, and I owe it all to the Linebook of 1930."

FOR A LOVELY LADY.

In every idle thought of you
Remembered beauty lies;
I think of you and autumn lanes,
Of you and starlit skies,

Of you and happy silences
In hours of pure release,
And all there is of loveliness,
And all there is of peace.

IN CHINA everybody is expected to pay what he owes before he meets the New Year face to face. In America everybody is supposed to take back all the books he borrowed during the year. And in China everybody pays his debts before the New Year, and in this country—well, in some ways, friends, China has got it on us. R. H. L.

IT IS AT THE HURDLE WHERE THE RACE IS WON

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 30, 1914.

CHICAGO.—Chicago packers are behind the American warning to Great Britain: "Keep your hands off our ships." Shipments from the Chicago stockyards, valued in excess of $5,000,000, have been confiscated by British war authorities. And there has come to the packers no promise of reparations. Vigorous protests were delivered by the packers to the government at Washington. Attorney Alfred R. Urion went to the capital and gave the state department the facts concerning the arbitrary seizure of at least a dozen cargoes of foodstuffs which were consigned to neutral, non-belligerent nations.

DES MOINES, Ia.—As a result of the recent Billy Sunday evangelistic campaign, the saloons of Des Moines were given until Feb. 15 by the city council in which to prepare to close their doors.

NEW YORK.—Charley White of Chicago won by dint of clean, hard hitting over Joe Shugrue tonight at the Madison Square Garden. Shugrue forced White, but White met him every time the easterner came with lefts to the head and body that hurt the Jersey boy.

DECEMBER 30, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Harrison closed the saloons of Chicago at 12 o'clock last night. The order was general and imperative. In some respects it is the most radical move against all night liquor selling within police memory. The order did not except high class bars in restaurants and saloons, although some managers of downtown resorts disregarded it.

PARIS.—The restored Théâtre Français was opened tonight with impressive ceremonies befitting the traditions of the house chartered in 1680. The event has been looked forward to by the theater loving public ever since the fire last March.

EDITORIAL.—The Northwestern Steamship company yesterday launched at South Chicago the first of four steel ocean going vessels, which are hereafter to ply regularly between Chicago, Liverpool and Hamburg. Each vessel will have a capacity of 3,200 tons and a speed of 15 knots, and will be bark rigged—a feature which alone will introduce a picturesque element among the universal schooner rigging of the lake shipping. But the significant feature of the enterprise is that these Chicago built vessels will carry western products direct to Europe and will return to Chicago with European merchandise, thus making this city actually an ocean port as well as the greatest of lake ports.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 30, 1880.

CHICAGO.—Thermometers about town registered 20 and 21 degrees below zero yesterday morning. In the east there was an extremely heavy snowfall, and the cold extended to the south, almost suspending business in that section. In this city, at the residence of S. L. Frazier, 3002 Michigan avenue, a servant girl undertook to thaw out a frozen water pipe and, with the usual carelessness of the tribe, succeeded in setting fire to the kitchen.

DUBLIN.—Six thousand troops and a large body of constabulary are guarding this city during the trials of Parnell and other Land leaguers charged with conspiracy against the "peace and dignity of the crown." The second day of the trial was stupefyingly dull, with the attorney general rambling along in a helpless sort of a way as he presented the government's case.

LONDON.—The remains of Mrs. John Walter Cross (George Eliot) were buried at Highland cemetery during a pouring rain. Among the distinguished mourners present were Herbert Spencer, Robert Browning, Sir Theodore Martin, George L. Du Maurier, artist, Edmund Yates, Thomas Woolner, and Robert Lehmann, artist. Mrs. Cross' grave is near that of G. H. Lewes, long her intimate friend.

CHICAGO.—Schlesinger & Mayer, the west side dry goods merchants at Peoria and Madison streets, last night signed a five year lease on the Wilson Sewing Machine building at the southeast corner of Madison and State streets. Improvements on the building to cost $40,000 will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—A man has written in to the Voice of the People wondering why it is that about two years ago he took a civil service clerk's examination and had heard nothing since that time. The answer is that the politicians do not want civil service people, but prefer to fill jobs with the so-called 60 day appointees, many of whom have been working steadily for the city year after year.

You take a civil service examination, you wait a year for them to publish the results, and then a few favorites are called and the fellow without political friends rots on the list. A man in the city hall told me that in some offices two-thirds of the people are 60 day appointees. I am tramping the streets, getting shabbier and hungrier every day, looking for a job. While my name is on a list the friend of a ward committeeman is holding the job which a square deal would give me. I must be only one of several hundreds cheated out of our jobs because politicians have paralyzed the civil service system. J. R.

BRITISH BENEVOLENCE.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—In your editorial, "The Downfall of Spain," you write of things whereof you are apparently grossly ignorant. You write, that the "British empire is sustained by conspicuous and uncoasty tolerance." British benevolence is a sanctimonious thing—in the press. British benevolence is broadcast after the natives of the countries ruined by British steel and British greed are reduced to poverty and starvation. British tolerance gave Ireland to Queen Elizabeth "nothing but carcasses and ashes"; British tolerance drove the Irish "to hell or to Connaught"; British tolerance devised the penal code of laws of which Edmund Burke said, "A machine of wise and deliberate contrivance as well fitted for the oppression, impoverishment and degradation of a people, and the debasement in them of human nature itself, as ever proceeded from the perverted ingenuity of man." Thus were the Irish people debased. The British forbade them for generations to go to school, and then taunted them with ignorance; deprived them of lands, goods and trade and then tolerantly and conspicuously mocked their abject poverty.

British tolerance has cost Ireland alone millions of her people. She has made them ignorant and has driven them to foreign lands to seek a living. She has drowned in blood Ireland's natural and national aspirations. Thus, too, with India. O, yes, British tolerance is conspicuous.

If the Spanish king has learned anything from Britain he can gain support in the United States of America by having the American elite "presented at court" and by creating lords and ladies in America. Then the American press will doubtless be as stanch a defender of Spain's monarchy as it now is of Britain's.

AMERICA IN THE AIR.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—I wonder how many know that Italy, for example, has developed a bombing plane that by actual test will carry three-fifths of all the bombs dropped on London during the world war and that they can drop them with more accuracy at ten thousand feet than we could at fifteen hundred feet during the war.

I wonder how many know that England has developed pursuit planes capable of flying at a speed of four hundred miles an hour, which is many times faster than Christy Mathewson ever threw a ball to home plate, whereas our fastest pursuit ships are not capable of flying half that fast. What a God's blessing it would be if the people of this country could only realize that the nation having the best air forces will win the next war.

A lot of us thought when Patrick J. Hurley was appointed secretary of war that his Irish fighting instinct would have no little effect on the development of an adequate air force. To date it is quite evident that the powers that be in Washington have him pigeonhold altogether.

As far as preparedness is concerned from an aeronautical standpoint, I wish to state most emphatically that the United States has not learned one blooming thing from the world war.

A STUMBLING BLOCK.

Oak Park, Ill., Dec. 23.—On Monday afternoon, Dec. 22, 1930, at 3 p. m. I stumbled and fell over a box in the second floor vestibule of the Madison and Wells elevated station. The box mentioned is just inside the door, about three steps up, and is used to sit upon by the flower vender. I skinned my shins and strained my left wrist and forearm. Why is such an entrance blocked in this manner?

Aurora, Ill., Dec. 22.—Senator Glass of Illinois rises to remark that Senator Norris of Nebraska is not entitled to be called a Republican. That statement should tickle the Nebraskan pink. After reading about Fall, Daugherty, Small, Thompson, Capone, the recently recruited Bishop Cannon, and others high in the councils of the Grand Old Party, and the stunts they pull off, one wonders who in heck wants to be classed as a Republican.

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littial, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos in many adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she dare not come.

Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and swore revenge. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants Bell and Rowley, go secretly to Virgil, capital city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. A peasant, named Ramon, whom they befriend, leads them through a secret border passage.

Marya tells them that she sent no message. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to lure them to Virgil, they are preparing to flee with Marya, when the prince appears. The man hold the prince and his servants at point of gun and escape in the royal car. The border is so closely guarded that crossing is impossible.

Ramon is sought and he hides Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his house. Chandos and Rowley join a traveling circus. Marya sends them a message saying she is waiting for them in Bariche, across the border, where Carol is to take them in a car he has waiting. They recognize the car as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived at the inn in Bariche they receive another message from Marya, stating that she is to be pursued, but she must remain in Reichtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. He proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg, who has learned of the arrest, arrives and leaves with the prisoner for Virgil. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing their friend's plight, hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive in the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left tied to a post along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she was married that morning to Grieg—her price for their freedom. Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned at this news. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and kill him, to free Marya—but Grieg has escaped. Chandos returns to Baron Sabre's and sees Prince Paul arrive. Hiding nearby, Chandos hears the prince and Grieg arguing. Grieg is forgiven when he tells the prince he has a trap set to catch his prey that evening at the secret border pass, as well as Leonie, who is to meet them there. The prince departs. Chandos escapes with Rowley, after narrowly missing a bullet fired by Grieg. He meets a young peasant girl, Lelia, who tells him she will lead him to his friends. He intercepts a telegram to Grieg, from Littial—one of many which the girl has delivered. Lelia leaves Chandos at a mill where his friends are hiding. Rowley he finds asleep. Marya implores him not to kill Grieg. When Chandos returns from bathing in the mill pond there is no trace of Marya.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE.

When I looked round, I noticed a second door. This was made in two halves, the upper of which was ajar.

In a flash I had pulled it wide open.

It gave to a little footbridge which spanned the foaming race and led to a patch of greensward. To this the woods came down, so that any one going that way would be out of sight of the mill in ten seconds of time.

Marya was gone back to Grieg—of that I had no shadow of doubt. And she had twenty minutes' start.

Ruefully I stared at the woods.

"I've got to stop it I'm the only person who can, and it's plainly my job."

Then I vaulted over the half-door and on to the bridge.

As I landed the timbers gave way as though they had been but match sticks fastened together with glue; for a fraction of a second the mill race roared in my ears and then I was fast under water with a shocking pain in my head.

Had the wheel been running, I must, of course, have been killed—but, though I never looked, I fancy its spindle had bent until the fans or paddles were resting on the bed of the race.

As I sank I was seized by the current and before I could think the savage rush of water had hurled me against a fan which was wholly submerged and was holding me there as a puppet that has floated downstream may be held against the bars of some sluice.

When I sought instinctively to rise, the fan next above prevented me, and such was the weight of the water that I could not get clear.

By now I was shouting for help with all my might.

The uproar, the darkness, the merciless thrash of the mill race upon my body and limbs, the strain of holding my breath and the horrid sense of being held down to be drowned—these things, I think, were my salvation, for such a load of torture inspired me with the passion of a madman to save my life.

After my head had struck the fan the water had laid me sideways against the wheel, but the channel was not very wide, and with my hand I was able to touch the wall. At once I forced my left arm as far as I could through the flood, keeping my hand to the wall in the hope of encountering something which I could clutch. So, by God's mercy, my fingers came to a niche which I knew was above the water, for I felt the air on my hand. This afforded me handhold, and by dint of bending my arm I hauled myself just far enough to clear the fan above me and draw in one blessed breath before again giving way to the weight of the head of water which held me down.

After resting a moment, I hauled myself clear again to see what next I could do, but such was the welter that I could see nothing at all, and, after a frantic moment, was forced to yield to the pressure and sink back beneath the fan.

I decided to take one more breath and then make a great endeavor to find the niche with my right hand instead of my left. In that way, when I was clear, I should have my face to the fan instead of my back, and if I could only contrive to fling my left arm above it the water would hold me against it.

How I managed to turn under water I cannot tell, nor yet how I found the niche with my other hand, but I know that my lungs were bursting when I hauled my head into the air and that when at last I had my arm over the fan that had held me down, I hung like a wretch on a cart's tail, more dead than alive.

By now I was shouting for help with all my might. This with scarce any hope, for Rowley was out of earshot and George was asleep and the roar of the water went far to drown my voice.

If Lelia had not returned before her time, I must have been dead.

As it was, my strength was fast failing when I heard a shriek from behind me and then, a moment later, a cry from George.

"Rowley," I yelled. "Get Rowley and open the hatch."

As I spoke I nodded my head at the little hatch or window that gave to the wheel.

Whilst Lelia was fetching Rowley, he flung the shutter open and clambered into the wheel, but though I could see him above me, he could not reach so far. Then Rowley came and caught hold of George's legs, and a moment later his hands went under my arms.

By now I was so much exhausted that I could give him no help until I had taken some rest, and since, though he could support me, he had not the strength to drag me clear of the fan, we stayed as we were for two minutes with our faces four inches apart, like a couple of acrobats.

He must have suffered torture, but he never complained, and, whilst he held me I dragged myself up his body as though it were the trunk of some tree.

Then Rowley's hand grasped my wrist, and George began to go back, and two minutes later they pulled me out of danger and through the hatch.

"And now where's Marya?" said George.

As well as I could, I told him my wretched news, while Lelia fussed about me, now taking off my coat and now my shirt and rubbing my chest and shoulders with handfuls of fern.

Poor George clasped his hands to his face.

"Gone back?" he said shakily. "Gone back to the butcher's yard?"

"You must take Rowley," I said, "and follow at once. For God's sake be careful. Myself, I think it likely that Grieg may have gone. What's at least equally likely is that Marya will lose her bearings and then her way. So don't rush in. And come back here when you can. We can't get out tonight—Rowley will tell you why. And he'll tell you why I must go to the bridle path. The line to take with Marya is that it's my life or Grieg's."

Then they were gone and I was insisting to Lelia that if I was to strip any more she must first go out of the mill.

My ears were singing when I limped out of the mill, and I must have gone down on my knees if Lelia had not sprung forward to hold me up. She led me into the sunshine and made me sit down upon the turf, then she fed me with bread and wine, and when I had eaten she helped me to dry my pistol and never plagued me to leave it as so many women would have done. Then she took my faithful wristwatch, which even the rage of the water had failed to disturb, and, passing her word to wake me at five o'clock, sat down on the green beside me.

As I settled myself, I looked up.

"You are very good to me, Lelia."

"But, of course," says she, "I—I like you. Would her highness do this for you?"

"Yes," said I steadily.

"I have always heard say," Lelia said, "that she is beyond compare."

"So she is," said I quietly. "But I did not know there were two women who could be so sweet."

I am glad to remember she bent a glowing face. . . .

I had hoped against hope that George would come back with Marya whilst I slept, for I was most uneasy about his mission, but when I awoke, there was no one but Lelia there. I found that my strength had come back, I was something stiff and felt as though I had been beaten from head to heel, but otherwise no worse for my adventure, and the pain in my head was gone.

Good morning!

There are charming music, clever sets, and intelligent acting in this picture, but don't ask me to tell you what the story's about, because—I DON'T KNOW!

The dialogue is all in German, and what takes place—I gather—has to do with the difficulties attendant upon the premiere presentation of an operetta. There are two leading women—a blonde and a brunette—both in love—I take it—with the handsome Viennese composer, Toni Hofer. The blonde wins out, I KNOW, because of the final clinch.

Two comedy librettists (I think that's what they are) Wheeler-and-Woolsey throughout. Everybody in the cast is musical, and some one is continually breaking out into song. Even the stableman, accompanied by his trusty accordion, carols to a calf down in the barn. The calf seems to love it.

If you are German I feel sure you'll go for this picture. If not conversant with Deutsch, you'll enjoy the melodies, appreciate the acting—and feel when you come away as if you'd been bumping your head against a stone wall—to music.

Would it HURT foreign producers presenting their films in America now and then to give us a clew in English? Perhaps a prologue would be all we'd need. Or a subtitle here and there would enable us to get the gist of the picture's meaning. As "Zwei Hertzen im ¾ Takt" stands, excellency of production is muted for many by their inability to follow the story.

Note: Try and get hold of a program before you go to the theater. One has just come to my desk and the libretto of the operetta is in it.

'S a farce.

Messrs. Wheeler and Woolsey, bubbling over with vaudevillian wise cracks, undertake to put a run down hotel on its feet for the sake of one sweet girl, and, of course—themselves. They become all mixed up with rival crews of gangsters who make the hotel their headquarters—the boys having advertised as how they have a swell safe in which will camp the historic jewels of famous folks.

Ugly society patronizes the hotel and its safe. A house detective parades solemnly about, periodically announcing the hour and that all is well. Feminine chatter and machine gun patter render things lively for all concerned, and from start to finish the two Berts are as funny as the scenario permits them to be, WHICH is not always so AWFULLY funny. The supporting cast is able.

You won't split your sides laughing over this one, but "Hook, Line and Sinker" doesn't permit you to nap, and that is something.

Churches Find Jobs for 5,000, Dixon Reports

The Relief Funds Raised Exceed $400,000.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The 1,200 Protestant churches of Chicago have raised more than $400,000 for emergency relief and have procured jobs for more than 5,000 persons during the last three months. This was reported yesterday to Gov. Emmerson's commission on unemployment by George M. Dixon, chairman of the church division. This activity of the churches in the present emergency was revealed at the union ministers' meeting yesterday at the Central Y. M. C. A. by Dean Shailer Mathews, president of the Chicago Church federation.

Dean Mathews pointed that the hundreds of Protestant congregations had been engaged during the critical months in quiet but intense activity. He declared the machinery created for the emergency by the church federation and the Dixon division of the governor's commission had not clashed with machinery of the extensive relief and charitable work constantly maintained by congregations and denominations in prosperous times as well as in critical periods.

"The present emergency has uncovered the industry of the churches, not only as they meet their responsibility in the present depression, but also as they accept the expanding responsibilities implied in the Christian program," said Dean Mathews.

The Chicago Church federation, Dean Mathews said, offered its entire organization to the governor's commission. In order, however, to avoid duplication of effort, he said that Chairman Philip R. Clarke of the committee seeking a $5,000,000 relief fund, had urged the churches to set up such new machinery as needed and to expand existing church relief agencies in order that needy church members might be cared for directly by the churches. Directors of the governor's commission urged this cooperation rather than the engaging of church organizations in the $5,000,000 drive.

The amount raised by churches, together with the thousands of jobs obtained through church agencies, it was pointed out, may be regarded as an excess over the amount raised by the governor's commission. The church federation report, which formed the basis of Mr. Dixon's statement to the commission, points out such churches as the Hyde Park Baptist church, which raised $1,774 for relief among its members. That church also collected and distributed a large truckload of food. Two truckloads of food and $1,000 worth of clothing were collected and distributed by Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park. The value of the clothing was not added to the collection of money for poor relief among its members, which was reported at more than $500.

Immanuel Lutheran church reported $1,689 collected for relief of its members; Austin Methodist Episcopal, $600; River Forest Presbyterian, $8,000. In addition to these, nearly 100 other churches made detailed reports to the federation.

Msgr. W. A. Cummings, Catholic member of the governor's commission and head of the Catholic charities, reported that the St. Vincent de Paul society had aided 7,000 persons during the last year. A relief budget of the society shows expenditures of $76,939 in the last year.

Family Discord Leads in This 100 Cases of Insanity

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Disappointment in love drives less people insane than does family discord, if the statistics of Dr. C. A. Bonner can be taken as establishing a general rule. Dr. Bonner, superintendent of a state hospital at Hawthorne, Mass., told the Association for Research in Nervous and Mental Diseases today he had been able to classify the causes of 100 cases of maniac depressive psychosis, or emotional insanity, as follows: Friction or discord in the family, 25; financial troubles, including loss of savings in stock transactions and unemployment, 15; recent deaths of a relative or close friend, 9; serious anxiety over the health or conduct of a member of the family, 16; disappointment in love, 6.

A STRAIN ON THE FAMILY TIE

SOMETHING SEEMS TO CONFUSE GIRLS, SMITH PROFS. SAY

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Instances of "amazing ignorance" among freshmen at Smith college were cited today to a student health conference by two members of the Smith faculty. Many young women at the school, Dr. Frances Scott and Dr. Anna Richardson said, believed:

1. That raisins are a better source of iron than eggs.
2. That the potato is the most fattening of foods.
3. That fat is more likely to result from drinking water with meals than from eating potatoes.
4. That the toe-out method of walking is best.
5. That Turkish baths are the best method of exercise.

The samples were called typical of popular misconceptions and superstitions among young college women about exercise, food, ventilation, infant welfare, mental hygiene, and preventable diseases. The conference was attended by student health supervisors of 150 colleges.

A doctor .....John O'Meara
And others.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

SIG. PIRANDELLO, the learned Italian who writes metaphysical dramas about the mysteries of the You and the Me, is not too deeply philosophic in his "As You Desire Me," which was offered at the Harris theater last night as the fourth play in the Dramatic league's season. This example of his work—the second to be seen in Chicago—is a flamboyant treatment of the old theme of the missing woman who is restored, after ten years of a wild life, to the arms of her husband—the same woman in name and appearance, perhaps, but changed; how changed!

After passing through the hands of the adaptor, "As You Desire Me" turns out to be a slightly intellectualized sob-drama, pumping away vehemently at the familiar subject of the regeneration of a harlot. Pirandello's finely spun dialectics about subtle problems of identity are, in this case, merely minor decorations of old-school emotionalism.

The play focuses its attention upon the character of a frantic wanton of the Berlin night clubs who lives with a low-minded, sex-obsessed novelist, and scatters her favors all over the town. A visiting Italian tells her that she is the lost wife of a gentleman who has a neat estate near Milan; that she was abducted in the war by a troop of ravishing hussars. It sounds plausible enough, and she agrees to go back "home"—but not before her psychopathic lover has fired a shot at her.

So much for the first act, which is almost as lurid in its depiction of a harlot's drunken horrors as if it had been written by Mae West. If you wish to call this "post-war stuff," you should be careful to mention the Crimean war. The fallen woman who howls and moans and gnashes her teeth over her lamentable fate began her career in the drama about that time.

The second act deals with the readjustment of Lucia—as she is called—to domestic life, which would have been an easy matter but for her nagging at the situation. The third shows her under cross-examination by her Berlin novelist and a group of her kin, in an attempt to prove that she is an imposter. This final act is more like Pirandello than the others, and is also the most interesting of the piece.

Lucia remains an enigma to the end. After proving to every one's satisfaction that she is the lost wife, she reverses the decision and proves, with equal plausibility, that she isn't. And because she thinks that her husband has reclaimed her to secure her dowry rather than to save her soul, she walks out on him into the great unknown, where, no doubt, she will continue her tantrums, if not her vices.

An annoying creature, this alleged Lucia. The rôle presents many temptations to actresses of Judith Anderson's type. It is rich with opportunities for emotional acting, and Miss Anderson, who is an experienced hand at this sort of thing, handles them vividly. It is a fascinating part for an actress, and an unsympathetic part for the audience. You have to keep remembering that Lucia is a clinical case of war shock, hysteria, amnesia, and night life depravity in order to forgive her unmitigated cantankerousness.

The play is handsomely staged and adequately cast. Douglass Dumbrille is effective as the German novelist who specializes in morbid amours; José Ruben's European flavor finds pleasant expression as Lucia's discovered; Brandon Peters is satisfactory as the mild, bewildered husband. . . . There are certain references to murky sex psychology in the first act that would have to be cut out if Frank Gilmore's unofficial play censors were organized and active.

R. G. Bressler New Head of Rhode Island's College

Providence, R. I., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Raymond G. Bressler, deputy secretary of agriculture of Pennsylvania and formerly professor at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, today was elected president of Rhode Island State college. He succeeds Dr. Howard Edwards, who died April 9, 1930, and will assume his duties on April 1, 1931.

Early America Full of Thrills for the Young

Mental Frontiers Sought Now, Expert Says.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

When one remembers that Andrew Jackson was an experienced Indian fighter at 14, that Kit Carson was a seasoned scout at 16, and great-grandmother or even grandmother married long before 20, it is easy to see, in the opinion of Mary K. Reely of the Wisconsin Free Library commission, Madison, why there was no serious youth problem in pioneer America.

"But students of today," says Miss Reely, "have been kept under tutelage longer than any previous generation. They have longer time to think about themselves, to puzzle over their curious egos, their desperately important destinies. They live in an age of skepticism, and doubt, and breaking standards. They are, first, concerned with themselves, and secondly with the world they are going to live in."

Thus Miss Reely in an address yesterday at a session of the American Library association, which opened a three day conference at the Drake hotel, gave an explanation of the choice of literature college men and women should read in their leisure time—literature on sex, marriage, religion, philosophy.

"To meet the interest in self and the soul's salvation," Miss Reely continued, "there should be books in philosophy and religion, books in sound psychology and social ethics. There should be books with titles like 'Modern Youth and Marriage,' 'The Modern Attitude Toward the Sex Problem.'

"For modern young people are as realistic about their emotional experiences as no previous generation has been. As for the world of affairs, which in a few years will be in the hands of the young people, I would provide free access to current magazines, buy books that deal critically with American civilization, and books on international affairs."

After a paper by Dr. Thorvald Solberg of the Library of Congress was read attacking the ban on imported English books proposed in the Vestal copyright measure now before congress, the association passed resolutions recommending an amendment before the enactment of that bill.

The bill as drawn up, Dr. Solberg contended, practically would force the American reader of English books to buy his copies through American publishers and also would limit the number of books to five which a traveler might bring to this country from abroad.

"Since the foundation of our government," declared Dr. H. H. B. Meyer, director of the legislature reference library of the Library of Congress, who read Dr. Solberg's paper, "any scholar has imported books for his own use. The bill as drawn is tied up with so many requirements that it amounts to a prohibition. We want the law left as it is so the work of scholars will not be hampered."

D'ANNUNZIO, IN HIS LATEST YOUTH, GREETS MUSSOLINI

GARDONE RIVIERA, Italy, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Gabriele D'Annunzio, Italian poet, is just starting his "fourth youth" as a writer, he wired to Premier Mussolini today on the occasion of the institution of the "Oleander society" which is destined to publish his collected works at popular prices.

The aviator-poet recalled the anniversary Dec. 28 of "Bloody Christmas" in Fiume ten years ago with some sadness and then, referring to the government's aid in his publishing enterprise, thus apostrophised Mussolini:

"I render thee thanks for this new proof of wise and faithful friendship. I write thee and embrace thee not despairing of seeing thee again:

"Thy Gabriele D'Annunzio."

Relations between D'Annunzio and Il Duce had been more or less strained for several years, due to present differences of opinion.

Old and New Science Give Views of God

A DOZEN scholars, assembled in a classroom at Loyola university, devoted three hours yesterday to the question whether the existence of God can be proved by pure logic. The occasion was the sixth annual meeting of the American Catholic Philosophical association.

The Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the Catholic university of Washington, D. C. and president of the association, assumed the rôle of "devil's advocate." He cited the theories of the neo-realists, represented by such modern thinkers as John Dewey, Bertrand Russell and Sir James Jeans, to show that the existence of a supreme being as incapable of proof.

He was answered by men trained in the methods of Alexander the Great's tutor, Aristotle, and of that medieval monk, Thomas Aquinas. Participating in the discussion were the Rev. Fulton J. Sheen and the Rev. Frank Walsh of Washington, D. C., the Rev. J. H. Miltner of Notre Dame, Ind., and Karl F. Herzfeld, physicist of John Hopkins university.

The discussion was based on a paper entitled "Realism and the Proof of God," prepared by the Rev. J. B. Culemans of Moline, Ill.

Granting that the theory of pure reason, as propounded by Immanuel Kant, made impossible any proof of God's existence, Father Culemans in his paper criticized Kant's followers for uncritical acceptance of his limits of the human mind.

Father Ryan provoked the discussion by suggesting the paper had failed squarely to meet the claim of the neo-realists that God's existence was unprovable. He cited the five arguments advanced by Thomas Aquinas as proofs of God's existence.

Aquinas, he declared, cited the orderly movement of the universe as evidence that sume supreme being must exist, to have started the universe in motion and direct its course.

"But," Father Ryan said, "the modernists claim that argument is beyond the question. It was advanced in an age when scientists assumed that the natural state of matter was a state of rest. Modern scientists assert there is no bar to the assumption that motion is the natural state of matter. The argument, therefore, has no bearing."

"We can prove God's existence by the argument of cause and effect," Father Sheen said. "There is light in this room. I know it has a cause. I do not seek that cause under the table, where light and shadow mingle. I seek it by following its course through the window to the sky, where the sun burns."

"But," Father Ryan objected, "you are now transgressing by making an assumption. You assume you must search for light outside. The modernist would say you might just as well search among the shadows."

De Paul Alumnae's Play Will Assist Good Fellow Fund

The alumnae of De Paul university, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, threw their aggressive support to the school's presentation of "Alice in Wonderland" on Saturday afternoon at the Civic theater for the benefit of the Good Fellow fund.

"We're going to conduct an active ticket selling campaign," said Miss Florence Burke, president of the alumnae. This should be an easy job because the tickets are for a wonderful show and the money is going to a wonderful charity, THE TRIBUNE Good Fellow fund."

Lavish Gift Giver, (Feminine Gender), Causes Lots o' Woe

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What would you do if a woman friend of your husband made him a Christmas present of an expensive easy chair and had it delivered to your home?

That would be just about the crowning blow in insults, would it not? Breathes there a daughter of Eve who wouldn't look about for an axe to demolish it? It happened in A. B.'s household. And that's not the half of it. The "friend" called up to inquire if it had been delivered and was grossly affronted because there was no appreciation registered over the gift by A. B.'s lawful, wedded wife. A. B. horned in on his wife with a few recriminations on her ungrateful nature.

There won't be much easy sittin' in that easy chair, we think. Execrable taste of the outsider, we call it. And worse taste expecting gratitude to be registered in her favor.

A. B. was not the gift giver's lawyer. Neither was he her stock broker. [Had he been the latter it would be no easy chair she'd be sending him, this year.] She was only a friend who, from reports, began to look like a domestic trouble maker, some months back.

We wonder if other households have been submitted to such a gruelling test of wifely patience? If gifts arrived that could not be explained away as obligations paid for business advice? Or, if any man, innocent or guilty, tried to put that little story over in explanation of pearl cuff links, monogrammed fountain pens or fancy cigaret lighters?

The husband in Mrs. A. B.'s household appears to be a very devil with the women. It's one after another of 'em, with him—and nothing wrong, he wants his legal mate to understand. He just has an appetite for the flattery of other women's attentions. Just a harmless idiot, you judge from the report.

Food Talk.

A Chinese girl waited on me the other day when I bought some kumquats [or cumquats]. As she wrapped the boxes up she said, "These make good candy." Then she described some that she had seen made of the whole fruit.

The egg shape of this small golden fruit is most attractive. And when cooked to almost transparency and well glazed with sugar it is tender and sweet. The flavor is spicy and the aroma is pleasant, reminding one of delicious candied orange peel, though different because of the sweet pulp.

The general characteristics of the kumquat would make one believe that it is a citrus fruit, but it is not. It grows all through the southern part of the country, especially in the coast states. There the tree is one of the most popular of dooryard ornamental shrubs.

KUMQUAT SALAD.

On a leaf of romaine place two halves of a large slice of canned pineapple, the pineapple to be placed on the romaine slightly overlapping, with the two cut sides pointing one way. Garnish the two half slices with thin slices of kumquats and the center of kumquat slices with a tiny rosette of cream cheese topped with a halved rubyette. Pipe a rosette of cheese in the halved center holes of the pineapple and stick several two inch strips of green pepper in each rosette [in an upright position], making a little green pompon].

KUMQUAT PRESERVES.
2 quarts kumquats.
5 cups sugar.
4 cups water.

Boil the sugar and water for 5 minutes. Use fresh fruit of uniform size and place in boiling syrup and boil rather briskly for 1 hour. Do not allow it to simmer or the rinds will become tough. Remove from fire and seal at once. A pint of fruit, 2 cups sugar, and 1½ cups water make about 1 pint.

ORANGE AND CUCUMBER SALAD.
1 medium cucumber.
3 naval oranges.

Peel and slice oranges thinly, also the cucumber. Alternate the slices on a bed of lettuce. Serve with French dressing.

Holiday Tea in Evanston.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Allan H. Hoover, son of the President, who is spending his vacation from Harvard at the White House, was one of the guests at dinner followed by dancing given by Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson for their young cousin, Miss Anne Perin, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Perin, at Grasslands Country club, northwest of Georgetown. Each host or hostess takes over the entire clubhouse for a party. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have not opened their home here this winter, as they are leaving shortly for a long trip to Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies.

Mason Reunion Recalls Days of Chicago Fire

BY THALIA ——.

THE Mason Trowbridges, recently moved to Chicago from the east, and now living at 227 East Delaware place, had one of the largest and cheeriest of the holiday family reunions—for all the available descendants of the Roswell B. Mason who was mayor of Chicago at the time of the great fire—on Sunday night at their apartment.

There were none of the numerous out-of-town Masons present, and there were several local absentees because of illness, but the party numbered 45 as it was. The roll call of those present included five of the Trowbridges' six children, one son being at school in Switzerland; the Roswell B. Masons of Winnetka, their daughter, Annie, a Smith college student, and their younger daughter; the Henry Eager Masons of Highland Park and Barrett, home from Yale; the Fred Masons of Winnetka and their three children; the Arnold K. and the Rodney S. Masons of Evanston; Miss Rosa. lind Mason, Miss Belle Sheridan Mason, the Maurice Masons, the Eugene Kultchurs and their three children of Glencoe, Russell Whitman of Evanston, his son-in-law and daughter, the Manly S. Mumfords, Henry G. Miller, the William S. Millers of Winnetka, their children, William Jr., Mary, who is teaching physical culture in a fashionable New York school; Susan, who is at Smith, and Joseph, here from Andover; the William Rosses of Evanston, and the Newell Knights of Kenilworth.

Bachelors and Benedicks Give Savings for Jobless.

Efforts of the Bachelors and Benedicks to curtail expenses at their annual ball in November took concrete form yesterday with the presentation of a check for $1,200 to the special activities committee of the governor's commission on unemployment and relief. In a letter accompanying the check the Bachelors and Benedicks modestly disclaim credit for the gift, saying it is really a contribution from the men and women "invited to this year's dance and to those previously given." Also, with an optimistic eye toward the future, the committee states that this year's dance was no sense a charity affair, that it is not meant to set a precedent, but was conducted with economy "purely to aid the present distress."

Has it yet come to your attention . . . that the grand new riding arena, staked by some of Onwentsia's members so that horses and riders can have a place in which to exercise in bad weather, and so there'll be a place for large horse shows, polo games, and things like that, is all finished and was ridden in for the first time on Christmas day? . . . that the Emerson house girls who are helping to boost along the Saturday afternoon tea dances at the Lake Shore Drive hotel because they are to get a percentage of the proceeds, were pleasantly surprised by the large number of people who attended the first one, but that nobody had the courage to get up and try the new ballroom tango after a demonstration of it was given? . . .

And in Addition Have You Noted This News

Besides—that Col. George Tracy Buckingham, justly famed for his after dinner speeches, is to be the chief speaker at the Bohemians' dinner for Samuel Insull next Sunday evening at the Palmer house, and that those who have been invited to the dinner are urgently requested to hurry along their applications (those who send theirs in early enough may sit with whom they choose)? . . . that the playwrights theater actors are already rehearsing for the two evening programs they are to give at the Goodman, one on the 26th of January, and the other in late February? . . . that Mrs. William O. Goodman, Mrs. Murry Nelson, Mrs. John L. Senior, Mrs. Joseph Valentine, and Mrs. Tom P. Cross are to be hostesses with Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick at a tea for Margaret Wycherly at the Woman's City club rooms on Saturday afternoon? . . . that many people are planning to go to the country for New Year's for an outdoor holiday? . . . that the Orville Thompsons are having a New Year's day tea from 5 to 7? It is understood . . . that Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. are quite proficient with a snare drum and accordion, respectively, and that every once in so often they are induced to play for small gatherings of friends . . . that the Chauncey McCormicks are having a lot of remodeling and enlarging done at their Wheaton place, a whole new wing being one of the largest of the changes being effected. . . .

Betty Offield Makes Debut in Gay Winter Setting.

A forest glorified by the magical touches of Jack Frost after a rainfall was the setting for the debut ball that Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley Jr. gave in absentia last night at the Blackstone for their granddaughter, Miss Betty Offield. The foyer and ballroom were banked with rows of frosted pine trees. Blue tapers in tall candelabra glowed from the balcony between branches that glittered with silvered icicles. Soft blue flood lighting enhanced the effect of a fairy forest in the moonlight.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton's dance at the Casino for their debutante daughter, Miss Suzette Morton, was attended by about 200 young people, most of whom went later to the Offield ball. Miss Morton wore a white lace gown and her mother white satin.

The largest affair for the debutantes and their escorts on tonight's calendar is the dance that Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Stanley are to give at the Casino for their debutante, Miss Helen Stanley. Earlier in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Borland will give a dinner dance for Miss Stanley at their residence.

Impressions of Mrs. Ford Rodman Carter's invitation southern wear fashion show to open the new quarters of her fashion bureau at one of the big department stores yesterday afternoon . . . palm trees, orange blossoms, and roses, vivid striped awnings and big sun umbrellas—matrons sitting about, drinking tea and noting their preferences on slips of paper for the purpose, à la the Paris openings . . . the orchestra with silver megaphones (Mrs. Carter had engaged some Hawaiian troubadours, but somebody thought they weren't dignified enough) . . . the salesgirls de luxe, in new rose and black uniform frocks, including Brigitte McAdoo, Princess Aleka Rostislav, and Mrs. Paget Cady . . . Elsa Armour modeling the most adorable and ridiculous printed beach pajamas and a Chinese coolie hat that sat high on her head . . . Mrs. Lawrence William Jr. reporting to Mrs. Carter that Mrs. Watson Armour was "melting" about buying the white velvet negligee for Elsa . . . Mrs. Walter Papecke, looking lovelier than ever in a crisp white batiste eyelet dress with a pink slip and sash . . . Virginia Waller, Winifred Wheeler, and Nelle Offutt wearing cunning beach things that they'll probably buy to take south with them in a few weeks. . . Sister Carr in a becoming yellow and black evening dress . . . Peggy Hambleton in luscious lounging pajamas with a green and gold lamé jacket and black velvet trou . . . Betty Scriven and Jane Scriven Finlay, Mrs. Wilbur Smith, Barbara Wendell, Mrs. Loring Coleman, and Mrs. Laurence Wilson appearing in successions of enticing things for "southern wear" . . . Mrs. Carter being the busy executive and the cordial hostess to loads of her friends at almost the same time.

Better Think Twice Before You Name Your New Baby Son

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Will 1931 bring you a new baby boy? I don't mean the baby New Year, whose picture adorns our magazine covers and advertisements at this season—but will 1931 bring you a really, truly new baby boy?

If it will, think twice—or even three times before you name him.

Give him a name that you can imagine the boys calling him at school—that you can hear the boys calling him at college—that he won't want to hide behind a brave initial when he signs his name to a business leiter.

You want to perpetuate a family surname or use one you've read in a book—but when tempted, remember, it's the boy who will wear the name—not you.

The following letter, besides being a pleasant one to receive at this time of the year, deals with a topic upon which I feel very emphatically:

"My Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"Every now and then I feel the urge to tell you how great a contribution you are making to a better understanding of childhood. Also, as usual, I have a topic to suggest to you.

"This time it is names, especially boys' names.

"So many of the boys with whom I have worked are burdened with the depressing handles of Sonny, Junior, Brother, Laddie, or similar misnomers which the boys have learned to hate I believe the attention of parents should be called to the needless load they place on their children when they give them names like these early in life.

"Most often it is the boy who is honored with the same first name as his father who carries the burden. Say they both are called Craig. As it would not do for two to have the same name, mother falls into the habit of calling the boy Sonny or Junior.

"If the father's name is Martin, he has probably already preempted the cheery and chummy nickname of Marty. Consequently there is nothing left for the new heir to the name but 'Laddie.' As the boy grows up the name sticks, to his growing disgust. Perhaps later he speaks of it, but the mother may be sure that long before he mentions it he has been thoroughly ashamed of it.

"If some one must suffer the loss of his name in the home under these circumstances, let it be the father. Call him 'Dad' for short or resurrect his middle name. He can stand it better than the boy."

Paris Adds Skirts to Evening Pajamas

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris pajamas are getting more elaborate by the minute. They are actually stepping out in smart society, and dinner pajamas or evening pajamas no longer cause a sensation unless they be sensationally beautiful.

Suzanne Talbot's new dinner pajamas may do that, because they have no backs at all, unless you are willing to consider a strap around the neck and a wide crush belt as representing a back, but they have a little sleeveless jacket to hide the blushes of the modest maiden.

Worth is showing some trousered evening gowns—in the old days we'd have called them jupes-culottes—that are grand enough to be presented at court, though I doubt if any court has become quite that liberal yet. And all the other couturiers are playing guessing games with their hostess gowns. It's hard to tell whether they have trousers or skirts, even when you see the mannequins walk.

Such a mystery is the oriental hostess ensemble from Ardanse, sketched above. In reality, it has both. The dress of black tulle marquisette is made over oriental looking trousers of black georgette.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Puffs at the elbows show a chic detail in this smart all day frock. The neck is becomingly cut and finished, and the circular fullness of the skirt is cleverly cut, with a panel effect at both front and back. Dark brown Canton crêpe with a faille silk in an eggshell shade for the rolled collar and trimming pieces will be pretty.

The pattern, 2805, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material with ½ yard of 27 inch contrasting and 1¾ yards of ¾ inch wide edging.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Cannot Buy Necessities.

"We have been having such a hard time this depression that we cannot buy even necessities. I am expecting a new baby soon and have no clothing for it. My husband needs a suit, size 38 or 40, underwear, shoes 6½ EE, and overshoes, size 7 or 8. I have no coat and wear size 40. Do you think you could get these things for us?

Bright Sayings of the Children

Donald, age 5, had the choice of a ride in his grandmother's new sedan or in his uncle's college roadster, minus the top. He chose the latter, saying:

Choose Hairdress That Compliments Your Personality

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Some few sisters are still wondering what to do with their cherished locks this year. Whether they should put a few curls in them, nursery or permament. Whether they hadn't better cling to the straight and simple line that's seen them becomingly through a season or two past. Whether trying to let it grow again weren't worth the period of depression bound to be faced.

The fact is that you can do what you please with your hair and the more you please perhaps the better coiffure you'll arrive at. You can experiment with your tresses to your heart's content.

A cue that is worth following is to consider the hairdress in relation to the dress worn. If you have gone completely old fashioned in frock length and waist line distinction you hadn't better be too modern with the coiff. If you are a sophisticated looking sister, then you can be as sophisticatedly bobbed as you like or accentuate your stunning personality with a long-haired, middle or side-part coiffure distinctly plain of line.

Perhaps I should have added immediately to the cue the suggestion that the face and figure must be taken into your hair conference. Because you might buy a dress that was charming-girlish or sweetheartish and hone for a row of ringlets semi-circling the rear of your head, but your full face and not divinely slender neck just might put a crimp in the picture.

Even in hard times one of the things that women will not and are not scrimping on is expense money for personal upkeep. Wise, too, if it can possibly be managed. Never more than then does the business of keeping one-self up pay. So I suggest letting a good hairdresser experiment with your head if you find your own talent limited. It is so difficult to be an impartial judge of one's own good and bad points.

You may not like what the expert hairdresser suggests, but before you decide against his verdict be pretty sure that it isn't one of your own unfounded prejudices that stands in the way of acceptance. Wear it awhile and see what the folk say. About the wave, in this era of individual fancy in coiffs, you may set it down as an imperative rule that it must be wide and flat and smooth and soft, so that your head still shows its natural contour.

CHINA REDUCES TARIFF ON MANY U. S. EXPORTS

New Schedule Favorable to American Trade.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 29.—Excepting the tariff on manufactured cigarets, which was practically doubled, and a moderate increase in the duties on motor cars, trucks and tires, China's new tariff, observers here say, is not likely to have an adverse effect on American exports to China.

The new duties, which were scheduled for publication today and which probably will go into force on Jan. 1, contain 800 items. They are said to have been classified on a scientific basis designed to promote a rapid development of Chinese industry and at the same time prevent the dumping of manufactured products likely to handicap Chinese manufacturers.

How U. S. Is Affected.

About 85 per cent of America's exports to China consist of kerosene, leaf tobacco, cigarets, wheat, flour, raw cotton, dyes, iron, steel and tin plate. Practically all of the foregoing items, excepting the cigarets have actually been reduced. Some of the outstanding items follow:

Cigarets: the old duty was 32 per cent while the new duty is 65 per cent; leaf tobacco of the higher grades remains the same, while the lower grades were reduced from 6 to 2 per cent; gasoline was reduced from 1.75 per cent to 1.70 per cent per case; fuel oil was also reduced, while kerosene remains the same; lubricating oil was slightly increased; soaps and toilet preparations were increased from 10 to 30 per cent; machinery, including electrical, was reduced from 10 to 7½ per cent; agricultural machinery was reduced from 10 to 5 per cent.

Pulp and Lumber Reduced.

Wood pulp was decreased from 87 to 33 cents per unit, while cheaper grades of lumber, including most of the Chinese imports from America, were decreased from 8 to 7 per cent; cement was increased from 14 to 24 per cent; motor cars were increased from 22½ to 30 per cent, and trucks were increased from 12½ to 20 per cent; jewelry was increased from 27½ to 40 per cent; airplanes and railway materials and machine tools were decreased from 10 to 5 per cent; typewriters and calculating machines were increased from 10 to 12½ per cent; fountain pens were increased from 10 to 15 per cent; canned foods were considerably increased, but flour and wheat cereals generally remain on the free list.

Julean Arnold, the American commercial attaché at Peiping, said the new Chinese tariff is not likely to handicap American sales in China.

LABORER'S SON, 12, WINS ILLINOIS SPELLING TITLE

Defeats 60 Others for Championship.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Ward Randall, diminutive 12 year old eighth grade pupil of Whitehall, Greene county, captured the state spelling championship here today in competition against sixty other county champions. He is the son of Edward Randall, a laborer.

Four hundred words were pronounced before two spell-offs determined the winner. Of this total list all contestants participated in spelling of 300 words before eliminations were made.

In the final list of fifty words young Randall misspelled two, while the second place winner missed ten. He was Willis Lewis, 13, son of County Judge Everett Lewis of Franklin county.

"Ammeter" and "germane" were stumbling blocks to the state champion, while Lewis misspelled ammeter, colossal, acoustics, avarice, germane intriguing, incompatible, gully, cocky, and impanel.

Third place went to Dorothy Hardman, aged 13, of near Kappa, Woodford county.

The three high winners received medals tonight at the opening meeting of the Illinois State Teachers' association, where they were congratulated by Gov. Emmerson.

ADMITS SLAYING, LEADS SHERIFF TO VICTIM'S GRAVE

Havana, Ill., Dec. 29.—(AP)—J. H. Gillmore, 23, of Kilbourne, was arrested tonight on a charge of slaying James Durkin, 45, of Astoria last Sept. 22 after he led authorities to Durkin's lonely grave.

Sheriff Walter Blessman of Mason county said Gillmore confessed the crime and helped recover Durkin's body from its burial place under two feet of earth four miles southeast of Kilbourne.

Gillmore was arrested after an investigation by Highway Patrolman Moulton Hudsteth of Petersburg of an automobile taken in trade for another by a Petersburg dealer. The trail led to Gillmore, who was located by officials tonight. They said he told them he and Durkin were driving to Springfield on the Havana-Mason City road, that they quarreled and Durkin struck him with a hatchet handle. He then killed Durkin, according to the confession, and drove his body over Mason county roads all night, finally burying it.

Durkin's clothes and a letter of recommendation owned by him were discovered near Kilbourne two weeks ago. He was believed to have been working as a cook in St. Louis.

CHECK PASSER SENTENCED.

Phillip Lowenthal, 44, 1527 Emmerson avenue, was sentenced to 1 year in the bridewell and fined $1,000 and costs yesterday for passing worthless checks.

COURT VOIDS BILLION DOLLAR STEEL MERGER

A 5,000 Word Decision.

While Judge Jenkins did not attempt to settle all the points of the trial, his decision, 5,000 words long, was an unequivocating statement that the merger was invalid.

The decision was written in pencil by the judge on nineteen pages of foolscap. He made the necessary three copies himself, desiring that no mistake be made in having a stenographer or typist transcribe it.

The decision read in part:

"The meeting of sheet and tube directors was held with unseemly precipitation."

"Several members of the board who voted for the merger either had not reasonable opportunity for information or acted on the opinion or advice of other directors.

"One director voting 'no' said he didn't have sufficient knowledge to judge the merits of the proposal. His lack of information and of opportunity for obtaining it . . . is a shocking and outstanding feature of this case.

"It is not the performance of their duty as they see it but its performance as the law and equity require it that controls.

"The record establishing the failure of the board of directors to conform to the plain provisions of the controlling statute, its attempted action is therefore invalid.

Some Directors Not Informed.

"The fact that negotiations had been in progress [between officials of the two companies] was not made known to one director until three days before the meeting date of the board, nor to one until that very date.

"One director [referring to Harry G. Dalton, director of both companies] could not act wholly as trustee for the selling corporation. He simply had no right to be or act as its director as he did in the matter.

"His act, his membership on the board of the selling corporation, his presence and approval of the project at the meeting, wholly aside from the fact of voting or not voting thereon, were in equity a breach of trust and against public policy.

"Action of the board of directors at a meeting which is merely a ratification of a majority on a previously agreed on course, is not in compliance with the statute, is contrary to public policy and void."

Maurice Rothschild Files Reply in Actress' Suit

Maurice Rothschild, Chicago investment banker, who was sued in New York a year ago for $250,000 on a breach of promise charge by Vera McCord, an actress, has filed an answer justifying his broken engagement, according to dispatches yesterday. Affidavits presented in the New York Supreme court on Mr. Rothschild's behalf do not deny the engagement, but state Miss McCord's addiction to liquor made her unsuitable as a wife.

LAW SCHOOLS PUT ON PROBATION BY U. S. ASSOCIATION

The American Law School association, meeting yesterday in the Stevens hotel, put two Chicago law schools on membership probation for a year. They are De Paul university college of law and the school of law of Loyola university. The executive committee ruled that the schools had not complied with regulations in admitting students.

F. J. Rooney, secretary of the Loyola law school, stated that the Chicago schools were given a year in which to remove the source of the association's complaint. The action of the association, he said, did not affect the general operation of the schools.

COACHES VOTE FOR POINT AFTER TOUCHDOWN

HORNSBY SIGNS TO PILOT CUBS FOR TWO YEARS

Salary? Probably $40,000 a Year.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

For the next two years Rogers Hornsby will not have to worry about receiving a fat monthly pay check from the Cubs. His first term as manager of the Chicago Cubs will run that long, according to announcement made yesterday by William Veeck, club president.

ROGERS HORNSBY.

Actual signing the contract was a mere formality, as the salary and length of service had been agreed upon at the time Hornsby stepped into the job just before the close of the recent pennant campaign.

As is customary in such matters, the club did not reveal the yearly stipend, but it is safe to give odds that Hornsby now rates as the highest salaried manager in baseball.

Was Paid $32,000 a Year.

As a player in the Cub ranks Hornsby received during the last two seasons approximately $32,000 a year. When he signed that contract after being purchased from the Braves it was reported his pay would total close to $40,000 a year, but this was founded mainly on the fertile imagination of baseball writers who are careless about other people's money.

With allowance for the premium he would be given for added managerial responsibility, Hornsby undoubtedly will get at least $40,000 a season staring in his face when he looked over his new contract yesterday. That's a mere $3,333 a month the year around, but he works only half the time.

Joe McCarthy's five year managerial term, which ended abruptly last September, netted him an average of $20,000 per season. John McGraw, who has had indifferent success as Giant manager in recent seasons, is supposed to draw $35,000 per annum.

He Will Start Training Early.

Hornsby, who came to town yesterday, is going back to his St. Louis estate this afternoon. He intends to remain there during January and about the first of February start a one man training trip. He wants to go to the Catalina island camp at that time and thus have two weeks in which to bring about a leisurely conditioning of the two legs which kept him out of action most of last season. The first squad of players will not reach the island camp until Feb. 17.

President Veeck, who is leaving Saturday for a month's vacation at Catalina, has all of next yeason's player contracts prepared, but they will not be mailed until about Jan. 20. Cuyler, Root, Malone and Bush have held over contracts and Hartnett has signed a two year document. That eliminates five men from the ranks of possible holdouts. Of course, there is Hack Wilson who probably will get a staggering price on his 56 homers of last season, but the club is prepared to pay him well for his services.

The University of Chicago basketball team, holding victories over Cornell and Bradley in its first two games this season, will meet Brigham Young university quintet of Provo, Utah, tonight. The Maroons will play between games of the invitational holiday high school tournament at Bartlett gym.

Brigham Young has been touring the country on a 6,000 mile trip since Dec. 12, and has broken even in recent games in this section, defeating Illinois Wesleyan and Western Reserve and losing to Marquette and Butler.

Bring Star Guard.

Capt. Russell Magleby is rated one of the best guards in the Rocky mountain district. Baliff will handle the other guard position for the westerners, while Romney and Brinley, the latter the team's high scorer, will play the forwards. George Cooper will hold down the center job.

Brigham Young is coached by G. Ottinger Romney, a brother of Milt Romney, Maroon star of 1921.

Coach Norgren's probable starting lineup will include Yates and Stephenson, forwards; Parsons, center, and Capt. Fish and Ashley, guards. The Maroons' attack centers in Fish, Yates, and Stephenson, the first two named scoring 31 points between them in the Bradley game.

MICHIGAN STATE WINS

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 29.—[Special.]—Michigan State defeated Brigham Young university of Provo, Utah, tonight in an intersectional basketball game, 29-28. A last minute rally, in which Boeskell, center, sank three baskets, decided the contest. Romney played brilliantly for the Utah team, while Grove and Scott were the Spartans' outstanding performers.

Hundred to Try Skis in Tribune Meet

Jack Doerr, secretary of the Forest Preserve Ski club, has entered 12 boys in THE TRIBUNE'S tournament which will be held next Sunday at Riis park, Fullerton and Meade avenues. Two of the boys, Bob Carlstone and Jack Clark, will compete in the junior division for those under 14 years of age. The senior division comprises boys between the ages of 14 and 17 inclusive.

The enthusiasm with which THE TRIBUNE tournament has been received by amateur skiers is greater than expected. According to Doerr, older boys hope that a division will be established for them next year.

These older boys, who are not class B jumpers, do not have sufficient competition in larger meets, and naturally are hopeful of competing in THE TRIBUNE contests. While it is impossible to permit any boy over 17 to jump in Sunday's tournament, an additional class may be organized next year.

Edward Smotelis, 7114 South Campbell avenue, sent in his entry yesterday for Sunday's meet. He had the impression that since he did not belong to any club he might not be able to compete.

"I do not belong to any ski club although I am going to join Beverly within a few weeks," Edward writes. "I wish to know if I can enter the ski tournament at Riis park without being a member."

Although the entry blank provides a space for noting club membership, unattached competitors certainly may compete. THE TRIBUNE'S tournament primarily is for these boys more than the club members who have their own competitions.

Two days remain for entering the meet. Entries close at midnight tomorrow night.

GREAT SHIRES WORKS OUT IN HOLLYWOOD CELL

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Police said today that Arthur (The Great) Shires, former big league baseball player, boxer, and orator of parts, was lodged in the jail on charges of drunkenness and carrying concealed weapons.

Shires pleaded not guilty in Sunrise court and was ordered to trial next Wednesday.

Insists on Arrest.

The erstwhile major leaguer, whose recent marriage in Los Angeles to Miss Elizabeth Greenbaum of Chicago, was accompanied by Shires' announcement he had succumbed to movie offers, virtually insisted on being arrested, police said.

Shires, police reports stated, after riding about Hollywood several hours, entered the police station early today and began a typical "what-a-man" monologue.

His discourse on what the films had gained by his entrance to the motion picture field was interrupted by Desk Sergeant Towne's suggestion that Shires go home and sleep. "What-a-man," the sergeant said, refused to leave his rostrum—which was the sergeant's desk.

"I've got rights as a citizen, haven't I?" Sergt. Towne said Shires insisted. "Try and put me out."

Find Brass Knuckles.

The sergeant did not try. A search was said to have revealed that Shires possessed a pair of brass knuckles. A felony charge of carrying concealed weapons prevented the former Washington first baseman from being released on bail without a hearing before a magistrate. The district attorney refused to press the concealed weapon charge, saying Shires was not a known criminal. The charge was reduced to a misdemeanor.

Maryland Tracks Report '30 Betting Off $7,000,000

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Race horse betting through pari-mutuel machines in 1930 at the four Maryland tracks—Pimlico, Bowie, Laurel and Havre de Grace—totaled $47,754,674, nearly $7,000,000 under the 1929 total. The state's share of the money will be $663,228.

Lafayette President Makes a Speech About Football

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 29.—A man by the name of William Mather Lewis, who, since he is neither a Babe Ruth nor a Max Schmeling, will have to be identified as the president of Lafayette college, reared up at one of the meetings in connection with the annual convention of the amateur sport industry in New York today and said that intercollegiate and interscholastic sports in this country were riding to a fall.

This was at the luncheon of the sportsmanship brotherhood. What he wanted was moderation in sport at the schools and he told the brethren of the brotherhood and, also, the world, for his speech was not spontaneous but jelled in carbon copies for the newspapers, that the college students were growing up now and dt to be consulted in the conduct of athletics.

Coaches Decide on Moderation.

This was a pretty good speech and before the day was over, the Association of Football Coaches, at their trade union meeting, thought the better of a rather independent attitude which they had previously expressed and decided that it would do them no harm to approve of moderation themselves.

There was no direct relation between the meeting of the sportsmanship brotherhood, where Dr. Lewis of Lafayette spoke his piece, and the meeting of the coaches, but obviously there is a strong reaction against those conditions known, for brevity, as the evils of football, and the coaches got the idea in time.

Of course, the coaches are not entirely responsible for the evils, the whole profession having been put on the spot, so to speak, by the alumni, the customers and, in some cases, by the presidents and trustees, but, however they got there, they were on the spot, nevertheless, and today they started to move away from there.

It Was Like This.

Dr. Lewis said it was like this:

The spirit of sportsmanship was the spirit of moderation and the spirit of moderation has not been evident in the American scheme of things for years. People were thinking in terms of championships and record crowds and millions in income, and sport, as a result, had become serious business in which students did not play, but only worked.

Then, going quite radical, he said student opinion ought to be consulted about athletic competition.

"They have some constructive criticisms to make," said he. "The student bodies are putting away childish things. The pep meetings, the victory bonfires and the defeat depressions are much less in evidence than they were a decade ago. So it would be helpful to have some roundtable discussions by representative students from the same sections of the country without any faculty members, coaches or alumni in attendance.

Urges Proportionate Time.

"If athletics had a legitimate place in the college scheme, there is no more reason for having it under independent supervision than any other academic activity. Moderation will be secured by assigning the proper proportionate time to athletic interests. Such time budgeting is a natural function of the faculty. But the thought of faculty interference horrifies the athletic fanatic and a certain class of athletic writers. They shout that the theoretical absent minded professor knows nothing of the real value of football.

"But there are few faculties which do not include several former football players and there is no faculty where there are not men who for years have had a chance to watch the game from every angle. College professors are far better friends to the game than the fanatics who see nothing to the game but the development of winning teams.

Big Mortality Among Freshmen.

"More than half the students drop out before graduation and the greatest mortality occurs in the freshman year. Many a boy gets a bad start because of the football excitement on the campus in the fall term.

"To the general public, intellectual life in a college is a joke, but the athletic life is serious business. Some day when intercollegiate sport has sagged of its own weight, it will be recognized that the professors know more about the game than is generally realized.

"The mania for championships is

Rockne May Be Ill, but He Still Can Wise Crack

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Knute Rockne's contribution to the "brown derby" contest of the American Football Coaches' association banquet was received tonight by telegraph from Rochester, Minn., where Rockne is recovering from an illness. The "brown derby" goes to the contributor of the best "wise crack" of the evening.

Here's what Rockne had to say:

"Happy New Year to all the coaches. Suggest for air-minded mentors removal of goal posts and substitution of baskets and backboards. Also suggest that Napoleon Okeson [Commissioner Walter Okeson] rule on lateral passes inside and outside the head linesman. Regards, Rock."

SHELVE BEZDEK REFORM PLAN ON OVEREMPHASIS

Approve Shorter Training Periods.

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The master minds of the gridiron, meeting in convention as the American Football Coaches' association, found time today to favor two changes in the playing rules along with retention of the point after touchdown in between rounds of a strenuous battle over the bugaboo of overemphasis.

HUGO BEZDEK.

After the coaches in a heated morning debate had shelved the sweeping recommendations of Hugo Bezdek, designed to curb overemphasis, a series of softened resolutions proposed by W. W. Roper, former Princeton coach, were adopted almost unanimously in the afternoon meeting.

Bezdek Offers Reform Plan.

The sweeping reforms suggested by Bezdek, Penn State athletic director, included centralization of all college athletics under a department of physical education, adoption of athletic budgets, abolishment of spring practice and fall workouts until Sept. 15, and establishment of football coaches as bona fide members of college faculties, finally were reduced to three points, dealing chiefly with fall and spring practice and post-season games.

The text of Roper's resolution, adopted with only a few dissenting voices, follows:

"We, the members of the American Football Coaches' association, reaffirm our faith and belief in the virile qualities of the game of football and its influence on the youth of the nation in building character, courage, team play and clean living.

Pass Three Resolutions.

"In view of the earnest discussion among all interested in the future welfare of the game, and in a sincere desire to rid it of some of its objectionable features, be it resolved,

"1. That fall football practice start approximately Sept. 15 and that there be no organized practice prior to that date;

"2. That post season games be kept to a minimum and that the best interests of football are against charity games, except in exceptional cases;

"3. That spring practice be not compulsory upon the players and be organized in moderation so as not to conflict with other sports. The practice during the fall season shall not exceed two hours a day, including night and afternoon sessions."

Indicates Coaches' Willingness.

The resolution, coming out of the fire of bitter debate, has the effect only of putting the coaches on record as favoring these changes in the pigskin system. Nevertheless their vote indicates a willingness to support policies already in effect in most of the big conference groups.

In between the overemphasis debates, which struck deep into tender spots in many sections of the meeting hall, the coaches adopted by unanimous vote recommendations of the rules committee, headed by Lou Little of Columbia. These recommendations would have the National Collegiate A. A. committee retain the try for the extra point after touchdown, but would strip from officials the right to

VACATION DAYS ARE HAPPY DAYS ON THE DES PLAINES RIVER

Framed by the trunks of trees which have taken on their winter raiment of dark brown, these youths provide a striking photo as they go through an exciting game of hockey. Perhaps there are more players in this battle than the rules permit, but the more the merrier is their explanation of the congestion.

The professional hockey players use highly polished sticks, but these embryonic stars use any kind of a club. Branches of trees are serving the purpose. The boys are Philip Thompson, Fred Thompson, Andrew Erickson, Robert Harps, Edward O'Connell, and Emmett O'Connell.

Hands and toes do get cold on a chilly day, especially if you have skated too long. These youngsters built a bonfire when they were nipped by the cold while cutting capers on the ice of the Des Plaines river near Schiller Park. After thawing out the boys resumed their excursions up and down the winding river. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

GRUENIG STARS AS CRANE BEATS RIVERSIDE, 27-11

Bowen, Tilden, Evanston Advance in Stagg Meet.

Bob Gruenig, s 6 foot 6 inch center from Crane Tech, last night scored a major upset in the University of Chicago Christmas week basketball tournament almost single handed. Crane eliminated Riverside, 27 to 11, in the first day of play in the Midway's new marathon basketball event, Gruenig accounting for 17 of his team's points.

At the end of the first day's play, five City league quintets, one suburban and one downstate team had moved into the second round. Parker, Evanston, Tilden, Bradley, Illinois, Crane, Senn and Bowen were the survivors.

Gruenig Crane's Star.

Three of these are outstanding teams. Crane without Gruenig would not be particularly formidable, but with him to control the ball off both backboards they are a high powered club. Bud Rieff, brother of Northwestern's sophomore star, is on Crane's five.

Bowen was the smoothest team of the day, passing fast and accurately until the ball could be shot to Bill Haarlow, the team's chief scorer. Evanston, with Greenslade and Munson in the hero roles, is a fast breaking five.

Senn won a loosely played game from Kankakee, 12 to 8, both teams fumbling repeatedly in the scoring zones and manifesting other signs of early season play.

Evanston piled up a 26 to 10 lead over Marshall at three quarters time, but loafed the last period and won, 22 to 18, with three of the team's stars out of the game. Lineups;

Parker Beats York.

Parker High, almost a foot shorter per man than its opponents from York High, Elmhurst, won, 22 to 12. The tiny Parker boys appeared to be the best coached team of the afternoon, but may not be able to overcome the superior height of the Evanston five, their next opponent.

Tilden Tech had a romp with Waukonda, missing enough easy shots to win several games, and triumphed, 23 to 8.

The game between Waller and Bradley was a slow exhibition. Both teams employed a zone defense and neither could penetrate the other's territory for shots. Free throws and long shots gave Bradley its 25 to 15 victory.

responsible for many of the evils of recruiting. And what good does such a championship do an institution? I have yet to hear of a small college which has been permanently benefitted by producing a team which won all its games from the strongest teams in the country. There is such a thing as having a team too good to have been produced legitimately by a small student body.

Again: Intersectional Games.

"From the standpoint of education, intersectional contests can have no defense. Students who break into their work for several days on different occasions cannot do intelligent academic work, and this despite descriptions of professors being taken, on the trips and of earnest study the Pullmans."

The professor, who was still going well and not repeating himself, then took a few swings at the customers, especially pernicious on the Pacific slope, although he did not single out any group of customers, who demand winning teams, though they have no standing even as alumni. The common customer would have to be discouraged from patronizing college sports and the post season game would have to be abandoned because it was only a device for exploiting the players anyway.

"The fact that most schedules contain soft games is an admission that the season is too long," he said, "and an example of poor sportsmanship. To lure a small, weak team to take a drubbing in order to replenish its athletic treasury and to call that a game would be funny if it were not tragic."

Gustavus Kirby, a past president of the A. A. U. and chairman of the advisory committee of the I. C. A. A. A. A., then tried to make out that football was suffering from nothing worse than growing pains but his act was not very good.

STANDINGS for hockey teams appear to present some psychological advantages over those prevailing in baseball leagues. When Boston is shown with 22 points and Chicago Blackhawks with 20 points, they are in truth closely bunched. It is obvious that Chicago must win a game while Boston loses, not ties, a game to bring them together.

But take the case of Detroit with 17 points. That 17 points does not seem far from the 20 points of Chicago or 22 points of Boston. Yet Detroit had won seven, lost seven, and tied three. In other words, Detroit must win three games while Boston is losing, not tying, three, to bring an equality. Does not that 17 points against 22 seem less forbidding than would the corresponding baseball percentage of .500 against .714?

Post-season football games this year are anti-climax. For instance, most of us confirmed gridiron followers take only casual interest in the meeting Thursday between Alabama and Washington State, undefeated in the south and Pacific coast regions, respectively. Why?

We attribute the comparative apathy to Notre Dame. Washington State downed Southern California 7 to 6 by that margin of point after touchdown. At the end of the season it is quite possible S. C. was the better eleven, for its defeat was early in the fall. Yet Notre Dame beat S. C. 27 to 0. Therefore the best Alabama can get is equal ranking with Notre Dame, and it will have to run up a score to do that.

Next on the college sport calendar in this section is the Big Ten basketball race. Practice games have shown most squads stronger than expected against nonconference foes. The tests will come when they meet one another. Unusual sophombre material makes forecasts hazardous. Until the season is well advanced it looks like one of those scrambles for which the Big Ten floor game is noted.

SHIKAT DAZES STEINBORN; THEN GETS TWO FALLS

Richard Shikat, smiling German, made short work of his fellow countryman, Milo Steinborn, at the Broadway armory last night, winning in two straight falls. A crowd of 3,000 paid $6,000 to watch the five match show.

Shikat gained the first fall in 22:11 with a crotch and body hold after four headlocks had dazed Steinborn. Shikat set the stage for the second fall by clamping on six flying headlocks in a row and slamming Steinborn to the mat. Shikat then applied the crotch hold and obtained the fall in 2 minutes.

Grid Coaches Vote to Retain Extra Point

The second change in the rules would give the privilege of advancing the ball after recovery to a team that has one of its kicks blocked. Under the present code the defending team alone can advance the ball after recovering a blocked kick.

Seven recommendations, all embodying the answers to questions sent out in a questionnaire to every member of the association, were accepted with little or no debate. The coaches voted, 182 to 89, in favor of retaining the point after touchdown and 208 to 71 in favor of taking away from officials the right toward the extra point.

The coaches suggested that the usual penalties for fouls governing the play for extra point be substituted, the ball being advanced to the one yard line and the play being made over again if the defense is offside, while the offense would try again from the seven yard line if offside on the first attempt.

Accept Screen Pass.

Rules governing the screen pass were accepted by 164 of the coaches, while 88 favored changes, and the shift was favored in its present form by 213 votes to 49. The coaches also favored asking the rules committee to meet not later than February, with interpretation of rules meetings in March instead of September, so that coaches and officials alike would have an opportunity to study changes some time before they went into effect.

Paul Schissler, coach at Oregon State, opened the afternoon barrage on overemphesis with figures that showed his eleven devoted 118 hours to football last season as compared to the 120 hours set by a mathematics professor at Oregon State as the minimum of study required in one of his 12 week courses. The association adopted a resolution asking 100 colleges and universities to time their practices next fall and submit their figures to the next assembly.

John F. [Chick] Meehan of New York university, was elected president of the association, succeeding W. A. Alexander of Georgia Tech. William H. Cowell of New Hampshire, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Dr. Marvin Stevens of Yale was chosen first vice president and McGuigin second vice president.

Rockne, Bible Trustees.

The honorary memberships in the association were voted to Maj. Charles Daly, former Army and Harvard player and coach; Amos Alonzo Stagg of Chicago, and Fielding H. Yost of Michigan. A resolution was adopted in tribute to the late Enoch H. Bagshaw, who coached at the University of Washington prior to last season.

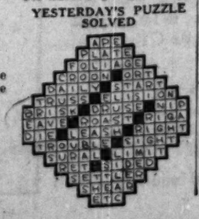
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Au Revoir, Cap'n

HOTEL BURNS TO GROUND; GUESTS TRAPPED; 13 DIE

Father, Mother, and 4 Children Victims.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COCHRANE, Ont., Dec. 29.—After escaping with fire seared body from billows of flames sweeping the Queen's hotel, a frame building, here early this morning, Charles Palangio, the hotel proprietor's son, learning that his wife and four children were still in an upper story, fought loose from restraining hands, pushed his way back into the inferno, and added his life to those of twelve others, including his family, lost in the blaze. The hotel was destroyed with a loss estimated at $75,000.

While thirty men with teams are trucking fire débris to be sifted and sorted for the recovery of the as yet unidentified dead, the known victims tonight comprise: Mr. and Mrs. Palangio and their four children, 14, 6, 4 and 2 years of age, and Baptiste Desjardine, formerly of Kirkland Lake.

Many Injured in Panic.

Other unidentified dead include a man who, with clothing and hair apparently in flames, was seen to fight his way to a first story window, only to collapse and fall backwards as he endeavored to scale the sill, and a group of five who went down into the flames when an upper floor crashed.

Fifteen persons are receiving hospital attention for burns, wounds, and broken bones incurred when they were shoved off the fire escapes in the pell-mell rush of the inmates for safety.

About 200 persons were believed to be in the building when the fire was discovered at 4 a. m. About 150 of these were unemployed men to whom James Palapgio Jr., proprietor, had given free shelter in the basement. Sleeping in their clothes they were able to make quick and safe exit, merging "like a swarm of rats from a hole," according to a railway man eyewitness.

Unable to Help Victims.

"I saw several men at upper windows vainly trying to escape," he said, "but was powerless to help them. I heard them shouting and screaming and then a sheet of flame and smoke billowed up from the, floor below and the shouting suddenly ceased."

When the night clerk discovered the fire it was already crackling up the wooden stairs. It shot from cellar to roof in a few minutes. When the fire department arrived the building was engulfed in flames and the death toll already complete.

Coroner E. R. Rucker announced tonight that a thorough investigation would be made.

D. J. O'CONNELL, HOUSE MEMBER, DIES IN THE EAST

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The death tonight in Brooklyn of David J. O'Connell of Brooklyn reduced the number of Democratic representatives elected to the next house to 214.

John F. Quayle, a Democrat, also of Brooklyn, who represented the Seventh district, died recently, reducing the number from 216 to 215.

Representative O'Connell, a Democrat, was 62 years old on Christmas day. He was first elected to congress in 1919 and had served continuously, with the exception of one term.

Edson L. Pease, Chief of Royal Bank of Canada, Dies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 29.—Edson L. Pease, 74, vice president and director and former general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada and former president of the Canadian Bankers' association, died today at Nice, France. For nearly fifty years he had been connected with the Royal bank and its predecessor, the Merchants' bank of Halifax. He had been ill for some two years following a paralytic stroke.

Father Dying; Police Hunt for Attorney in Chicago

Police yesterday were asked to search for W. Marion Thomas, 29 years old, an attorney of Louisville, and notify him his father is dying of blood poisoning as a result of a cat bite. Attorney Thomas left Louisville for Chicago two weeks ago and has not been heard from since.

CHICKEN KILLERS STRIKE IN REPLY TO BAN OF RABBIS

350,000 Jews Have No Poultry.

The dispute between the council of rabbis of the Chicago rabbinate and the officers of the Shochtim, authorized organization of kosher poultry killers, over charges of racketeering and terrorism against some of the Shochtim leaders, tied up the kosher poultry business yesterday.

The rabbinate had declared a ban on kosher poultry, effective yesterday, until the Shochtim had been purged of its evil elements. In retaliation, the Shochtim leaders declared the poultry killers were on strike.

The rabbinate council announced it would not lift its ban until the Shochtim is once again under the rule of the council, as Mosaic law prescribes. The union retorted that the strike will not be lifted until the Shochtim is completely divorced from rabbinical control.

Jews to Obey Edict.

The rabbis said the strike was an example of "sour grapes," pointing out that, strike or no strike, the Shochtim could not work without permission of the council. They also say that the 350,000 Orthodox Jews of the city will refuse to buy poultry until the Shochtim is purified.

The ban on poultry permits the selling only of poultry killed before noon yesterday. As soon as that supply is exhausted, the orthodox Chicago Jews will be without kosher poultry for the first time in the history of the city.

The rabbinical decree makes the lifting of the ban dependent on the suspension of all six officers of the Shochtim and a return to the control of the council. The action follows an alleged reign of terror in which slugging, ruining of poultry, and bombing of butcher shops, said to have been instigated by union officers, kept the six officers in power against the will of the members.

Oppression Is Charged.

Many shochtim have appealed to members of the rabbinical council for protection, according to the rabbis, asserting that their wages are being confiscated as union dues and that they must pay for choice jobs. Some shochtim, through favoritism, earn from $100 to $250 a week, while others are fortunate to earn $25, after paying $300 to enter the union, it is charged. All day yesterday members of the union telephoned the rabbinical council to approve the action, according to the rabbis, but the union on Sunday voted confidence in its officers and unanimously ordered a strike.

W. L. Cohen, La. Negro Political Leader, Is Dead

New Orleans, La., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Walter L. Cohen, Negro political leader who has served as controller of customs for the New Orleans district during the last seven years, died early today at the age of 70. He became ill last week. Cohen took an active part in Republican politics for many years. He was a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1892 and had attended every convention since.

W. L. DE WOLF'S WILL BEQUEATHS $1,000,000 ESTATE

The will of Wallace L. De Wolf, retired Chicago attorney and real estate dealer, who committed suicide on Dec. 25 at Pasadena, Cal., was filed for probate yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. The estate is valued at $1,000,000, a large part of which is left to charitable institutions under the terms of a 35 page will.

The will leaves Mr. De Wolf's large collection of paintings, etchings, and other art objects to the Chicago Art institute, of which he was a director, and the Pasadena Art institute, which he founded. It also provides for the creation of a foundation out of the residuary estate for the establishment of art museums throughout the country. This fund will be distributed by the trustees of the estate.

The charitable bequests include $50,000 to the Pasadena Art institute, $10,000 to the Springfield Art association, with a provisional bequest of $90,000 if the association desires to build a museum to be known as the De Wolf gallery, and $10,000 each to the Glenwood Manual Training school, Presbyterian home of Evanston, Chicago Sunday Evening club, Visiting Nurses' association, Voorhis School for Boys of San Dimas, Cal., and the Union League club of Chicago.

The sum of $150,000 is left outright to relatives and friends and a trust is to be created for the benefit of three nephews.

DELAY INQUEST INTO DEATH OF RIVER VICTIM

The inquest into the death of Roger Allan Johnson, 21 years old, 5117 North Keystone avenue, a carpenter, whose body was recovered from the Chicago river at Western avenue on Sunday, was continued indefinitely yesterday. The police requested more time for investigation.

Dr. Paul Schmitt, coroner's physician, said Johnson's lungs were filled with water, which indicated that he had not been dead when his body fell into the river, but had been drowned.

SUBMIT PLAN TO REORGANIZE RADIO COMPANY

Electrical Research Firm to Raise $200,000.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

A plan of financial reorganization for the Electrical Research Laboratories, Inc., radio manufacturing company, to provide capital to carry on operations is being submitted to stockholders of the concern. The plan calls for the raising of $200,000 through the sale of 40,000 shares of no par cumulative preferred stock to present stockholders.

The proposal is contained in a letter sent to shareholders last night by the protective committee which was appointed Dec. 20 to investigate the plan. Stockholders have three weeks to act upon the plan, it was explained. Failure to approve the plan would necessitate liquidation and loss of investment according to the letter.

Appointment of a receiver for the company on Oct. 10, last, was brought on chiefly by a lack of capital, it was said. Since that time the company has shipped $385,000 in merchandise.

Would Offer Preferred at $5 a Share.

Under the plan of reorganization the new preferred would be offered to present holders of capital stock at $5 a share. The new stock would be cumulative at the rate of 60 cents annually and would have a retirement or liquidation value of $10 a share. The present capital stock, of which there is 185,000 shares outstanding, was traded in yesterday on the Chicago exchange at 25 cents a share. The high on the stock this year was $2.50, but last year the issue sold as high as $22. For the year ended March 31, 1930, the company reported a deficit equivalent to $2.02 a share on the outstanding stock.

Trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday was carried on a brisker pace than in the late dealings last week. Additional selling, allegedly for tax purposes, swelled the volume of sales to 235,500 shares. The market was generally soft but resistence to the selling pressure was shown by isolated stocks.

Beneath Previous Lows.

Among the issues which sold below their previous low quotations were Marshall Field, Kalamazoo Stove, and National Family Stores. Heavy dealing in Continental Chicago common and preferred sent those issues to their year's bottom prices.

An exchange of properties between subsidiaries of United Gas Improvement company and the Middle West Utilities company was announced yesterday. The transfer gives United Gas, through its subsidiary, Commonwealth Utilities corporation, control of the Kennett Gas company and the Chester Falley Electric company. Both of the firms operate in southeastern Pennsylvania.

Union Oil of California.

Would like information on the Union Oil Company of California. In your opinion is this a safe investment?—H. H. S.

Union Oil Company of California, controlled by Union Oil associates, is a complete unit in the petroleum industry, engaged in the production, transportation, refining and marketing of crude petroleum and its products.

Its output is sold mainly in California and abroad, about 40 per cent of the total in 1929 being exported. This company handles about 16 per cent of the oil output of California, its most important producing field being at Santa Fé Springs.

Earnings this year have been adversely affected by the lowered price for gasoline on the Pacific coast and higher prices paid for refining crude. Effective Sept. 15, 1930, however, the prices of crude oil in California were reduced an average of 10 cents a barrel and the price for gasoline increased 1 cent a gallon. Some headway has been reported in the conservation program in California. Oil companies operating in that state have been particularly affected by overproduction.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1930, net profit was approximately $8,000,000, according to a preliminary report. This was equal to $1.84 per share earned on 4,345,120 shares [par $25] and was sufficient to cover the quarterly cash dividend of 50 cents per share with a small margin. In the corresponding period of 1929 net profit was around $12,000,000, or $2.94 per share on 4,082,000 shares.

Current assets, including $14,354,475 cash, $11,491,845 accounts receivable and $41,761,635 oil inventories, appraised at $78,500,000 on Sept. 30, 1930. Current liabilities were around $9,700,000. Total indebtedness increased $15,950,000 during the first nine months of this year.

Net income in the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, was $15,019,638, or $3.56 per share, against $11,101,935 in 1928, $10,048,494 in 1927 and $11,831,619 in 1926.

On Sept. 30, 1930, the company had outstanding $34,941,500 of bonds. Surplus was $71,838,221, compared with $70,892,661 a year before.

In addition to the $2 per year in cash stock dividends of 1 per cent each have been paid quarterly. The company announced in October that in the future the question of the declaration of stock dividends would receive consideration at the close of each fiscal year. The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

MAKE PROGRESS IN BRINGING GAS LINE TO CHICAGO

Rock Island Leases Right of Way.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Steady progress is being made in the big project of bringing natural gas to Chicago from the Texas fields through a 1,000 mile pipe line. It was announced yesterday that the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad has leased its right of way between Rock Island and Chicago, a distance of about 180 miles, to the Continental Construction company for the laying of two 24-inch pipe lines.

The Continental Construction company was organized jointly by the Insull interests, which largely controls the distribution of gas in Chicago and adjacent territory, the Cities Service company, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Texas corporation, and other utility interests. The pipe lines not only will bring natural gas to Chicago and vicinity but also will serve intermediate territory.

Will Mix Gases.

The deal with the Rock Island provides that the pipe lines will follow the railroad right of way as far as possible and that the railroad shall receive an annual rental of $25 a mile for each line laid. The pipe lines will carry natural gas at a high pressure, thus greatly increasing their load capacity. In Chicago and adjacent territory the gas will be distributed by the Insull companies after being mixed with artificial gas now being made at their plants.

The natural ice industry appears to be thriving in spite of developments in artificial refrigeration. In fact, the ice industry this year enjoyed the best period in its history, according to a survey by the City Ice and Fuel company, which operates in Chicago and in many cities in 26 states and Canada. Tonnage of ice sold increased some 3 per cent for the country as a whole this year, the survey says, and leading ice companies will show larger profits than in 1929. It is noted that out of a total output of more than 64,000,000 tons of ice, around 13,000,000 tons were used in refrigerator cars.

Meat Packing Slackens.

Operations of the meat packers slackened in November and demand was dull, according to the monthly review of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank.

"Production at slaughtering establishments declined 7 per cent in November rather than showing the usual expansion over October and volume aggregated 13 per cent less than in November, 1929, representing the largest decrease in the year to year comparison of any month thus far in 1930," it adds. "The recession from October was principally due to a limited supply of cattle, while a reduction in the marketing of hogs and cattle accounted for most of the decline from last year."

Preparations of the country's banks to make a strong showing at the end of the year are reflected in the federal reserve board's weekly report on the position of reporting member banks. With business marking time, these banks reduced their commercial loans by $96,000,000 during the week ended Dec. 24, although they increased their loans on securities by $38,000,000. They also reduced their investments in government securities by $58,000,000, although increasing investments in other securities by $17,000,000.

Stabilized Output Program Accepted by Coal Industry

BY SCRUTATOR.

The present situation in the coal industry parallels in many respects that of the railroads. In spite of all competition the coal mines furnish the bulk of the power of the United States and the rails furnish the indispensable factor in transportation. Yet coal consumption remained about stationary from 1923 to 1929 and fell sharply in 1930, while the rail carriers' traffic is off about 13 per cent this year from last and their long term as well as short term prospects are regarded as serious by their own managements.

During the first eleven months of 1930 there was a decrease of 64,000,000 tons of coal in use from the same period of 1929. The latter year had seen an increase of 20,000,000 tons over the annual stabilized consumption of around 500,000,000 prevailing for six years.

Throws Many Out of Work.

This loss in coal tonnage is the basic fact that has thrown out of work many thousands of miners. Had it been possible to count on an annual increase in consumption, as the electrical utility industry has found it possible in recent times, there would have been no serious unemployment condition in the mines and no lack of dividends for stockholders in coal mining companies.

The industrial conference board has pointed out that a great many of the troubles of the American coal industry are due to things that are without the control of coal men themselves. Among these things are the increase in the efficiency of burning coal, competition of fuel oil and natural gas, the development of water power and the increased production of coal in foreign countries.

To illustrate the roundabout effects of competition on coal it may be cited as almost a certainty that the oil industry itself, if it could govern itself to the best advantage, would solve part of the coal consumption problem—it could increase the use of coal. Gasoline is the foundation of the petroleum industry. Yet its by-product, fuel oil, selling at a price less per thermal unit than the heat in coal, has been taking markets that would seem to belong logically to the eastern coal fields.

Favor Oil Conservation.

In 1929 oil men sold sixteen million more barrels of fuel oil than in 1928. They thus displaced four million tons of coal. It is one of the arguments of the coal trade that this fuel oil should be conserved in the ground, and that a higher percentage of gasoline should be recovered from crude oil lest the day of scarcity for the owners of automobiles be unduly hastened. If the laws permitted, and if the trend toward greater use of gasoline continues, it is quite likely that the oil industry would cut this competition in extremely cheap fuel.

As for the miners there seems to be no bright hope of returning employment for them. Undoubtedly more coal will be consumed in future years than in 1930, but it is probable that for any reasonable length of forecast the older peaks will not be reached again. In fact mechanization of mining processes will more than likely make it possible for the number of men who actually had work in 1930 to bring out all the coal for future requirements.

A logical note has been struck by many coal men, urging that mechanical stoking to eliminate smoke will recreate a whole new domestic market, or at least stop the inroads into the existing ones. That promotion and the gradual movement of surplus mine workers into other occupations, together with a planning of stabilized production in a limited number of mines, seem to be the accepted program within the industry.

FORM MERGER OF 3 BANKS ON NORTHWEST SIDE

Consolidation of three of the best known banks in the Irving Park and Portage Park districts on the northwest side was announced last night. The merger will bring together the Irving Park National bank, the Inland Trust and Savings bank and the Portage Park National bank with total resources of $9,000,000 and invested capital of $760,000.

The plan has been approved by directors of the three banks and will be submitted to stockholders for ratification in the near future. The merged institution will be known as the Inland-Irving National bank and will occupy the quarters at Irving Park boulevard, Milwaukee and Cicero avenues, now used by the Inland Trust and the Portage Park National.

Charles E. Ummach, founder and present head of the Inland Trust, will be president of the new bank. The board of directors will be made up of the board members of the uniting banks.

Sue to Block Merger of R. K. O.-Pathe Exchange

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The federal courts today were asked to restrain the Radio-Keith-Orpheum organization from absorbing properties of the Pathé Exchange. The A. B. C. corporation, as a holder of debenture bonds of Pathé, instituted action. Both R.-K.-O. and Pathé are named defendants in the petition for an injunction, the action being taken under the Sherman anti-trust act. The Chase National bank, as trustee under the debenture agreement, also is named defendant.

SPEED UP SETTLEMENT FOR BONDHOLDERS OF GREENEBAUM ISSUES

Gen. Abel Davis, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company and chairman of the committee formed for the protection of the owners of the $4,000,000 issue on the Warwick hotel and annex, Philadelphia, announces the completion of a plan of reorganization whereby the bondholders will receive 100 cents on the dollar in new securities. After default by the hotel company, the committee secured the deposit of more than 95 per cent of the bonds and acquired the property at foreclosure sale; subsequently the property was sold.

The plan of settlement provides that the holders of the original bonds will receive 70 per cent of the value of their holdings in class "B" bonds and 30 per cent in class "C" bonds. Interest on the class "B" bonds will be due Jan. 1, 1931, according to Gen. Davis. Funds to meet this payment are now on deposit. This is the largest reorganization plan announced to date by the committee formed to represent holders of defaulted bonds underwritten by Greenebaum Sons Investment company.

Both Gen. Davis and Paul Buhlig, chairman of the executive committee of the Greenebaum organization, state that everything possible is being done by the committee and the bankers to speed up final settlement of other issues, the bonds of which have been called for deposit, and to bring about reorganizations or acquire properties involved at foreclosure sale for the benefit of the bondholders.

Grain Values Continue to Drift Gradually Lower

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain prices continue to sink gradually to lower levels, the lack of aggressive buying yesterday being largely responsible for the pessimistic feeling in the trade. July wheat touched 61½c, off 1⅞c from Saturday, and a new low since 1896. All deliveries of corn broke into new ground for the season and were the lowest since 1922. March, May and July oats and March and July rye were also at a new low, oats selling off to 31c for the May, a price that has not been witnessed since April, 1911, when it was down to 29¾c.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the downward movement in the wheat market other than the lack of export demand and large supplies. The break which has been under way for over a year has carried prices down to a level far below production costs in every country in the world. The July futures in the leading United States markets show 66⅛@73¾c under the figures which existed a year ago, while Winnipeg is off 91¾c and Liverpool 83¼c for the same period. March wheat in Buenos Aires shows 79¼c under 1929.

Liverpool Nears Low Record.

December wheat in Liverpool was quoted during the day at 4s, equal to 58⅝d per bu. After allowing for the difference in the sterling exchange rate the present figure is practically the same as that which prevailed in 1894. If the December there declines ½d more it may be necessary to go back to 1654 to find a period when wheat has been that low. Final sales in the English market showed a decline of ⅞@1d from Wednesday and a new low for the season.

Scattered liquidation with spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg had a depressing effect on July wheat here. The close was 1⅝c lower at 62c, buying against bids and closing of spreads with Winnipeg being a factor in causing a fractional rally from the inside figure. Old crop months were practically unchanged for the day, with the Stabilization corporation on the buying side. Old December was 76⅞c; March, 79½c, and May, 81@81⅛c at the last.

Await Premier's Speech.

There was a further narrowing of the Winnipeg-Kansas City July spread during the day. Winnipeg gained ½c on the American market and closed ⅞c under. Chicago interests bought July at Winnipeg and sold here. Later there was selling there against purchases here. The Canadian trade is anxiously awaiting Premier Bennett's speech tonight at Regina, where he will outline the dominion government policy. Winnipeg closed ½@1⅛c lower with Buenos Aires 1c lower. Export demand was again slow. A decrease of 378,000 bu in the domestic visible supply had little effect on the market with total stocks now reported at 188,109,000 bu, against 178,107,000 bu last year.

Liquidation continues in corn. While it is at a discount of 15⅞c under December wheat and at a ratio of nearly 73 to 1 as compared with hogs there was a lack of aggressive support. Futures declined 2⅝@3⅛c from the early top, and the close was within a fraction of the bottom with net losses of 1⅝c, December being 61c; March, 64⅝@64½c; May, 66⅜c, and July, 67⅝@67¾c.

At the inside yesterday corn prices showed 37@38c under the high for the season despite the reduction of around one-third from the indicated yield early last summer.

Grain Traders Humorously Jibe at Painting of Ceres

With trading slow and prices slipping, grain traders on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday turned attention toward some playful art criticism. The new 35 foot panel painting of Ceres, goddess of harvest, which has been hung on the south wall of the exchange room, came in for satirical comment from several traders to whom this symbolic figure of agriculture appeared to be taking money out of the wheat pit and sowing it to the winds. The painting, which is the work of John Norton of Chicago, is valued at $10,000.

O'Neal Is New President of C. & E. I. Railroad

Charles T. O'Neal, formerly vice president of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad, has been elected president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. Thomas C. Powell was advanced to the position of chairman. The election of Mr. O'Neal was announced by the Van Sweringen interests, which recently obtained control over the road, so they might have a more direct route between Chicago and St. Louis to connect with their controlled Missouri Pacific system.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 29.—The stock market blundered through the day somehow, finally leaving nothing more serious than a bumper crop of grouches in its wake.

It was a painful exhibition throughout. A wabbly opening was followed by something that passed for a short covering rally which gave way to all round selling in the afternoon, winding up with the nearest thing to a recovery movement the storm beaten exchange seems to have in shop in these trying days. Most of the group leaders finished fractionally better, but it would take an official count to determine whether the yeas or the nays had it on the remainder of the list.

No Notable Features.

Beyond the fact that many of the day's transactions were very evidently sales for tax purposes there wasn't a single solitary feature of any note to the day's dreary business.

The Bethlehem-Youngstown merger news might have had some influence on a market not already licked, but it became apparent early in the trading that this much headlined item had been too thoroughly discounted to have any worthwhile effect. The same was true of the New York traction unification project—both Interborough Rapid Transit and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit selling off in face of the news, which ordinarily ought to have sent the shares of both corporations booming.

Call money advanced to 4 per cent, the highest level it has reached in about eight months, but what was that to a speculative fraternity which had paid for some of its biggest sprees to the tune of 20 per cent or more?

Even the motor shares have failed to manifest the slightest interest so far in the opening of the automobile show now only a few days away. For these shares, however, it must be said that they had to start the new week under the added burden of the department of commerce figures on November production showing output for the month considerably below that of October and hardly more than half that of last year. What slight changes there were in prices in this group were mainly toward still lower levels.

Pressure Against Rails.

Pressure against the railroad list was again in order with New York Central slipping back rather sharply to within striking distance of the low levels reached early this month. Tax selling unquestionably was a factor in the weakness in that section of the list, but perhaps the estimated results in view for this year as compared with last year, proved something of an influence on the selling side. It is calculated that class one roads will show net profits this year of about $898,000,000, equivalent to an annual rate of return of about 3.41 per cent in property investment. This would compare with nat of $1,275,000,000 shown for 1929, which was equivalent to an annual return on property investment of 4.95 per cent.

Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Illinois Central, New Haven, Southern Railway, and others of the division slid off from 1 to more than 2 points.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Mill operations in the Steubenville, O., district showed greater activity at the opening of this week. Three departments and the new $7,000,000 rail and bar mill at the Weirton Steel company at Weirton started yesterday and the remainder of the plant was on a 50 per cent normal operation schedule. The Bessemer plant Blooming mill and sheet bar mills of the Carnegie plant at Mingo Junction resumed, and the 10 inch mill will start operations about midweek. All tin mill departments of the Follansbee Brothers plant at Follansbee, W. Va., were operating at full capacity and the bar mill press and eight roughing mills at Toronto were on a 60 per cent basis.

Registration figures for November show the Nash Motor company occupying fourth place among all makes of cars. November registration figures also indicate that in a large number of cities, which are regarded in the industry as key merchandising points, as well as in several entire states, the Nash position is even better.

Chevrolet Motor company during the week ended Dec. 20 added 1,093 men to its pay roll, bringing total employment to 31,754. More than 5,000 men have been added since the company announced its new cars in November. In the previous month approximately 9,000 men were added to the pay roll.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Spot butter was in fair demand and prices ½c higher and fresh eggs also gained ½c. Live hens, spring chickens and leghorn hens advanced 1c, with ducks up 3c and geese 2c. Receipts by freight, 9 cars. Potatoes in better demand and with prospects of smaller arrivals market developed a firmer tone. Receipts, 101 cars; with 197 cars on team track.

LARD DELIVERIES HEAVY

Deliveries of cash lard on December contracts yesterday were 2,400,000 lbs, making 11,650,000 lbs so far this month. Stocks at the beginning of the month were small and are now in the hands of a new set of holders. So far those who have taken the cash lard have no profit in it. December opened unchanged at 9.25c, advanced to 9.40c, and reacted to 9.25c at the close, finishing the same as on Saturday. A moderate business was on in January and May, advancing 12½c and March moved up 25c. Liverpool lard was 3@9d lower than the previous close. Exports for the week were 6,112,000 lbs, against 8,921,000 lbs last year. Of bacon they were 2,372,000 lbs, against 4,116,000 lbs last year. January bellies gave 15c lower on light trading and July unchanged. Hog prices were steady to 10c lower, with larger receipts at western packing points than a week and a year ago.

Top yesterday, $8.40; average, $7.55.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 45,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep.

With the exception of the extreme top of the hog market, all classes of live stock declined under stress of bigger receipts. Thirty thousand sheep and lambs were unloaded on the market and prices slumped 25c, top slaughter lambs stopping at $8.40. Cattle receipts totaled 17,000, but no fancy yearlings were available. Underweight hogs were scarce and in demand at steady prices, while butchers declined 10@20c.

The range of hog prices reached a wider point yesterday, the top and general average standing 65c apart at $8.50 and $7.85, respectively. The "spread" a week ago was 30c. Some butchers are selling 90c to $1.00 below the extreme top on light weight. Similar kinds two weeks ago were within 25@50c of the top prices.

Butchers averaging 235@275 lbs comprise a larger proportion of recent arrivals and more well finished 280@300 lb averages are showing up. While underweights and pigs are selling 25@50c above the low point of the year, established less than three weeks ago, some of the heaviest butchers are 10@15c below the previous low spot.

Buying on the hog futures market was more active, with most demand centering on January contracts. Light weights for delivery any time next month sold at $8.50, while mediums brought $8.20. January heavy opened at $7.60, but closed at $7.50, three carloads at the latter price for delivery during the first half of the month.

February lights were bid $8.00 and mediums, $7.50. March light and mediums were bid $8.00 and offered at $8.50.

Highly finished yearling steers were absent yesterday and the top at $13.50 was paid for some choice heavy beeves averaging 1,416 lbs. General quality graded poorer than usual for Monday, some shipments suggesting liquidation of short fed cattle. Total arrivals were largest in four weeks. Most offerings sold at reductions of 25@50c, unfinished steers showing the sharpest losses.

Supplies in the sheep house exceeded trade requirements and prices slumped mostly 25c, some buying forcing quotations down even more on medium and weighty stock. However, considering the fact that receipts at Chicago were 50 per cent larger than a week ago and were largest in a month's time, the price cut was only mild.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Was almost at a standstill today, with little sign of interest on either side. The tone was generally steady, especially late in the day, due to the recovery in cotton and lard. Closing prices were 5 points lower to 4 points higher. Sales were 450 barrels. The market will close at noon on Wednesday, Dec. 31. Prime crude, 9.00c; prime summer yellow spot, 7.10c; new: January, 7.10c; March, 7.25c; May, 7.41c; July, 7.54c.

DREDGE AND DOCK PRESIDENT BUYS EVANSTON HOME

Purchases 20 Room House on Edgemere Court.

BY AL CHASE.

One of Evanston's most imposing residences, the twenty room house at 1 Edgemere court, in the university district, was purchased yesterday by Edgar F. Cushing, president of the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Co., from Mrs. Ida X. Salting. According to Mrs. Salting's agent, P. Fuller, Evanston realtor, three weeks ago negotiated the sale, the deal was listed at $250,000, but the actual sale price was not disclosed. The residence, erected about two years ago from plans by Mayo & Mayo, Chicago architects, contains a swimming pool in the basement and a three story studio living room, with a huge fireplace. E. Sumner Walker was broker representing the seller and J. S. Lewis represented the purchaser. The deal is said to have been one of the largest suburban residential sales of the year.

Leases at Kinzie and Wells.

The major portion of the ground floor in the newly remodeled building at the northwest corner of Kinzie and Wells Streets has been rented by C. F. Durland & Co., agents. They report that although work on the store will not be completed for two or three weeks, the following leases have been closed: to the National Marine Supply Co., ship chandlers, the store at 406 North Wells street, for five years, together with a sixty day option on the adjoining store at No. 408; the corner cigar store to David A. De Mar and S. Briskman for a ten year term.

The Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad has leased the store at 418 North Wells street for its merchandise dispatch office. A. F. Masesa has leased space at 404 North Wells street for a barber shop.

These leases dispose of the entire ground floor space, with the exception of an L shaped store around the corner cigar store. The second, third and fourth floors are being remodeled for office use. The building has a new stone and brick front, with white metal store fronts, a new lobby, etc. The total remodeling cost will be in excess of $40,000, according to Durand & Co.

Woman Buys Property.

Mrs. Bertha Goumas has purchased the business property at 4611-13 North Western avenue containing two stores, four apartments and a ten car garage, from Mr. and Mrs. Bruno W. Rose and Mrs. Augusta H. Zaellner for a reported $45,000, subject to a $27,500 first mortgage. Mrs. Goumas gave as part payment her bungalow at 2221 Foster avenue. The Georges Realty Co. represented all parties.

The Walgreen Co. has renewed its lease on the store at 6236 South Halsted street, 19x79, from Jacob Shapiro for two years, six months, from November 1, 1930. The lease as filed yesterday at the county recorder's office is dated Dec. 4th.
